LEGION TOLD U. S. MUST BE STRONG

Maximos May Reject Greek Premiership

Former Banker, 74, Offered Post Again

ATHENS, Friday, Aug. 29 (AP) — Greece's undissolved governmental crisis entered its seventh day today as Demetrios Maximos withheld his acceptance of the premiership which was offered to him last night.

The 74-year-old former banker, who resigned as premier only last Saturday and then was offered the post again after Premier designate Constantin Tsaldaris failed to form a coalition cabinet, refused to be persuaded by United States Ambassador Lincoln MacVeagh, Tsaldaris and Dwight P. Griswold, administrator of the United States aid to Greece program, at a dinner given by the American mission at the Grande Bretagne Hotel.

Acceptance Predicted

A high American official expressed the opinion, however, that Maximos, a Populist Party colleague of Tsaldaris, would yield and accept the premiership after King Paul had added his request to the pleas of the Americans.

"They realize something must be done," the American said. "Things can't go on like this."

As a result of the failure to pry an answer from Maximos at last night's dinner, a delegation of Greek leaders headed by Tsaldaris, George Papandreou and Sophoulis Venizelos will call on Maximos later this morning.

Meanwhile, a new controversy appeared to be brewing, according to reliable sources who said there was considerable opposition forming to a proposed appointment as war minister of Papandreou, a Social Democrat and Minister for National Economy in Maximos' last regime.

The sources said it was not determined definitely who was opposing the appointment, but they believed it was from Tsaldaris and Maximos' Populist group.

Previously it had been agreed that Papandreou would be Minister of War and Napoleon Servas, head of the Hellenic Democratic National Union, would become Minister of Public Order, Tsaldaris said, however, that the refusal of Greece's famous soldier, Gen. Alexander Pagagos, to accept the post of generalissimo of the Greek army had caused dissolution of the entire agreement.

Centrist Demands Brought Collapse

It was the demand of three Centrist leaders—Papandreou, Venizelos and Panayotis Kanellopoulos—that Servas be dropped which brought about the cabinet's collapse last Saturday. The three resigned because Tsaldaris, vice premier in the old cabinet, refused to accede to their demands.

If Maximos accepts the premiership, Tsaldaris is slated for the Foreign Minister portfolio, a post he also held in the previous government.

Just before the crisis was resolved in day-long conferences of Tsaldaris and the other political leader, Papagos had been considered a possibility as a "neutral" premier.

The crisis produced many conferences between Greek political leaders and MacVeagh and Griswold, chief of the American mission which is administering the $300,000,000 aid program in Greece.

U. S. And Britain To Raise German Industry Ceiling

Plan To Override French Objections

LONDON, Aug. 28 (AP)—The United States and Britain have decided to go ahead with their plan to raise the ceiling on industry in their zones of Germany despite French objections, it was announced tonight at the conclusion of a three-power conference which opened six days ago.

The British-American plan will be announced tomorrow, said a French - British - American conference communique. Authoritative sources said it called for the production of 11,500,000 tons of steel annually, compared with the present ceiling of 5,800,000 tons fixed by the Allied Control Council for Germany in March, 1946. The French were understood to have asked that the ceiling be held to a maximum of 10,000,000 tons.

Dispatches from Berlin said this figure of 11,500,000 tons was the same as that worked out by American and British military government leaders there about six weeks ago. Announcement of the plan was withheld at that time because the French government protested it would mean a revival of German economy that would threaten French security. German steel production at present is well below the 5,800,000-ton ceiling.

Concessions to the French point of view, however, included the statement in the communique that increasing Germany's productivity "should not result in priority being given to the rehabilitation of Germany over that of the democratic countries of Europe."

The question also was left open concerning internationalizing the Ruhr, a point advocated by France, and the promise was held out that resources of the Ruhr would be available for the rehabilitation of French economy.

The French request for more coke and coal from the Ruhr to feed their own steel industry will be discussed at another conference in Berlin.

The communique disclosed that the delegates of all three nations finally had subscribed to the general British-American view that it was necessary "that German resources should contribute to the general rehabilitation of Europe"—a step in integrating the German industrial potential into the Marshall plan.

Tuck Appoints Staples To Va. Court Of Appeals

RICHMOND, Va., Aug. 28 (AP)—Gov. Tuck tonight appointed Attorney General Abram P. Staples to the bench of the State Supreme Court of Appeals to succeed the late Associate Justice George L. Browning.

Staples' appointment to the seven-member court becomes effective immediately. He will qualify at the convenience of the court and himself.

The court will convene in Staunton next week for its September term.

POWER PLANT BLAST INJURES TWO, BLACKS OUT BOONVILLE, IND.

BOONVILLE, Ind., Aug. 28. (AP)—A boiler explosion tonight in the Boonville municipal light and power plant injured two firemen and cut off all electric current in this city of 5,000.

The injured were Ora Wingate, 38, reported in serious condition at Deaconess Hospital in Evansville, and Richard Axton, treated for burns. Rescue squads hunted through the debris with flashlights for other possible casualties.

City firemen reported that a pressure tank of the main boiler, 40 feet long and four feet in diameter, blew up and demolished 100 yards of brick wall.

The plant was completely out of operation and officials said it would take days, and possibly weeks, to restore power to the city.

Maryland Labor Day To Be Quiet

[By The Associated Press]

Except for scattered observances, Maryland's 53rd annual Labor Day promises to be a quiet one, with many residents planning a final weekend out of town before the summer ends.

The State Police Department warned against careless driving over the three-day holiday. It recalled that 88 persons were injured on Maryland highways over the Labor Day weekend last year, while this year's Fourth of July auto accidents resulted in 85 injuries and four deaths.

Labor unions in a few cities planned official observance of the holiday, while others said too many persons would be away from home to make public celebrations worthwhile.

In Baltimore, the American Federation of Labor announced it would sponsor two radio programs—one a round table and the other a question period—dealing with the national labor situation.

Hagerstown unions planned a picnic to discuss the Taft-Hartley law.

It was expected that many Labor Day celebrants would make their way to the Maryland State Fair at Timonium, which opens Monday. Ocean City also was looking forward to entertaining many.

Annapolis and Frostburg are among communities planning more than a routine note of the legal holiday. At the state's capital, St. Margaret's parish has announced revival of the annual Labor Day jousting tournament.

Farraday Post of the American Legion at Frostburg will conduct a street parade and a baseball game between Frostburg and Mt. Savage. In the evening, Frostburg's tribute to the working-man will take the form of a beauty pageant, with committeemen announcing that "all contestants must appear in bathing suits."

Virginia Couple Slain, Possibly By Hitch-hiker

OMAHA, Aug. 28 (AP)— A well-to-do young Virginia couple returning home from a Colorado vacation was slain here early today, possibly by a hitch-hiker, Deputy Sheriff Hugh Cutler said.

Cutler said bodies of a young man and woman found in a clump of bushes on Omaha's far western outskirts had been positively identified as those of R. L. May 2nd, son of the general manager of an Alexandria, Va., bus company, and May's wife, Lulu.

Both had been shot in the head with a small caliber revolver.

A short time later their 1947 Chrysler, registered in the name of Mrs. May, was found several miles away, in another part of Omaha. Its interior and clothing inside were soaked with blood.

Truman And Pope Pledge To Work For World Peace

President Calls For Moral Crusade

ROME, Aug. 28 (AP) — President Truman and Pope Pius exchanged pledges today to work together for an enduring world peace.

The United States President declared it his aim to encourage the faith that mankind will not live "in the chains of collectivist organization." The Pontiff replied that "once the state, to the exclusion of God, makes itself the source of the rights of the human person, man is forthwith reduced to the condition of slave," and the result is war.

The exchange was contained in two letters released simultaneously by the Vatican and the office of Myron Taylor, personal representative of the President to the Pope. The President's letter, dated August 6, was handed to the Pope by Taylor at an audience August 26, and the Pontiff replied that same day.

Moral Crusade

In his letter the President called for a moral crusade of "men of goodwill everywhere to banish war and the causes of war from the world."

"Unless the moral forces of the world now join their strength," he wrote, "discouragement must inevitably deepen, and the strength and effectiveness which thereby would be lost by these moral forces would be gained by those forces which oppose and seek to destroy them."

Replying, Pope Pius said "we hasten to express our satisfaction and thanks for this latest testimony to the desire and determination of a great and free people to dedicate themselves to the noble task of that peace for which all peoples of the earth are longing."

He added that "certainly your excellency and all defenders of the rights of the human person will find whole-hearted co-operation from God's church."

Corrections Needed

"We pledge our resources and earnestly beg God's assistance," to the enterprise of peace, he said, but he added there would be needed some corrections of "not a few aberrations" in the world today.

"Social injustices, racial injustices and religious animosities," the Pontiff said, "exist today among men and groups who boast of Christian civilization, and they are a very useful and often effective weapon in the hands of those who are bent on destroying all the good which that civilization has brought to man."

Brazilian Plan In Anglo-Egypt Case Defeated

U. N. Defers Verdict On Troop Question

LAKE SUCCESS, Aug. 28 (AP) — A Security Council minority succeeded today in defeating a Brazilian plan for Egypt and Britain to settle their dispute between themselves.

The council was forced, however, to defer its final verdict for at least 24 hours on Egypt's case arising from dispositions of British troops on Egyptian lands bordering the Suez Canal and over the future of the Sudan administration.

The delegates acted without taking notice of a noisy taxi-borne demonstration put on in the United Nations parking lot under the leadership of two Egyptian spectators who twice previously had interrupted council sessions with shouted denunciations of Britain.

Not one untoward sound was heard in the decorous room and the shouting throng finally drifted back to New York City.

Claim Union Affiliation

Among the demonstrators was a delegation whose members said they represented the seamen's branch of th CIO National Maritime Union. Their affiliation could not be verified here.

There were these tense developments in the council chamber:

1. The Brazilian plan for another try by Britain and Egypt toward settlement of their differences failed of adoption. It got a simple majority of six votes and thus was short of the required affirmative majority of seven.

2. Colombia then threw in a resolution along the same lines.

3. Premier Nokrashy Pasha, of Egypt, strongly objected to the Colombian resolution. He said no progress could be made on negotiations until British troops were out of Egypt.

Brazil accepted the Colombian proposal but Andrei A. Gromyko, of Russia, said this was a new issue and he would have to have time to study it. He suggested the council meet at 3 p. m. tomorrow.

After about 30 minutes of debate on whether to meet tomorrow or take a vacation for at least 10 days, Faris El Khoury, of Syria, council president, banged down the gavel at 4:51 p. m. E. D. T. and said they would meet tomorrow.

Colombian Plan's Failure Seen

Most delegates frankly did not know what to do now that there were strong indications the Colombian proposals also would fail.

Fernand Van Langenhove, Belgium, said:

"The council is in a complete deadlock. I cannot support the Colombian proposal."

If it is lost tomorrow, the council will be right back where it started August 5—without any definite proposals to act on the Egyptian complaint.

The vote on the Brazilian resolution found the United States, Brazil, China, France, Australia and Belgium supporting it—one short of the required affirmative majority of seven. Poland voted against it; Colombia, Russia and Syria abstained. Britain could not vote as a party to the dispute.

Wholesale Prices Rise Another .3 Per Cent

WASHINGTON, Aug. 28 (AP) — Wholesale prices rose another .3 per cent to new postwar peaks in the week ending August 23, the Bureau of Labor Statistics reported today.

This took the bureau's price index to 153.5 per cent of the 1926 average which is 100. It was 1.9 per cent above a month earlier and 19.5 per cent above a year ago. By comparison with 1937, it was 75.8 per cent higher and was 59.4 per cent above the August, 1929, level.

As a group, farm products were 0.3 per cent below a month ago and 12.7 per cent higher than a year earlier.

Liner America Sails

NEW YORK, Aug. 28. (AP)—The liner America, the nation's largest and fastest passenger ship, sailed for Europe late today with 317 passengers, after an eight-day delay caused by a wildcat strike of longshoremen.

Wife Admits She Killed Husband, Sawed Up Body

Tossed Pieces Into River; Had Quarreled

CHICAGO, Aug. 28—A little, plump, graying woman came to a West Side police station today and related, Capt. George Homer said, that she hammered her husband to death, sliced up his body with hacksaw and knife, wrapped the parts in several neat packages and tossed them into the Chicago River.

The tearful account given by Mrs. Anna Sosnowski, 54, the captain said, dispelled the mystery that had confronted his investigators since Tuesday when packages containing parts of the body were found on the river bank.

"I figured it was him or me this time," the policeman said the wife told him as she described frequent quarrels during her three years of marriage to Tony Sosnowski, 58, a shipping room laborer in a manufacturing plant.

After telling her story of the gruesome slaying, Capt. Homer said, she re-enacted its essential portions at her apartment.

Later the little grandmother led police to a bridge and pointed out where she disposed of the body, neatly packed in several bundles.

Not Sorry Husband's Dead

As she stood on the North Avenue span over the Chicago River, she turned to Samuel Papanek, assistant state's attorney, and said, "I'd be better off if I jumped in there, too."

Asked if she were sorry he was gone, Mrs. Sosnowski cried:

"I'm not sorry he's dead, the dog. That man, he beat me. I've been black and blue for weeks from some of the beatings he's given me.

"He died like a dog and I'll die like a dog."

Capt. Homer saild Mrs. Sosnowski, whose first husband died five years ago, gave this account of Sosnowski's death and disposal of his body.

Her husband came home drunk at 2 o'clock, staggered into the bedroom and began mistreating and choking her. She fled to another part of the apartment and picked up a hammer from her first husband's tool chest.

Sosnowski tried to snatch the hammer from her, but she pulled an arm loose and struck him on the head.

The first swat sent him crumbling to the living room floor. "I hit him real hard," she said. She beat

Md. Will Be 'Some Time' State Again

Some Towns To Drop "Fast" Time Monday

BALTIMORE, Aug. 28 — (AP) — Maryland will be a "some time" state again Monday.

A handful of towns on her independently-inclined Eastern Shore Peninsula are going back on Eastern Standard Time next week—and to heck with the whole Eastern Seaboard.

It's like a flashback to last spring when Daylight Saving started and the Free State was a house divided.

Although Sunday morning September 29, is the generally-accepted date for going back to "God's time", Salisbury's Mayor and Council have voted to reconvert early next Thursday morning—neatly adding an hour to the Labor Day weekend.

Pocomoke Changes Monday

Pocomoke City already has voted to go back to "slow time" at midnight Monday. Nothing has yet been done at Snow Hill and Berlin, but Mayor John O. Byrd, of Snow Hill, said they probably will follow Pocomoke's lead. He pointed out that he and the other two mayors had agreed the three towns will stick together.

The Crisfield City Council met tonight on the problem and Mayor Nelson R. Colbourn announced "the crab meat capital of the world" will change back next week.

Most towns in the lower counties probably will fall in line with these larger communities—but there is always Ocean City.

Mayor Daniel Trimper, Jr., said unofficially the resort probably will stay on Daylight until September 29—in deference to the large number of vacationers from Baltimore. The changeover may come September 10, he said. The Red Star Motor Coach Line is going to reshuffle its schedules then.

The Mayor and Council of Cambridge voted last night to continue Daylight until September 29. "All of our industries want it," a town official said.

Sept. 29 "Western" Zero Hour

On the so-called "Western Shore", some communities had planned to switch back after Labor Day, but they now are all set on the September 29 zero hour.

Last spring, Maryland had an awful time agreeing on the time.

Baltimore and continguous counties got authority from the State Legislature last winter to adopt fast-time.

Some other communities decided to go along, not always with the benefit of legal blessings. Then some of the Eastern Shore towns adopted the switch. There were threats of legal action. For several it was a case of "on again, off again" before everybody got "on".

State Department Sends Loy Henderson To Greece

WASHINGTON, Aug. 28 (AP) — The State Department today ordered a top policy official to Greece for consultations on the Greek cabinet crisis and other developments.

The department said Loy Henderson, director of the Office of Near East and African Affairs, will consult there with United States Ambassador Lincoln MacVeagh and Dwight Griswold, chief of the American aid mission.

Truman, Dewey Join In Urging Training Law

State Of Military Pleases President

NEW YORK, Aug. 28—(AP)—President Truman told the 29th National American Legion convention today that in a world where "war remains a dread possibility," the nation "must be so strong that no aggressor, however rash, can persuade himself that we are open to conquest."

In a message to the opening session at jam-packed Madison Square Garden, Mr. Truman expressed optimism, however, about the state of American armed forces, asserting they "are now on a volunteer basis high in morale and with increasing military efficiency."

Earlier, Gov. Thomas E. Dewey had told cheerin Legionnaires he was solidly behind their drive for a universal military training law and a strong military establishment.

In welcomng the Legion conclave to the state, Dewey declared "to win the peace we must remain strong and become stronger," adding:

"I urge that it is our duty to provide a program involving participation by all able-bodied young American men under universal military training."

Agree On Universal Training

The titular Republican Party leader, considered a top contender for his party's presidential nomination again in 1948, thus joined with Mr. Truman, head of the Democratic Party, in espousing the training program. It was the first time Dewey had thrown his full backing behind the Legion's campaign for military training.

The President, who originally had been scheduled to address the convention today but failed to make it because of "the unremitting pressure of official duties," said in his message that a training law—"the foundation of the security structure"—still was lacking.

Turning to veterans' problems, the President said World War II fighting men "have made long and rapid strides toward readjustment" but declared two obstacles remain to "full readjustment."

"These are high prices and insufficient housing."

The President said "the country will await an expression of your considered judgment of this serious problem of insufficient housing."

The blue-capped Legionnaires, who met for the initial session of their four-day convention, listened to a full afternoon of speeches by military leaders and other dignitaries before adjourning and turning to fun at the parade of 40 and 8, the organization's honor society.

Louis A. Johnson, Clarksburg, W. Va., a past Legion national commander, who responded to welcoming speeches by Dewey and Mayor William O'Dwyer, expressed a belief there was "entirely too much talk" of a new war.

Position On Communism Unchanged

"We are now told that th world will not be free for democracy until we have fought and defeated Soviet Russia," he said.

"The American Legion's position on the issue of Communism has not changed since it was first established nearly 30 years ago. It is simply this: We are opposed with all our might and strength to Com-

Rep Raymond Springer, Of Indiana, Succumbs

CONNERSVILLE, Ind., Aug. 28 (AP) — Raymond S. Springer, 65, Republican representative from the Tenth Indiana District since 1938, suffered a heart attack tonight and died a short time later in Fayette Memorial Hospital.

Rep. Springer and his wife returned last Saturday from Washington, where he had been kept after adjournment of the 80th Congress by his duties as legal adviser for the War Claims Division.

Springer was the Republican nominee for Governor in 1932, losing in the Democratic landslide, which elected Paul V. McNutt. He again was nominated as the state's chief executive in 1936 and was defeated by M. Clifford Townsend.

Catholic Leaders Encourage Unions To Sign Up Unorganized U.S. Workers

WASHINGTON, Aug. 28 (AP)—The Social Action Department of the National Cathclic Welfare Conference tonight encouraged unions to sign up America's unorganized workers "as rapidly as possible."

In an advance salute to the labor movement on the occasion of its national holiday next Monday, the department said:

"x x x We encourage it to organize as rapidly as possible the great number of American workers who are still without status or representation in their economic life x x x."

The Catholic organization urged anew the creation of a system of industry councils in which labor and management, with government help, would attempt to work out "all of the major proolems of economic life: Wages, hours, prices, profits, production schedules, etc."

It called for such councils a year ago but admitted that "little or nothing" has been done about them.

Today's statement recommended legislation to:

1. Provide "decent accommodations for low-income families" while respecting rights of private enterprise.

2. Supply wider coverage and greater benefits under the Social Security system.

3. Raise the national minimum wage for interstate workers from 40 to at least 65 cents an hour.

4. Make tax laws less complicated while providing "fair incentives" to business and "equitable treatment" of small-income families.

All the Catholic bishops in the United States make up the National Catholic Welfare Conference. They elect an administrative board of 10 members each year to take charge of various departments.

Two World Fliers Arrive In London With Healthy Respect For Atlantic

LONDON, Aug. 28. (AP)—When George Truman, Los Angeles, and Cliff Evans, Washington, D. C., arrived here today on their leisurely round-the-world trip in two light planes, they confessed acquiring a healthy respect for the Atlantic Ocean.

"It's wide and wet and, at one stage, it nearly had us licked," Truman said.

"Our close call came over Iceland, which we knew was somewhere down below us, tucked away in the clouds. We had to come down to 500 feet to find a hole that enabled us to get our bearings. If we had missed Iceland, there just wouldn't have been any second spot to choose."

Truman and Evans, both former United States Air Force pilots, started their circumnavigation of the globe from New Jersey on August 8.

They had planned to land at Prestwick, Scotland, today, but finding it fogbound they landed and refueled in Northern Ireland, then came on to Croydon Airport this afternoon. Their tiny planes taxiing jauntily beside a row of giant ocean - spanning airliners quickly attracted a crowd which marvelled that such midgets should have conquered the Atlantic.

"We marvel a little ourselves," Evans said.

Croydon Airport records show the planes are the smallest that ever spanned the Atlantic. Occasionally, the pilots said, they stepped up their speed to 120 miles an hour, but most of their trip so far has been made at a cruising speed of 100 miles an hour.

Former Banker, 74, Offered Post Again

ATHENS, Friday, Aug. 29 (AP) — Greece's undissolved governmental crisis entered its seventh day today as Demetrios Maximos withheld his acceptance of the premiership which was offered to him last night.

The 74-year-old former banker, who resigned as premier only last Saturday and then was offered the post again after Premier designate Constantin Tsaldaris failed to form a coalition cabinet, refused to be persuaded by United States Ambassador Lincoln MacVeagh, Tsaldaris and Dwight P. Griswold, administrator of the United States aid to Greece program, at a dinner given by the American mission at the Grande Bretagne Hotel.

Tsaldaris, asked by newsmen as he left the hotel shortly after midnight whether Maximos had accepted the post, replied tersely: "I don't know."

A high American official expressed the opinion, however, that Maximos, a Populist Party colleague of Tsaldaris, would yield and accept the premiership after King Paul had added his request to the pleas of the Americans.

"They realize something must be done," the American said. "Things can't go on like this."

As a result of the failure to pry an answer from Maximos at last night's dinner, a delegation of Greek leaders headed by Tsaldaris, George Papandreou and Sophoulis Venizelos will call on Maximos later this morning.

Meanwhile, a new controversy appeared to be brewing, according to reliable sources who said there was considerable opposition forming to a proposed appointment as war minister of Papandreou, a Social Democrat and Minister for National Economy in Maximos' last regime.

The sources said it was not determined definitely who was opposing the appointment, but they believed it was from Tsaldaris and Maximos' Populist group.

Previously it had been agreed that Papandreou would be Minister of War and Napoleon Servas, head of the Hellenic Democratic National Union, would become Minister of Public Order, Tsaldaris said, however, that the refusal of Greece's famous soldier, Gen. Alexander Papagos, to accept the post of generalissimo of the Greek army had caused dissolution of the entire agreement.

It was the demand of three Centrist leaders—Papandreou, Venizelos and Panayotis Kanellopoulos—that Servas be dropped which brought about the cabinet's collapse last Saturday. The three resigned because Tsaldaris, vice premier in the old cabinet, refused to accede to their demands.

U. S. And Britain To Raise German Industry Ceiling

Plan To Override French Objections

LONDON, Aug. 28 (AP)—The United States and Britain have decided to go ahead with their plan to raise the ceiling on industry in their zones of Germany despite French objections, it was announced tonight at the conclusion of a three-power conference which opened six days ago.

The British-American plan will be announced tomorrow, said a French - British - American conference communique. Authoritative sources said it called for the production of 11,500,000 tons of steel annually, compared with the present ceiling of 5,800,000 tons fixed by the Allied Control Council for Germany in March, 1946. The French were understood to have asked that the ceiling be held to a maximum of 10,000,000 tons.

Dispatches from Berlin said this figure of 11,500,000 tons was the same as that worked out by American and British military government leaders there about six weeks ago. Announcement of the plan was withheld at that time because the French government protested it would mean a revival of German economy that would threaten French security. German steel production at present is well below the 5,800,000-ton ceiling.

Concessions to the French point of view, however, included the statement in the communique that increasing Germany's productivity "should not result in priority being given to the rehabilitation of Germany over that of the democratic countries of Europe."

The question also was left open concerning internationalizing the Ruhr, a point advocated by France, and the promise was held out that resources of the Ruhr would be available for the rehabilitation of French economy.

The French request for more coke and coal from the Ruhr to feed their own steel industry will be discussed at another conference in Berlin.

The communique disclosed that the delegates of all three nations finally had subscribed to the general British-American view that it was necessary "that German resources should contribute to the general rehabilitation of Europe"—a step in integrating the German industrial potential into the Marshall plan.

It called for such councils a year ago but admitted that "little or nothing" has been done about them.

Today's statement recommended legislation to:

The court will convene in Staunton next week for its September term.

POWER PLANT BLAST INJURES TWO, BLACKS OUT BOONVILLE, IND.

BOONVILLE, Ind., Aug. 28. (AP)—A boiler explosion tonight in the Boonville municipal light and power plant injured two firemen and cut off all electric current in this city of 5,000.

The injured were Ora Wingate, 38, reported in serious condition at Deaconess Hospital in Evansville, and Richard Axton, treated for burns. Rescue squads hunted through the debris with flashlights for other possible casualties.

City firemen reported that a pressure tank of the main boiler, 40 feet long and four feet in diameter, blew up and demolished 100 yards of brick wall.

The plant was completely out of operation and officials said it would take days, and possibly weeks, to restore power to the city.

Maryland Labor Day To Be Quiet

[By The Associated Press]

Except for scattered observances, Maryland's 53rd annual Labor Day promises to be a quiet one, with many residents planning a final weekend out of town before the summer ends.

The State Police Department warned against careless driving over the three-day holiday. It recalled that 88 persons were injured on Maryland highways over the Labor Day weekend last year, while this year's Fourth of July auto accidents resulted in 85 injuries and four deaths.

Labor unions in a few cities planned official observance of the holiday, while others said too many persons would be away from home to make public celebrations worthwhile.

In Baltimore, the American Federation of Labor announced it would sponsor two radio programs—one a round table and the other a question period—dealing with the national labor situation.

Hagerstown unions planned a picnic to discuss the Taft-Hartley law.

It was expected that many Labor Day celebrants would make their way to the Maryland State Fair at Timonium, which opens Monday. Ocean City also was looking forward to entertaining many.

Annapolis and Frostburg are among communities planning more than a routine note of the legal holiday. At the state's capital, St. Margaret's parish has announced revival of the annual Labor Day jousting tournament.

Farraday Post of the American Legion at Frostburg will conduct a street parade and a baseball game between Frostburg and Mt. Savage. In the evening, Frostburg's tribute to the working-man will take the form of a beauty pageant, with committeemen announcing that "all contestants must appear in bathing suits."

Virginia Couple Slain, Possibly By Hitch-hiker

OMAHA, Aug. 28 (AP)— A well-to-do young Virginia couple returning home from a Colorado vacation was slain here early today, possibly by a hitch-hiker, Deputy Sheriff Hugh Cutler said.

Cutler said bodies of a young man and woman found in a clump of bushes on Omaha's far western outskirts had been positively identified as those of R. L. May 2nd, son of the general manager of an Alexandria, Va., bus company, and May's wife, Lulu.

Both had been shot in the head with a small caliber revolver.

A short time later their 1947 Chrysler, registered in the name of Mrs. May, was found several miles away, in another part of Omaha. Its interior and clothing inside were soaked with blood.

Truman And Pope Pledge To Work For World Peace

President Calls For Moral Crusade

ROME, Aug. 28 (AP) — President Truman and Pope Pius exchanged pledges today to work together for an enduring world peace.

The United States President declared it his aim to encourage the faith that mankind will not live "in the chains of collectivist organization." The Pontiff replied that "once the state, to the exclusion of God, makes itself the source of the rights of the human person, man is forthwith reduced to the condition of slave," and the result is war.

The exchange was contained in two letters released simultaneously by the Vatican and the office of Myron Taylor, personal representative of the President to the Pope. The President's letter, dated August 6, was handed to the Pope by Taylor at an audience August 26, and the Pontiff replied that same day.

Moral Crusade

In his letter the President called for a moral crusade of "men of goodwill everywhere to banish war and the causes of war from the world."

"Unless the moral forces of the world now join their strength," he wrote, "discouragement must inevitably deepen, and the strength and effectiveness which thereby would be lost by these moral forces would be gained by those forces which oppose and seek to destroy them."

Replying, Pope Pius said "we hasten to express our satisfaction and thanks for this latest testimony to the desire and determination of a great and free people to dedicate themselves to the noble task of that peace for which all peoples of the earth are longing."

He added that "certainly your excellency and all defenders of the rights of the human person will find whole-hearted co-operation from God's church."

Corrections Needed

"We pledge our resources and earnestly beg God's assistance," to the enterprise of peace, he said, but he added there would be needed some corrections of "not a few aberrations" in the world today.

"Social injustices, racial injustices and religious animosities," the Pontiff said, "exist today among men and groups who boast of Christian civilization, and they are a very useful and often effective weapon in the hands of those who are bent on destroying all the good which that civilization has brought to man."

Brazilian Plan In Anglo-Egypt Case Defeated

U. N. Defers Verdict On Troop Question

LAKE SUCCESS, Aug. 28 (AP) — A Security Council minority succeeded today in defeating a Brazilian plan for Egypt and Britain to settle their dispute between themselves.

The council was forced, however, to defer its final verdict for at least 24 hours on Egypt's case arising from dispositions of British troops on Egyptian lands bordering the Suez Canal and over the future of the Sudan administration.

The delegates acted without taking notice of a noisy taxi-borne demonstration put on in the United Nations parking lot under the leadership of two Egyptian spectators who twice previously had interrupted council sessions with shouted denunciations of Britain.

Not one untoward sound was heard in the decorous room and the shouting throng finally drifted back to New York City.

Claim Union Affiliation

Among the demonstrators was a delegation whose members said they represented the seamen's branch of th CIO National Maritime Union. Their affiliation could not be verified here.

There were these tense developments in the council chamber:

1. The Brazilian plan for another try by Britain and Egypt toward settlement of their differences failed of adoption. It got a simple majority of six votes and thus was short of the required affirmative majority of seven.
2. Colombia then threw in a resolution along the same lines.
3. Premier Nokrashy Pasha, of Egypt, strongly objected to the Colombian resolution. He said no progress could be made on negotiations until British troops were out of Egypt.

Brazil accepted the Colombian proposal but Andrei A. Gromyko, of Russia, said this was a new issue and he would have to have time to study it. He suggested the council meet at 3 p. m. tomorrow.

After about 30 minutes of debate on whether to meet tomorrow or take a vacation for at least 10 days, Faris El Khoury, of Syria, council president, banged down the gavel at 4:51 p. m. E. D. T. and said they would meet tomorrow.

Colombian Plan's Failure Seen

Most delegates frankly did not know what to do now that there were strong indications the Colombian proposals also would fail.

Fernand Van Langenhove, Belgium, said:

"The council is in a complete deadlock. I cannot support the Colombian proposal."

If it is lost tomorrow, the council will be right back where it started August 5—without any definite proposals to act on the Egyptian complaint.

The vote on the Brazilian resolution found the United States, Brazil, China, France, Australia and Belgium supporting it—one short of the required affirmative majority of seven. Poland voted against it; Colombia, Russia and Syria abstained. Britain could not vote as a party to the dispute.

Wholesale Prices Rise Another .3 Per Cent

WASHINGTON, Aug. 28 (AP) — Wholesale prices rose another .3 per cent to new postwar peaks in the week ending August 23, the Bureau of Labor Statistics reported today.

This took the bureau's price index to 153.5 per cent of the 1926 average which is 100. It was 1.9 per cent above a month earlier and 19.5 per cent above a year ago. By comparison with 1937, it was 75.8 per cent higher and was 59.4 per cent above the August, 1929, level.

As a group, farm products were 0.3 per cent below a month ago and 12.7 per cent higher than a year earlier.

Liner America Sails

NEW YORK, Aug. 28. (AP)—The liner America, the nation's largest and fastest passenger ship, sailed for Europe late today with 317 passengers, after an eight-day delay caused by a wildcat strike of longshoremen.

Wife Admits She Killed Husband, Sawed Up Body

Tossed Pieces Into River; Had Quarreled

CHICAGO, Aug. 28—A little, plump, graying woman came to a West Side police station today and related, Capt. George Homer said, that she hammered her husband to death, sliced up his body with hacksaw and knife, wrapped the parts in several neat packages and tossed them into the Chicago River.

The tearful account given by Mrs. Anna Sosnowski, 54, the captain said, dispelled the mystery that had confronted his investigators since Tuesday when packages containing parts of the body were found on the river bank.

"I figured it was him or me this time," the policeman said the wife told him as she described frequent quarrels during her three years of marriage to Tony Sosnowski, 58, a shipping room laborer in a manufacturing plant.

After telling her story of the gruesome slaying, Capt. Homer said, she re-enacted its essential portions at her apartment.

Later the little grandmother led police to a bridge and pointed out where she disposed of the body, neatly packed in several bundles.

Not Sorry Husband's Dead

As she stood on the North Avenue span over the Chicago River, she turned to Samuel Papanek, assistant state's attorney, and said, "I'd be better off if I jumped in there, too."

Asked if she were sorry he was gone, Mrs. Sosnowski cried:

"I'm not sorry he's dead, the dog. That man, he beat me. I've been black and blue for weeks from some of the beatings he's given me.

"He died like a dog and I'll die like a dog."

Capt. Homer said Mrs. Sosnowski, whose first husband died five years ago, gave this account of Sosnowski's death and disposal of his body.

Her husband came home drunk at 2 o'clock, staggered into the bedroom and began mistreating and choking her. She fled to another part of the apartment and picked up a hammer from her first husband's tool chest.

Sosnowski tried to snatch the hammer from her, but she pulled an arm loose and struck him on the head.

The first swat sent him crumbling to the living room floor. "I hit him real hard," she said. She beat

Md. Will Be 'Some Time' State Again

Some Towns To Drop "Fast" Time Monday

BALTIMORE, Aug. 28 — (AP) — Maryland will be a "some time" state again Monday.

A handful of towns on her independently-inclined Eastern Shore Peninsula are going back on Eastern Standard Time next week—and to heck with the whole Eastern Seaboard.

It's like a flashback to last spring when Daylight Saving started and the Free State was a house divided.

Although Sunday morning September 29, is the generally-accepted date for going back to "God's time", Salisbury's Mayor and Council have voted to reconvert early next Thursday morning—neatly adding an hour to the Labor Day weekend.

Pocomoke Changes Monday

Pocomoke City already has voted to go back to "slow time" at midnight Monday. Nothing has yet been done at Snow Hill and Berlin, but Mayor John O. Byrd, of Snow Hill, said they probably will follow Pocomoke's lead. He pointed out that he and the other two mayors had agreed the three towns will stick together.

The Crisfield City Council met tonight on the problem and Mayor Nelson R. Colbourn announced "the crab meat capital of the world" will change back next week.

Most towns in the lower counties probably will fall in line with these larger communities—but there is always Ocean City.

Mayor Daniel Trimper, Jr., said unofficially the resort probably will stay on Daylight until September 29—in deference to the large number of vacationers from Baltimore. The changeover may come September 10, he said. The Red Star Motor Coach Line is going to reshuffle its schedules then.

The Mayor and Council of Cambridge voted last night to continue Daylight until September 29. "All of our industries want it," a town official said.

Sept. 29 "Western" Zero Hour

On the so-called "Western Shore", some communities had planned to switch back after Labor Day, but they now are all set on the September 29 zero hour.

Last spring, Maryland had an awful time agreeing on the time.

Baltimore and contiguous counties got authority from the State Legislature last winter to adopt fast-time.

Some other communities decided to go along, not always with the benefit of legal blessings. Then some of the Eastern Shore towns adopted the switch. There were threats of legal action. For several it was a case of "on again, off again" before everybody got "on".

State Department Sends Loy Henderson To Greece

WASHINGTON, Aug. 28 (AP) — The State Department today ordered a top policy official to Greece for consultations on the Greek cabinet crisis and other developments.

The department said Loy Henderson, director of the Office of Near East and African Affairs, will consult there with United States Ambassador Lincoln MacVeagh and Dwight Griswold, chief of the American aid mission.

Truman, Dewey Join In Urging Training Law

State Of Military Pleases President

NEW YORK, Aug. 28—(AP)—President Truman told the 29th National American Legion convention today that in a world where "war remains a dread possibility," the nation "must be so strong that no aggressor, however rash, can persuade himself that we are open to conquest."

In a message to the opening session at jam-packed Madison Square Garden, Mr. Truman expressed optimism, however, about the state of American armed forces, asserting they "are now on a volunteer basis high in morale and with increasing military efficiency."

Earlier, Gov. Thomas E. Dewey had told cheerin Legionnaires he was solidly behind their drive for a universal military training law and a strong military establishment.

In welcomng the Legion conclave to the state, Dewey declared "to win the peace we must remain strong and become stronger," adding:

"I urge that it is our duty to provide a program involving participation by all able-bodied young American men under universal military training."

Agree On Universal Training

The titular Republican Party leader, considered a top contender for his party's presidential nomination again in 1948, thus joined with Mr. Truman, head of the Democratic Party, in espousing the training program. It was the first time Dewey had thrown his full backing behind the Legion's campaign for military training.

The President, who originally had been scheduled to address the convention today but failed to make it because of "the unremitting pressure of official duties," said in his message that a training law—"the foundation of the security structure"—still was lacking.

Turning to veterans' problems, the President said World War II fighting men "have made long and rapid strides toward readjustment" but declared two obstacles remain to "full readjustment."

"These are high prices and insufficient housing."

The President said "the country will await an expression of your considered judgment of this serious problem of insufficient housing."

The blue-capped Legionnaires, who met for the initial session of their four-day convention, listened to a full afternoon of speeches by military leaders and other dignitaries before adjourning and turning to fun at the parade of 40 and 8, the organization's honor society.

Louis A. Johnson, Clarksburg, W. Va., a past Legion national commander, who responded to welcoming speeches by Dewey and Mayor William O'Dwyer, expressed a belief there was "entirely too much talk" of a new war.

Position On Communism Unchanged

"We are now told that th world will not be free for democracy until we have fought and defeated Soviet Russia," he said.

"The American Legion's position on the issue of Communism has not changed since it was first established nearly 30 years ago. It is simply this: We are opposed with all our might and strength to Com-

Rep Raymond Springer, Of Indiana, Succumbs

CONNERSVILLE, Ind., Aug. 28 (AP) — Raymond S. Springer, 65, Republican representative from the Tenth Indiana District since 1938, suffered a heart attack tonight and died a short time later in Fayette Memorial Hospital.

Rep. Springer and his wife returned last Saturday from Washington, where he had been kept after adjournment of the 80th Congress by his duties as legal adviser for the War Claims Division.

Springer was the Republican nominee for Governor in 1932, losing in the Democratic landslide, which elected Paul V. McNutt. He again was nominated as the state's chief executive in 1936 and was defeated by M. Clifford Townsend.

Two World Fliers Arrive In London With Healthy Respect For Atlantic

LONDON, Aug. 28. (AP)—When George Truman, Los Angeles, and Cliff Evans, Washington, D. C., arrived here today on their leisurely round-the-world trip in two light planes, they confessed acquiring a healthy respect for the Atlantic Ocean.

"It's wide and wet and, at one stage, it nearly had us licked," Truman said.

"Our close call came over Iceland, which we knew was somewhere down below us, tucked away in the clouds. We had to come down to 500 feet to find a hole that enabled us to get our bearings. If we had missed Iceland, there just wouldn't have been any second spot to choose."

Truman and Evans, both former United States Air Force pilots, started their circumnavigation of the globe from New Jersey on August 8.

They had planned to land at Prestwick, Scotland, today, but finding it fogbound they landed and refueled in Northern Ireland, then came on to Croydon Airport this afternoon. Their tiny planes taxiing jauntily beside a row of giant ocean-spanning airliners quickly attracted a crowd which marvelled that such midgets should have conquered the Atlantic.

"We marvel a little ourselves," Evans said.

Croydon Airport records show the planes are the smallest that ever spanned the Atlantic. Occasionally, the pilots said, they stepped up their speed to 120 miles an hour, but most of their trip so far has been made at a cruising speed of 100 miles an hour.

They have been 42 hours in the air since they left Teterboro, N. J.

Some Union-Company Pacts Not Forbidden By Labor Law

From now on the penalties of the Taft-Hartley Act apply. Labor leaders have talked heretofore of ignoring the act or going around it, and have had some success to this end in their bargains with management, but as Samuel B. Pettengill points out in his column on this page today, pacts in which management agrees not to sue labor unions for damages by reason of wildcat strikes are not forbidden by the new law because neither crime nor negligence is involved in such agreements.

It might be pointed out that in the contract between the United Auto Workers Union-CIO and International Harvester, the union agres, in case of a strike, or intentional slow-down, to notify the men involved to promptly return to their jobs and to cease any action which may affect production. In the event they refuse, they may be discharged. So it would appear that the country will be the beneficiary of such contracts.

But the hard fact remains that certain acts by union leaders are violations of the law and penalties are automatic. One of them is that, until the unions comply with the law and file statements from their officers swearing that they are not Communists, they cannot avail themselves of the good offices of the National Labor Relations Board. The law's provisions reach backward as well as forward, including some 3,000 cases now before NLRB, some of them union petitions for plant elections; all these cases will be dismissed unless within 20 days the union register and file non-Communist affidavits.

While the Wagner Act is properly credited with giving the unions advantages which the country and Congress have decided were extreme, that law has operated solely through the National Labor Relations Board. The board's acts, rulings—and bias—have given the unions their favored position. In an amended form, the board is continued as the instrument of the Taft-Hartley Act, with power to judge and prescribe. The unions cannot get along without it. Unless and until the courts rule out the act, they must comply with the terms which it prescribes in order to bring their cause and cases before it.

Strike of Seamen Against U. S. Lines Flagship "America"

When he heard that the New York sailing of the United States Lines flagship "America" had been postponed for three weeks on account of a wildcat strike, a globe-trotting friend of ours remarked, "I'm sorry for the passengers, but they asked for it. Anybody is crazy to book passage on an American ship."

That judgement, we know, is too extreme, but unhappily there's more than a grain of truth in it. Some of the American passenger ships now plying the seas are models of good service. But a number of them, including the "America," have little knots of agitators in the crews whose steady job it is to stir up trouble and strikes. Incidentally, they are surly to passengers, treating like members of the "idle rich" many people who make less money then they do and may have saved up for the voyage for years. Officers who try to maintain discipline run the risk of being kept ashore for months to answer union complaints.

The strike on New York Pier 61 last week was a senseless business. The International Longshoremen's Association had just signed a new contract with the New York Shipping Association. The members of one local, No. 791, did not like the contract and staged a wildcat strike. Seamen of the National Maritime Union then refused to cross the picket line. Neither union had any grievance against the U. S. Lines. For three days and nights, 900 passengers milled about until they were finally told that America's pride of the Atlantic would be held up for weeks. Many members of the crew told reporters they were as much disgusted as the passengers.

Meantime, of course, foreign ships continue to operate as regularly as clock-work. For the moment, American shipping can survive this kind of anarchy because the demand for space so greatly exceeds the supply. But the time will come again when supply catches up, and gravely inconvenienced passengers will remember. These wildcat strikes are one way to kill an industry.

New York Governors And Their Presidential Fates

Nine Governors of New York have been nominated for President in fourteen conventions. Six of the nominees were Democrats, three of them Republicans. Four of the nine were elected, six defeated (counting Grover Cleveland who had one defeat). The Democratic Presidents were Martin Van Buren, Grover Cleveland and Franklin D. Roosevelt. Horatio Seymour, Samuel J. Tilden and Al Smith, all Democratic Governors, were defeated for the Presidency, Seymour in 1868, Tilden in 1876, Smith in 1928. The three Republican Governors who made the race were Theodore Roosevelt, Charles Evans Hughes and Thomas E. Dewey, Roosevelt winning in 1904, Hughes losing in 1916, and Dewey in 1944.

New York Governors have had frequent preferences for presidential nominations because they had already carried their state, and because it cast more electoral votes than any other. It is likely, however, that this advantage will be diminished in the future, because of the newly achieved power of the leftist "splinter parties" in the metropolis.

The rest of the country will think twice before choosing candidates who have been forced or beguiled into political relations with them. This feeling may not be manifest toward New York's Republican governors, but is likely to be an obstacle in the case of the Democrats.

Incipient Revolt

Skeptical males await additional evidence of feminine revolt against the decree of New York's fashion arbiters that skirts will be much longer this fall before becoming convinced that the ladies have thrown off the yoke of these behind-the-lines dictators. The fact is that styles in women's attire seldom have had any connection with reality and probably will not have in the future. The female of the species likes nothing better than to go shopping for a new wardrobe, and drastic changes in skirt lengths gives her unparalleled opportunities to do so.

OBSTRUCTION FROM ENLARGED PROSTATE

THE prostate gland rarely becomes a troublemaker until later in life. At this time it begins to increase in size in at least 60 per cent of the menfolk. Fortunately not everyone is aware of the change and only eight per cent develop symptoms. The organ, which is part of the reproductive system, is located at the back of the bladder and surrounded by the tiny tube [urethal] which leads from this structure to the outside. It is about the size of a horse chestnut but, as it becomes larger and larger, it blocks the opening of the urethal canal, causing difficulty in urination.

Subsequently the victim is required to go to the bathroom more often—day and night—but with each trip less urine is passed. But this nuisance is only part of the story. Since the bladder does not empty itself completely, the stagnant fluid undergoes decomposition, thus inviting infection. Furthermore as obstruction increases, the back pressure is relayed to the kidneys producing mechanical damage to the renal organs. If the tension is not relieved and poisons accumulate because of faulty elimination, the blood pressure may be affected. Ultimately uremia may ensue.

No one knows what makes the prostate enlarge but it is believed that a sex hormone is responsible. Hence the abnormality is likely to occur at that period of life when reproductive activity declines. On the basis of this theory, injections of estrogenic substances were recommended and they have proved successful in a few cases. But in the majority, this treatment has been disappointing as the hormones affect only certain cells in the prostate but do not cause a shrinkage of the fibrous and muscular tissue. Since this material forms the framework of the gland it is readily understood why no reduction in the size of the structure follows. Consequently, operation is usually necessary.

There are three surgical procedures, each with its advantages and disadvantages. Much depends upon the skill and ability of the physician as he may be able to do an excellent job with one type of surgery but is not too successful with the others. Hence it is best to leave the choice to him. Moreover, the degree of overgrowth varies and some times one part swells more than another. Each case thus becomes an individual problem.

The "punch" operation is the newest of the three plans. This is done with an ingenious gadget, the resectoscope, and does not require incision thru the skin. There is a cautery at one end of the instrument for cutting the tissues, at the other a magnifying lens thru which the operator can see. After the administration of an anesthetic the device is passed thru the urethra to the prostatic region. By skillful maneuvering the involved tissue is removed. Since the cutting is done with electricity, bleeding can be controlled.

Today a man who suffers from enlargement of the prostate is able to face surgical treatment with great assurance that he will survive the operations. Few complications are likely to arise.

RARELY

J. N. writes: Is tuberculosis inherited?

REPLY

According to Holt this possibility is relatively rare altho more than 100 proved cases have been recorded. The little victim seldom survives. Hence if a young child develops the disease, heredity is probably not a factor. In the majority of cases, the germs are acquired thru contact with an infected individual.

TOE CRAMP

S. L. H. writes: What would cause a cramp in the toe next to the little toe?

REPLY

Overstretching of the muscle fibers is a common cause altho in some instances the circulation is at fault. Irritation by injury, infection, or overindulgence in tobacco, coffee, or tea are other possibilities.

It Says Here

By BOB HOPE

Irving Cummings, the well known Hollywood director with 30 years of experience under his megaphone, put his art first and his job second when he announced that the trouble with American movies is that the directors are too old.

I think old directors are necessary. Who else but an old man could direct Jane Russell and still keep his mind on his business?

I had one very good director, but I never thought about whether he was old or not, of course, I got suspicious when he kept calling me "Francis X." My suspicions were confirmed when he hooked up a hearing aid to his megaphone so he could catch what he was saying.

I thought one old director was going too far when I heard him say to his leading man: "You young men have to learn to put meaning into your lines. You should go out and live first."

The leading man was Errol Flynn.

It seems that old directors tend to slow up production. No matter how busy they are on the set, at 3 o'clock everything stops. . . . adrenalin time.

Of course, this doesn't apply to the directors at Paramount. None of them are really old. Trying to make Crosby young is what makes them look that way. My own opinion is that the old directors are doing all right. They're in great shape. You'd know what I mean if you saw them fight it out at the Academy Award dinner.

Peron Now Virtually Prisoner of Argentine Military Clique; American Women In Revolt Against "Belle Cycle"; Major Parties Have Eyes on Cleveland

Says ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON, Aug. 28—While the Peron delegation has been jolting U. S. plans for hemisphere defense at the Rio Conference, Peron himself has been experiencing some severe jolts in Buenos Aires.

According to confidential dispatches from the Argentine Capital, in a coup by ultra-Nationalistic Army elements Peron has been stripped of real power and made the virtual prisoner of this clique.

Leaders of the clique are Generals Filomeno Velozco, former Chief of the Federal Police, and Oscar Silva, former Peron Military Aide. The secret coup took place in Peron's home August 14, in the presence of his full Cabinet.

After a stormy argument with the two generals, Peron suddenly announced his intention to resign the Presidency.

"You will not," Velozco shot back. "You are not going to pull an October 17 on us. You're going to stay right here and do as you are told."

(The October 17 reference was to the day in 1945 when Peron was freed from jail by huge street demonstrations after eight days' arrest on conspiracy charges.)

Peron has been following the general's orders since August 14.

It was on their order that he abruptly ousted his close friend and economic czar, Miranda, from the Cabinet last week. This was the first change in the Peron Cabinet since he became President. Miranda, who is reputed to have become immensely wealthy since he tied up with Peron, is strongly disliked by Argentine business interests and large landowners.

Other Cabinet changes will be announced shortly. Intention of the military clique is to create a supercabinet; a small group made up of generals and admirals. Admiral Castro, dominant political figure in the Navy, is slated to be in this ruling band.

Underlying the "palace revolution" is the belief of the military that civil war impends in Argentina. Labor, formerly backbone of Peron's support, has become increasingly hostile in recent months as a result of a combination of repressive measures and failure to make good his promises.

Plan of the general's clique is to set up a form of police state with far-reaching totalitarian controls in order to be in a strong position to combat a mass revolt if and when it occurs.

Note: Significant fact not reported by the Rio press was that Peron's glamorous wife, Eva, did not go to Buenos Aires upon her return from Europe. She went direct to the Rio Conference.

"Bell Cycle"

The "bell cycle" may not be a threat to world peace, but it has thousands of American women angrily shooting from the hipline.

"Bell cycle" is the trade name for the latest feminine fashion trend—those long, tapered skirts with the "hip accent" decreed by style arbiters.

No one in the Government is experiencing a bigger headache from the controversial innovation than Mrs. Virginia Collier, attractive Chief of the Apparel Branch of the Commerce Department's Textile and Leather Division. She has to read the flood of brickbats rolling in from all parts of the country demanding that the Government "do something" about the latest skirt edict.

Chief complaint of the indignant letter-writers is over the expense of buying new wardrobes.

"In general," reports Mrs. Collier, "youth is accepting the change more amenably than older women. Also, judging by the sales of higher-priced garments, the upper-income brackets aren't too antagonistic. But, generally speaking, dollar-volume sales of women's clothing are below last year's. And that's the best yardstick of how women feel about this new style."

Patton Versus Lee

Very significant in the uproar over Lt. Gen. John ("God-almighty") Lee is the fact that no U. S. battle commander in Europe has come forward with a single word in his defense. Lee was Chief of Supply in the ETO.

While a number of combat officers, some of them regulars, have spoken out caustically regarding him, not one has yet said a good word for him. The reason is that Lee was widely unpopular.

The late great Gen. George S. Patton, Jr., repeatedly clashed with Lee over the failure of Third Army to get urgently needed battle supplies and equipment. "LUCKY FORWARD," forthcoming sensational history of Third Army, relates this illuminating incident of Lee's relations with Patton:

On one of Patton's rare visits to SHAEF in London, prior to the invasion, Lee noticed that Patton had brass buttons on his battle jacket. Several days later Lee issued a directive banning brass buttons and ordering that only bone buttons be worn. He sent a copy of the order to Patton with a handful of bone buttons.

After reading the order, Patton threw it in the wastebasket and the buttons into a drawer in his desk. He continued to wear his brass buttons until the day he died.

Test Ballot

Political chiefs of both parties have their eyes glued on what happens in Cleveland, O., September 30. The big, midwestern industrial metropolis holds a mayoralty primary that day that may be a significant portent of the 1948 voting trend.

Both parties have strong candidates. The Democrats, poplar Mayor Thomas Burke, who won re-election 1945 by a big majority; the Republicans, Eliot Ness, who gained fame a decade ago as an anti-graft crusading safety director.

Ohio went Republican both in the 1944 Presidential election and in the 1946 state election.

However, Cuyahoga County, in which Cleveland is located, has a preponderant labor constituency. Also, it is the heaviest populated county and has a long independent balloting record. So what happens in the Burke-Ness mayoralty battle is of great moment to both the GOP and Democrats. That's why they are not only watching it closely, but quietly putting a lot of money into the fight.

Fixing Price Of Labor In Its Relations To Increased Costs

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, Aug. 28. — Now that the congressional committees have stopped making "headlines," the Department of Justice has taken the stage with its investigations and plans to prosecute price-fixing.

Strangely enough, the most important factor in the making of prices—namely, the fixing of the biggest item of cost that enters into prices—is overlooked. This is because the New Deal, backed by a Supreme Court of its own choosing, saw to it that labor unions were exempted from the operations of the anti-trust laws.

The automobile unions can get together nationally and fix the price of labor affecting all major plants. When the automobile producers endeavor to include those increased costs, they are attacked as doing something wrong.

The miners' union in the coal industry, which has a "closed shop" monopoly, recently fixed the cost of labor in the coal mines for another year. The coal operators promptly raised the prices of coal and so did the steel producers.

If a small group of citizens may get together and fix the price of labor which is a major item in costs, why is it wrong for producers to increase their prices to absorb that cost

Need Not Enter Into Conspiracy

The fact is the coal operators or the steel producers increase their costs by the same proportion when the news of the increase in the price of labor is published. The producers do not need to meet and enter into a conspiracy to fix prices. The price level is fixed for them by the wage level.

It is most unfortunate that the Republicans in Congress did not order an investigation of the whole question of prices in relation to wage costs. The Senate committee of economic affairs is supposed to look into some phases of this next month, but the subject should have had attention before.

The problem of prices is twofold—industrial and agricultural. The average person wants to know why his cost of living has increased. Congressional inquiries could explain it readily by mobilizing the facts. Thus, the prices of agricultural products are in large part fixed today by the government itself through the supports given the agricultural program. Also such prices are fixed by the size of the overseas demands in which our own government plays a major role.

The law of supply and demand cannot be repealed by exhortation. If the government today attempted to fix prices, it would stimulate a black market and greater shortages in food. The President's economic report says:

"Although most farmers cannot voluntarily reduce their prices because they do not make price decisions, we are not entirely without recourse in the farm situation We may still obtain a total agricultural output as large as last year."

But the demand from abroad will tend to keep prices up till the rest of the world has its own harvests again. In the industrial realm, the President's economic advisers wrote recently in their report:

"In the free economy, prices are made by the forces of the market place and the action of business management. The initial responsibility for many prices is that of the business man who decides at what figure he will sell. In the first economic report each business man was urged to take a broad view of the long-run problem and, in the interest of sustaining large markets, to reduce his prices insofar as costs permitted."

Cost Catches Up With Ford

The Ford Motor Car Company took such advice and tried to keep from increasing prices on its cars, but costs caught up with the company's best intentions and now Ford goes along with the other auto makers in increasing prices.

This correspondent urged just before V-J Day that both wage and price controls be retained for the transition period. President Truman discarded wage controls and kept price controls and thus forced an imbalance. To get out of this dilemma, price controls eventually had to be removed. Now supply is slowly catching up with demand. When the two are in balance and a surplus of products appears, there will be a gradual reduction in prices and labor costs or else considerable unemployment as producers try to operate on the present high level of wage costs.

Business men are being urged by theorists to take chances, just as the Ford Company did. But such experiments are speculative and most business men would be glad to take chances if someone underwrote their losses. For that problem, of course, the politicians have no answer.

Contracts Made By Some Unions Not Forbidden By New Law

By SAMUEL B. PETTENGILL

A number of companies have agreed not to sue labor unions for damages by reason of wildcat strikes. The public has criticized these agreements as "bargaining away the Taft-Hartley bill."

This charge is based on a misunderstanding. Congress has not required anybody to sue anybody. That is up to the parties themselves. If, for any reasons deemed sufficient, Ford, International Harvester, or Murray Body Company agree to forego a law suit, they do what is common practice in the business world.

There are legal provisions which private parties cannot waive. If the law says a certain act is a crime, no one can agree to protest the criminal from prosecution. Similarly, no one can exempt another from responsibility for negligence. In these cases, the public interest in preventing crime or negligence is such that no one can agree that the other shall not be liable.

Agreements Not Forbidden

But neither crime nor negligence is involved in these labor management agreements. They are not forbidden by the Taft-Hartley law.

Every day, contracts are signed in the business world relieving one party or the other of penalty for a breach of the contract, if "caused by conditions beyond our control," war, floods, storms, strikes, or or "acts of God." Why then should labor unions be blamed for insisting on contracts relieving them of responsibility for unauthorized, wildcat strikes? Why should employers be blamed for agreeing to the relief?

If unions, in good faith, forbid wildcat strikes, and do not protect the wildcatters, but, on the contary, agree that the wildcatters may be disciplined by management, why should unions pay for something for which they are not at fault?

The real question is not the agreement to relieve the union from responsibility, but the good faith of both parties.

If unauthorized strikes take place, the strikers may still be fired, injured third parties may still sue the parties responsible, and the government is still free to act by injunction or otherwise if the strike is of great public importance. So, who is hurt? These agreements appear to be a praiseworthy effort on both sides to maintain continuity of production. In addition, they are a victory for the Taft-Hartley law itself which helped to bring these agreements into effect.

Country to Benefit From Pact

In the contract between the UAW-CIO and the International Harvester, the union agrees, in case of strike, or intentional slow-down, to notify the men involved as follows: "You are directed to promptly return to your respective jobs and to cease any action which may affect production." If the strikers refuse they may be discharged. The country will benefit from contracts of this sort.

The International Ladies Garment Workers Union deserves a blue ribbon, also. Refusing to follow the labor radicals, President David Dubinsky has told his 45 locals that ILGWU would not boycott the new National Labor Relations Board, or refuse to sign "no strike" agreements, or protect Communists. He insists, of course, on the continuance of the union shop, but the Taft-Hartley law does not forbid the union shop if both management and men desire it. All told, the Taft-Hartley law promises, thus far at least, a higher degree of responsibility on the labor front than we have had for years.

What we need is to produce goods, not dollars—real wealth, not paper tickets. The other day, a newspaperman in China paid "$6,000 for a basket to take his money home in"! Think this over.

THESE DAYS

By George E. Sokolsky

The President's Surplus

DURING the discussion of the tax bills, Secretary of the Treasury John W. Snyder warned a Senate Committee against cutting the Federal budget, forecasting price drops and a possible $8,000,000,000 decline in revenue for 1947. On April 19, Mr. Truman reported a prospective budget surplus of $1,250,000,000 for the end of the 1947 fiscal year ending June 30. On July 2, the Treasury announced a Federal budget surplus of $753,787,660 for the 1947 fiscal year. The Republicans stated that the surplus would run between $3,000,000,000 and $4,000,000,000. Some even went higher.

As early as April 28, Senator Taft said:

"The Treasury estimates in January, 1947, for the fiscal year 1947, were nearly $4,000,000,000 wrong. The estimates submitted in January for the fiscal year 1948 are evidently also wrong, but Mr. Snyder (Secretary of the Treasury, John W. Snyder) is refusing to bring them up to date for fear they may show a surplus which would justify a tax cut by a Republican Congress . . ."

Now the President puts his surplus at $4,700,000,000. Apparently his bookkeeping is all wrong. The trouble is that the President has been holding out $1,300,000,000, not yet appropriated by Congress, for such purposes as he may desire. His budget is so fixed that he will have that much, if not more, elbow room to function without Congress. The Marshall Plan alone could consume this $1,300,000,000 if not the entire $4,700,000,000. The President's problem is that this country is so heavily involved in foreign commitments that nobody can forecast even an approximation of how much money will be needed to make good our promises.

Senator Taft, during the debate on tax reduction, said:

"The President said there would be no tax reductions. But at the same time he increases the size of every civil department and asks for $3,000,000,000 not authorized. How about doing away with that and getting the tax reduction instead?"

Senator Bridge Said:

"The President includes in his budget $1,750,000,000 for international finance. Whether this sum will be needed depends to a large extent upon legislative action by the Congress on the President's international loan requests. If it is required, however, it probably will be insufficient to satisfy the flood of loan requests that will eventuate once the doors of our Treasury are opened to foreign borrowers."

The President and his advisers concealed from Congress the facts as to the surplus, making it difficult for Congress to impose economies and to reduce the burdens of the people. Always the foreign policy was the ghost that was used to frighten the legislators. The Second Tax Bill only cut revenue by $1,600,000,000 largely because of the concealment of the truth. Certainly, the Treasury knew what the surplus for the fiscal year 1947, which ended on June 30, 1947, would be at every stage of the tax discussion.

A much broader question is involved here than the figures show. It is the fundamental question of Presidential responsibility. He is required by the Constitution to present to the Congress the data it requires. Section 3 of Article II of the Constitution reads:

"He shall from time to time give the Congress Information of the State of the Union, and recommend to their Consideration such Measures as he shall judge necessary and expedient . . ."

One of the functions of Congress is to pass appropriations, measures thereanent arising originally in the House of Representatives. The President and his officers are required to provide such data as the Congress may need. The assumption must be that such data is truthful, or, if the President is in doubt, that he will say so, or that it is to the best of his ability and he so declares.

When the President and his officers provide positive data and it turns out that the figures are wrong, the country needs a better explanation than that on August 20 they were more correct than on June 30. The time lapse is to short for the type of correction involved.

The American people have lapsed into loose thinking on fiscal subjects. Billions of dollars are thrown hither and yon like chicken feed. If we are not careful, we shall not have them to throw about.

Today's Talk

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

Love Should Be Deep

We should be loved, not only because of what we may now be, but for what we are capable of being. Many a potential friend has been discarded because of our incapacity to see deep into the unrevealed worth of that person.

We can overlook and forgive so much, so long as we have faith and confidence—and a sort of God-given vision, into the possibilities of the one we would own as a friend.

Robert Louis Stevenson said: "It would be well if nations and faces could communicate their qualities; but in practice when they look upon each other, they have an eye to nothing but defects." That's largely the trouble with the world today. Nations know the fine and enduring qualities of other nations, but nothing but finding fault and picking quarrels. By doing this they they insist largely upon doing think they can blind other nations to their own faults, whereas if they took the opposite view—and practiced it—there would be co-operation and good will all around.

The easiest way to kill off a friendship, or to deaden love, is to become petty and critical. Under such a procedure anyone can isolate himself into a most unhappy state of mind and body. It would be well to think of the faults of others as common to us, and aspire to wipe them out by emulating the good points to be found in every other human being. With good spiritual eyesight, the good in other people, can be seen, even afar off!

Popularity can never compare to genuineness of character, and innate goodness. You have to get to the latter by way of love and understanding. Love is sure to test the capacity of anyone's worth, and reveal the true person as nothing else can. Because, you see, love is impartial and sees deeply, and has no axe to grind.

Our capacity is drawn upon as we will to do, and keep doing. We never know just how great that capacity may be. Perhaps most people die without ever having used but a small fraction of their ability. By feeling capable, we become capable. It's like the snowball that gathers bulk with momentum.

Some Union-Company Pacts Not Forbidden By Labor Law

From now on the penalties of the Taft-Hartley Act apply. Labor leaders have talked heretofore of ignoring the act or going around it, and have had some success to this end in their bargains with management, but as Samuel B. Pettengill points out in his column on this page today, pacts in which management agrees not to sue labor unions for damages by reason of wildcat strikes are not forbidden by the new law because neither crime nor negligence is involved in such agreements.

It might be pointed out that in the contract between the United Auto Workers Union-CIO and International Harvester, the union agres, in case of a strike, or intentional slow-down, to notify the men involved to promptly return to their jobs and to cease any action which may affect production. In the event they refuse, they may be discharged. So it would appear that the country will be the beneficiary of such contracts.

But the hard fact remains that certain acts by union leaders are violations of the law and penalties are automatic. One of them is that, until the unions comply with the law and file statements from their officers swearing that they are not Communists, they cannot avail themselves of the good offices of the National Labor Relations Board. The law's provisions reach backward as well as forward, including some 3,000 cases now before NLRB, some of them union petitions for plant elections; all these cases will be dismissed unless within 20 days the union register and file non-Communist affidavits.

While the Wagner Act is properly credited with giving the unions advantages which the country and Congress have decided were extreme, that law has operated solely through the National Labor Relations Board. The board's acts, rulings—and bias—have given the unions their favored position. In an amended form, the board is continued as the instrument of the Taft-Hartley Act, with power to judge and prescribe. The unions cannot get along without it. Unless and until the courts rule out the act, they must comply with the terms which it prescribes in order to bring their cause and cases before it.

Strike of Seamen Against U. S. Lines Flagship "America"

When he heard that the New York sailing of the United States Lines flagship "America" had been postponed for three weeks on account of a wildcat strike, a globe-trotting friend of ours remarked, "I'm sorry for the passengers, but they asked for it. Anybody is crazy to book passage on an American ship."

That judgement, we know, is too extreme, but unhappily there's more than a grain of truth in it. Some of the American passenger ships now plying the seas are models of good service. But a number of them, including the "America," have little knots of agitators in the crews whose steady job it is to stir up trouble and strikes. Incidentally, they are surly to passengers, treating like members of the "idle rich" many people who make less money then they do and may have saved up for the voyage for years. Officers who try to maintain discipline run the risk of being kept ashore for months to answer union complaints.

The strike on New York Pier 61 last week was a senseless business. The International Longshoremen's Association had just signed a new contract with the New York Shipping Association. The members of one local, No. 791, did not like the contract and staged a wildcat strike. Seamen of the National Maritime Union then refused to cross the picket line. Neither union had any grievance against the U. S. Lines. For three days and nights, 900 passengers milled about until they were finally told that America's pride of the Atlantic would be held up for weeks. Many members of the crew told reporters they were as much disgusted as the passengers.

Meantime, of course, foreign ships continue to operate as regularly as clock-work. For the moment, American shipping can survive this kind of anarchy because the demand for space so greatly exceeds the supply. But the time will come again when supply catches up, and gravely inconvenienced passengers will remember. These wildcat strikes are one way to kill an industry.

New York Governors And Their Presidential Fates

Nine Governors of New York have been nominated for President in fourteen conventions. Six of the nominees were Democrats, three of them Republicans. Four of the nine were elected, six defeated (counting Grover Cleveland who had one defeat). The Democratic Presidents were Martin Van Buren, Grover Cleveland and Franklin D. Roosevelt. Horatio Seymour, Samuel J. Tilden and Al Smith, all Democratic Governors, were defeated for the Presidency, Seymour in 1868, Tilden in 1876, Smith in 1928. The three Republican Governors who made the race were Theodore Roosevelt, Charles Evans Hughes and Thomas E. Dewey, Roosevelt winning in 1904, Hughes losing in 1916, and Dewey in 1944.

New York Governors have had frequent preferences for presidential nominations because they had already carried their state, and because it cast more electoral votes than any other. It is likely, however, that this advantage will be diminished in the future, because of the newly achieved power of the leftist "splinter parties" in the metropolis.

The rest of the country will think twice before choosing candidates who have been forced or beguiled into political relations with them. This feeling may not be manifest toward New York's Republican governors, but is likely to be an obstacle in the case of the Democrats.

Incipient Revolt

Skeptical males await additional evidence of feminine revolt against the decree of New York's fashion arbiters that skirts will be much longer this fall before becoming convinced that the ladies have thrown off the yoke of these behind-the-lines dictators. The fact is that styles in women's attire seldom have had any connection with reality and probably will not have in the future. The female of the species likes nothing better than to go shopping for a new wardrobe, and drastic changes in skirt lengths gives her unparalleled opportunities to do so.

OBSTRUCTION FROM ENLARGED PROSTATE

THE prostate gland rarely becomes a troublemaker until later in life. At this time it begins to increase in size in at least 60 per cent of the menfolk. Fortunately not everyone is aware of the change and only eight per cent develop symptoms. The organ, which is part of the reproductive system, is located at the back of the bladder and surrounded by the tiny tube [urethal] which leads from this structure to the outside. It is about the size of a horse chestnut but, as it becomes larger and larger, it blocks the opening of the urethal canal, causing difficulty in urination.

Subsequently the victim is required to go to the bathroom more often—day and night—but with each trip less urine is passed. But this nuisance is only part of the story. Since the bladder does not empty itself completely, the stagnant fluid undergoes decomposition, thus inviting infection. Furthermore as obstruction increases, the back pressure is relayed to the kidneys producing mechanical damage to the renal organs. If the tension is not relieved and poisons accumulate because of faulty elimination, the blood pressure may be affected. Ultimately uremia may ensue.

No one knows what makes the prostate enlarge but it is believed that a sex hormone is responsible. Hence the abnormality is likely to occur at that period of life when reproductive activity declines. On the basis of this theory, injections of estrogenic substances were recommended and they have proved successful in a few cases. But in the majority, this treatment has been disappointing as the hormones affect only certain cells in the prostate but do not cause a shrinkage of the fibrous and muscular tissue. Since this material forms the framework of the gland it is readily understood why no reduction in the size of the structure follows. Consequently, operation is usually necessary.

There are three surgical procedures, each with its advantages and disadvantages. Much depends upon the skill and ability of the physician as he may be able to do an excellent job with one type of surgery but is not too successful with the others. Hence it is best to leave the choice to him. Moreover, the degree of overgrowth varies and some times one part swells more than another. Each case thus becomes an individual problem.

The "punch" operation is the newest of the three plans. This is done with an ingenious gadget, the resectoscope, and does not require incision thru the skin. There is a cautery at one end of the instrument for cutting the tissues, at the other a magnifying lens thru which the operator can see. After the administration of an anesthetic the device is passed thru the urethra to the prostatic region. By skillful maneuvering the involved tissue is removed. Since the cutting is done with electricity, bleeding can be controlled.

Today a man who suffers from enlargement of the prostate is able to face surgical treatment with great assurance that he will survive the operations. Few complications are likely to arise.

RARELY

J. N. writes: Is tuberculosis inherited?

REPLY

According to Holt this possibility is relatively rare altho more than 100 proved cases have been recorded. The little victim seldom survives. Hence if a young child develops the disease, heredity is probably not a factor. In the majority of cases, the germs are acquired thru contact with an infected individual.

TOE CRAMP

S. L. H. writes: What would cause a cramp in the toe next to the little toe?

REPLY

Overstretching of the muscle fibers is a common cause although in some instances the circulation is at fault. Irritation by injury, infection, or overindulgence in tobacco, coffee, or tea are other possibilities.

It Says Here

By BOB HOPE

Irving Cummings, the well known Hollywood director with 30 years of experience under his megaphone, put his art first and his job second when he announced that the trouble with American movies is that the directors are too old.

I think old directors are necessary. Who else but an old man could direct Jane Russell and still keep his mind on his business?

I had one very good director, but I never thought about whether he was old or not, of course, I got suspicious when he kept calling me "Francis X." My suspicions were confirmed when he hooked up a hearing aid to his megaphone so he could catch what he was saying.

I thought one old director was going too far when I heard him say to his leading man: "You young men have to learn to put meaning into your lines. You should go out and live first."

The leading man was Errol Flynn.

It seems that old directors tend to slow up production. No matter how busy they are on the set, at 3 o'clock everything stops. . . . adrenalin time.

Of course, this doesn't apply to the directors at Paramount. None of them are really old. Trying to make Crosby young is what makes them look that way. My own opinion is that the old directors are doing all right. They're in great shape. You'd know what I mean if you saw them fight it out at the Academy Award dinner.

Peron Now Virtually Prisoner of Argentine Military Clique; American Women In Revolt Against "Belle Cycle"; Major Parties Have Eyes on Cleveland

Says ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON, Aug. 28—While the Peron delegation has been jolting U. S. plans for hemisphere defense at the Rio Conference, Peron himself has been experiencing some severe jolts in Buenos Aires.

According to confidential dispatches from the Argentine Capital, in a coup by ultra-Nationalistic Army elements Peron has been stripped of real power and made the virtual prisoner of this clique.

Leaders of the clique are Generals Filomeno Velozco, former Chief of the Federal Police, and Oscar Silva, former Peron Military Aide. The secret coup took place in Peron's home August 14, in the presence of his full Cabinet.

After a stormy argument with the two generals, Peron suddenly announced his intention to resign the Presidency.

"You will not," Velozco shot back. "You are not going to pull an October 17 on us. You're going to stay right here and do as you are told."

(The October 17 reference was to the day in 1945 when Peron was freed from jail by huge street demonstrations after eight days' arrest on conspiracy charges.)

Peron has been following the general's orders since August 14.

It was on their order that he abruptly ousted his close friend and economic czar, Miranda, from the Cabinet last week. This was the first change in the Peron Cabinet since he became President. Miranda, who is reputed to have become immensely wealthy since he tied up with Peron, is strongly disliked by Argentine business interests and large landowners.

Other Cabinet changes will be announced shortly. Intention of the military clique is to create a supercabinet; a small group made up of generals and admirals. Admiral Castro, dominant political figure in the Navy, is slated to be in this ruling band.

Underlying the "palace revolution" is the belief of the military that civil war impends in Argentina. Labor, formerly backbone of Peron's support, has become increasingly hostile in recent months as a result of a combination of repressive measures and failure to make good his promises.

Plan of the general's clique is to set up a form of police state with far-reaching totalitarian controls in order to be in a strong position to combat a mass revolt if and when it occurs.

Note: Significant fact not reported by the Rio press was that Peron's glamorous wife, Eva, did not go to Buenos Aires upon her return from Europe. She went direct to the Rio Conference.

The "bell cycle" may not be a threat to world peace, but it has thousands of American women angrily shooting from the hipline.

"Bell cycle" is the trade name for the latest feminine fashion trend—those long, tapered skirts with the "hip accent" decreed by style arbiters.

No one in the Government is experiencing a bigger headache from the controversial innovation than Mrs. Virginia Collier, attractive Chief of the Apparel Branch of the Commerce Department's Textile and Leather Division. She has to read the flood of brickbats rolling in from all parts of the country demanding that the Government "do something" about the latest skirt edict.

Chief complaint of the indignant letter-writers is over the expense of buying new wardrobes.

"In general," reports Mrs. Collier, "youth is accepting the change more amenably than older women. Also, judging by the sales of higher-priced garments, the upper-income brackets aren't too antagonistic. But, generally speaking, dollar-volume sales of women's clothing are below last year's. And that's the best yardstick of how women feel about this new style."

Patton Versus Lee

Very significant in the uproar over Lt. Gen. John ("Godalmighty") Lee is the fact that no U. S. battle commander in Europe has come forward with a single word in his defense. Lee was Chief of Supply in the ETO.

While a number of combat officers, some of them regulars, have spoken out caustically regarding him, not one has yet said a good word for him. The reason is that Lee was widely unpopular.

The late great Gen. George S. Patton, Jr., repeatedly clashed with Lee over the failure of Third Army to get urgently needed battle supplies and equipment. "LUCKY FORWARD," forthcoming sensational history of Third Army, relates this illuminating incident of Lee's relations with Patton:

On one of Patton's rare visits to SHAEF in Longon, prior to the invasion, Lee noticed that Patton had brass buttons on his battle jacket. Several days later Lee issued a directive banning brass buttons and ordering that only bone buttons be worn. He sent a copy of the order to Patton with a handful of bone buttons.

After reading the order, Patton threw it in the wastebasket and the buttons into a drawer in his desk. He continued to wear his brass buttons until the day he died.

Test Ballot

Political chiefs of both parties have their eyes glued on what happens in Cleveland, O., September 30. The big, midwestern industrial metropolis holds a mayoralty primary that day that may be a significant portent of the 1948 voting trend.

Both parties have strong candidates. The Democrats, poplar Mayor Thomas Burke, who won re-election 1945 by a big majority; the Republicans, Eliot Ness, who gained fame a decade ago as an anti-graft crusading safety director.

Ohio went Republican both in the 1944 Presidential election and in the 1946 state election.

However, Cuyahoga County, in which Cleveland is located, has a preponderant labor constituency. Also, it is the heaviest populated county and has a long independent balloting record. So what happens in the Burke-Ness mayoralty battle is of great moment to both the GOP and Democrats. That's why they are not only watching it closely, but quietly putting a lot of money into the fight.

Fixing Price Of Labor In Its Relations To Increased Costs

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, Aug. 28. — Now that the congressional committees have stopped making "headlines," the Department of Justice has taken the stage with its investigations and plans to prosecute price-fixing.

Strangely enough, the most important factor in the making of prices—namely, the fixing of the biggest item of cost that enters into prices—is overlooked. This is because the New Deal, backed by a Supreme Court of its own choosing, saw to it that labor unions were exempted from the operations of the anti-trust laws.

The automobile unions can get together nationally and fix the price of labor affecting all major plants. When the automobile producers endeavor to include those increased costs, they are attacked as doing something wrong.

The miners' union in the coal industry, which has a "closed shop" monopoly, recently fixed the cost of labor in the coal mines for another year. The coal operators promptly raised the prices of coal and so did the steel producers.

If a small group of citizens may get together and fix the price of labor which is a major item in costs, why is it wrong for producers to increase their prices to absorb that cost.

Need Not Enter Into Conspiracy

The fact is the coal operators or the steel producers increase their costs by the same proportion when the news of the increase in the price of labor is published. The producers do not need to meet and enter into a conspiracy to fix prices. The price level is fixed for them by the wage level.

It is most unfortunate that the Republicans in Congress did not order an investigation of the whole question of prices in relation to wage costs. The Senate committee of economic affairs is supposed to look into some phases of this next month, but the subject should have had attention before.

The problem of prices is twofold—industrial and agricultural. The average person wants to know why his cost of living has increased. Congressional inquiries could explain it readily by mobilizing the facts. Thus, the prices of agricultural products are in large part fixed today by the government itself through the supports given the agricultural program. Also such prices are fixed by the size of the overseas demands in which our own government plays a major role.

The law of supply and demand cannot be repealed by exhortation. If the government today attempted to fix prices, it would stimulate a black market and greater shortages in food. The President's economic report says:

"Although most farmers cannot voluntarily reduce their prices because they do not make price decisions, we are not entirely without recourse in the farm situation. We may still obtain a total agricultural output as large as last year."

But the demand from abroad will tend to keep prices up till the rest of the world has its own harvests again. In the industrial realm, the President's economic advisers wrote recently in their report:

"In the free economy, prices are made by the forces of the market place and the action of business management. The initial responsibility for many prices is that of the business man who decides at what figure he will sell. In the first economic report each business man was urged to take a broad view of the long-run problem and, in the interest of sustaining large markets, to reduce his prices insofar as costs permitted."

Cost Catches Up With Ford

The Ford Motor Car Company took such advice and tried to keep from increasing prices on its cars, but costs caught up with the company's best intentions and now Ford goes along with the other auto makers in increasing prices.

This correspondent urged just before V-J Day that both wage and price controls be retained for the transition period. President Truman discarded wage controls and kept price controls and thus forced an imbalance. To get out of this dilemma, price controls eventually had to be removed. Now supply is slowly catching up with demand. When the two are in balance and a surplus of products appears, there will be a gradual reduction in prices and labor costs or else considerable unemployment as producers try to operate on the present high level of wage costs.

Business men are being urged by theorists to take chances, just as the Ford Company did. But such experiments are speculative and most business men would be glad to take chances if someone underwrote their losses. For that problem, of course, the politicians have no answer.

Contracts Made By Some Unions Not Forbidden By New Law

By SAMUEL B. PETTENGILL

A number of companies have agreed not to sue labor unions for damages by reason of wildcat strikes. The public has criticized these agreements as "bargaining away the Taft-Hartley bill."

This charge is based on a misunderstanding. Congress has not required anybody to sue anybody. That is up to the parties themselves. If, for any reasons deemed sufficient, Ford, International Harvester, or Murray Body Company agree to forego a law suit, they do what is common practice in the business world.

There are legal provisions which private parties cannot waive. If the law says a certain act is a crime, no one can agree to protest the criminal from prosecution. Similarly, no one can exempt another from responsibility for negligence. In these cases, the public interest in preventing crime or negligence is such that no one can agree that the other shall not be liable.

Agreements Not Forbidden

But neither crime nor negligence is involved in these labor management agreements. They are not forbidden by the Taft-Hartley law.

Every day, contracts are signed in the business world relieving one party or the other of penalty for a breach of the contract, if "caused by conditions beyond our control," war, floods, storms, strikes, or or "acts of God." Why then should labor unions be blamed for insisting on contracts relieving them of responsibility for unauthorized, wildcat strikes? Why should employers be blamed for agreeing to the relief?

If unions, in good faith, forbid wildcat strikes, and do not protect the wildcatters, but, on the contary, agree that the wildcatters may be disciplined by management, why should unions pay for something for which they are not at fault?

The real question is not the agreement to relieve the union from responsibility, but the good faith of both parties.

If unauthorized strikes take place, the strikers may still be fired, injured third parties may still sue the parties responsible, and the government is still free to act by injunction or otherwise if the strike is of great public importance. So, who is hurt? These agreements appear to be a praiseworthy effort on both sides to maintain continuity of production. In addition, they are a victory for the Taft-Hartley law itself which helped to bring these agreements into effect.

Country to Benefit From Pact

In the contract between the UAW-CIO and the International Harvester, the union agrees, in case of strike, or intentional slow-down, to notify the men involved as follows: "You are directed to promptly return to your respective jobs and to cease any action which may affect production." If the strikers refuse they may be discharged. The country will benefit from contracts of this sort.

The International Ladies Garment Workers Union deserves a blue ribbon, also. Refusing to follow the labor radicals, President David Dubinsky has told his 45 locals that ILGWU would not boycott the new National Labor Relations Board, or refuse to sign "no strike" agreements, or protect Communists. He insists, of course, on the continuance of the union shop, but the Taft-Hartley law does not forbid the union shop if both management and men desire it. All told, the Taft-Hartley law promises, thus far at least, a higher degree of responsibility on the labor front than we have had for years.

THESE DAYS

The President's Surplus

DURING the discussion of the tax bills, Secretary of the Treasury John W. Snyder warned a Senate Committee against cutting the Federal budget, forecasting price drops and a possible $8,000,000,000 decline in revenue for 1947. On April 19, Mr. Truman reported a prospective budget surplus of $1,250,000,000 for the end of the 1947 fiscal year ending June 30. On July 2, the Treasury announced a Federal budget surplus of $753,787,660 for the 1947 fiscal year. The Republicans stated that the surplus would run between $3,000,000,000 and $4,000,000,000. Some even went higher.

As early as April 28, Senator Taft said:

"The Treasury estimates in January, 1947, for the fiscal year 1947, were nearly $4,000,000,000 wrong. The estimates submitted in January for the fiscal year 1948 are evidently also wrong, but Mr. Snyder (Secretary of the Treasury, John W. Snyder) is refusing to bring them up to date for fear they may show a surplus which would justify a tax cut by a Republican Congress . . ."

Now the President puts his surplus at $4,700,000,000. Apparently his bookkeeping is all wrong. The trouble is that the President has been holding out $1,300,000,000, not yet appropriated by Congress, for such purposes as he may desire. His budget is so fixed that he will have that much, if not more, elbow room to function without Congress. The Marshall Plan alone could consume this $1,300,000,000 if not the entire $4,700,000,000. The President's problem is that this country is so heavily involved in foreign commitments that nobody can forecast even an approximation of how much money will be needed to make good our promises.

Senator Taft, during the debate on tax reduction, said:

"The President said there would be no tax reductions. But at the same time he increases the size of every civil department and asks for $3,000,000,000 not authorized. How about doing away with that and getting the tax reduction instead?"

Senator Bridge Said:

"The President includes in his budget $1,750,000,000 for international finance. Whether this sum will be needed depends to a large extent upon legislative action by the Congress on the President's international loan requests. If it is required, however, it probably will be insufficient to satisfy the flood of loan requests that will eventuate once the doors of our Treasury are opened to foreign borrowers."

The President and his advisers concealed from Congress the facts as to the surplus, making it difficult for Congress to impose economies and to reduce the burdens of the people. Always the foreign policy was the ghost that was used to frighten the legislators. The Second Tax Bill only cut revenue by $1,600,000,000 largely because of the concealment of the truth. Certainly, the Treasury knew what the surplus for the fiscal year 1947, which ended on June 30, 1947, would be at every stage of the tax discussion.

A much broader question is involved here than the figures show. It is the fundamental question of Presidential responsibility. He is required by the Constitution to present to the Congress the data it requires. Section 3 of Article II of the Constitution reads:

"He shall from time to time give the Congress Information of the State of the Union, and recommend to their Consideration such Measures as he shall judge necessary and expedient . . ."

One of the functions of Congress is to pass appropriations, measures thereanent arising originally in the House of Representatives. The President and his officers are required to provide such data as the Congress may need. The assumption must be that such data is truthful, or, if the President is in doubt, that he will say so, or that it is to the best of his ability and he so declares.

When the President and his officers provide positive data and it turns out that the figures are wrong, the country needs a better explanation than that on August 20 they were more correct than on June 30. The time lapse is to short for the type of correction involved.

The American people have lapsed into loose thinking on fiscal subjects. Billions of dollars are thrown hither and yon like chicken feed. If we are not careful, we shall not have them to throw about.

Today's Talk

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

Love Should Be Deep

We should be loved, not only because of what we may now be, but for what we are capable of being. Many a potential friend has been discarded because of our incapacity to see deep into the unrevealed worth of that person.

We can overlook and forgive so much, so long as we have faith and confidence—and a sort of God-given vision, into the possibilities of the one we would own as a friend.

Robert Louis Stevenson said: "It would be well if nations and faces could communicate their qualities; but in practice when they look upon each other, they have an eye to nothing but defects." That's largely the trouble with the world today. Nations know the fine and enduring qualities of other nations, but nothing but finding fault and picking quarrels. By doing this they they insist largely upon doing think they can blind other nations to their own faults, whereas if they took the opposite view—and practiced it—there would be co-operation and good will all around.

The easiest way to kill off a friendship, or to deaden love, is to become petty and critical. Under such a procedure anyone can isolate himself into a most unhappy state of mind and body. It would be well to think of the faults of others as common to us, and aspire to wipe them out by emulating the good points to be found in every other human being. With good spiritual eyesight, the good in other people, can be seen, even afar off!

Popularity can never compare to genuineness of character, and innate goodness. You have to get to the latter by way of love and understanding. Love is sure to test the capacity of anyone's worth, and reveal the true person as nothing else can. Because, you see, love is impartial and sees deeply, and has no axe to grind.

Our capacity is drawn upon as we will to do, and keep doing. We never know just how great that capacity may be. Perhaps most people die without ever having used but a small fraction of their ability. By feeling capable, we become capable. It's like the snowball that gathers bulk with momentum.

Erma Udora Johnson To Be Bride Of Nelson W. Estep

Ceremony Will Be Performed Tonight

Miss Erma Udora Johnson, daughter of K. H. Johnson, Wiley Ford, and the late Mrs. Johnson, will become the bride of Nelson Willard Estep, son of William J. Estep, Macsville, Va., tonight.

The ceremony is to be solemnized at 7:30 in Bethany Evangelical United Brethren Church, with Rev. Charles K. Welch officiating. The church is being decorated with ferns, bouquets of white gladioli and candelabra of tall white tapers, for the ocassion.

Miss Nelliemae Bucy is to be the maid of honor and the bride's only attendant and Arthur L. Redhead will serve as Mr. Estep's best man. George Nixon and Clarence Thompson will be the ushers. Preceding the ceremony Mrs. George Nixon will sing, "Always," and "I Love You Truly," accompanied by Mrs. C. K. Welch, who will also play the traditional wedding marches.

The bride-elect has chosen a wine colored gabradine suit, with small black feather hat, black accessories and a corsage of gardenias for her wedding. Her attendant will wear a black gabardine suit, with black velvetine hat trimmed in white feathers, white accessories and a corsage of gardenias.

The bride-elect is principal of Dixie High School and is employed as floor girl by the G. C. Murphy Company. She is a member of Wiley Ford Fire Company Auxiliary and the Board of Governors of the Wiley Ford Water Company. Her fiance attended Mt. Herman High School, Mt. Jackson, Va., and served 18 months in the Navy, while in the Pacific he was based in the Mariaanas. He will be associated with Carl Johnson Contractors.

Following the ceremony a reception will be held at the home of the bride. Mrs. George Sacks will preside at the punch bowl and will be assisted by Mrs. George Nixon, Mrs. Harry Wharton and Mrs. J. Carl Bucy. The bridal theme will be carried out in the tiered cake with miniature bride and bridegroom and the bouquets of white flowers. After a wedding trip through Pennsylvania Mr. Estep and his bride will reside in Wiley Ford.

Mr., Mrs. Cosgrove Mark Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Edward P. Cosgrove, 607 Sylvan Avenue, celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary yesterday, in order that all their children could attend the observance.

The celebration began with a golden jubilee mass in St. Patrick's Catholic Church, with Rev. J. Lawrence Kilkenny celebrant, and reading the Papal Blessing. A breakfast was served the immediate family following the mass, after which a reception and buffet luncheon was held, with the golden theme carried out in the gold and white decorated wedding cake and repeated in the flowers throughout the house.

The former Miss Margaret Turner, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Jacob L. Turner, who resided on Cecelia Street, became the bride of Edward P. Cosgrove, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Peter Cosgrove, Maryland Avenue, a pioneer family here, September 5, 1897 in St. Patrick's Church. The bride's attendant, Mrs. Resley Copley, was also present for the anniversary.

Mr. and Mrs. Cosgrove are the parents of ten children, Edward A. Cosgrove, Mrs. Rosella Freyer, Mrs. Alfred Carr, Herman J. Cosgrove, Sr., Sister M. Antionette, SSND, Midland; Mrs. Walter Keiser, Charles B. Cosgrove, Mrs. Paul Grabenstein, John Cosgrove and Clement J. Cosgrove. They also have 27 grandchildren and two great grandchildren.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Cosgrove are in good health and quite active. The former is employed by the Cumberland Brewing Company.

Will Hold Dance

The Undergraduate Club will hold it's first in the series of informal dances tonight at the Cumberland Country Club. Music will be by the Society Ramblers from 9:30 until 1 o'clock.

Dr. and Mrs. Emmett L. Jones and Mr. and Mrs. Richard R. Sitzler will be the chaperones.

Byron R. Bender, Mary Lou Shirk Are Married

Announcement has been made of the marriage of Miss Mary Lou Shirk, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl R. Shirk, Waynesburg, Pa., to Byron Robert Bender, son of Mr. and Mrs. B. H. Bender, Little Orleans.

The double ring ceremony was performed August 23 in the First Baptist Church, Waynesburg with Rev. J. M. Wyne officiating. The bridal party included Miss Joan Shirk as her sister's maid of honor; Miss Sally Johnson, Miss Jo Ann Scragg, bridesmaids; Joan Bender, Grantsville, sister of the bridegroom, Margery Hawkins, Mount Lebanon, cousin of the bride, junior bridesmaids; Eve Maria James, Brownsville, and Nancy Linton, Amity, flower girls.

Edgar Allen Bender, Grantsville, served as his cousin's best man and Thomas O. Bender and Carl Burton Glotfelty were the ushers.

The bride is a graduate of Waynesburg High School and Penn Commercial Business College, Washington, Pa. Prior to her resignation, she was employed in a secretarial capacity with Huffman Insurance Agency, Waynesburg.

The bridegroom is a graduate of Grantsville High School and served more than a year overseas as a gunner on a B-17. He is employed by his father in the Stanton Mills, Grantsville.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the summer home of Dr. and Mrs. G. E. Hoge and the wedding theme was carried out in the three tiered wedding cake and miniature bride and bridegroom. After a two weeks tour of the New England states, Mr. and Mrs. Bender will reside in Grantsville.

Home Canning Discussed

The Oldtown Homemakers Club met at the home of Mrs. Michael C. S. Twigg, Wednesday night, when the topic of discusion was "home canning." A variety of methods for making pickles were given by members of the club.

Some old linen lace was exhibited by Mabel Twigg, who reported that it is hand made and is at least 125 years old.

Refreshments were served after which a social period was held concluding the meeting.

Marriage Is Announced

The marriage of Miss Elizabeth McGraw to Joseph J. Trevers, New York City, has been announced by Mrs. Anna McGraw, 316 Harrison Street, mother of the bride. The ceremony was performed August 22 by Rev. Walter Marion Michael in the parsonage of Centre Street Methodist Church. Mr. and Mrs. Edwin C. Hoffman were the attendants.

Miss Nadene Darr Selects Nov. 2 As Wedding Date

To Become Bride Of Edward R. Sherk

Miss Nadene Virginia Darr, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William H. Darr, Hill Top, Westernport, has selected November 2, for her marriage to Edward R. Sherk, son of Dr. and Mrs. Daniel L. Sherk, LaVale. The ceremony is to be performed in the early afternoon in the Evangelical United Brethren Church, Westernport.

Her bridal party will include her sister, Miss Mary Darr, as maid of honor; another sister, Miss Dorothy Darr and a cousin, Miss Dorothy Jean Henry, Keyser, W. Va., as bridesmaids. Charles Airesman, Ellerslie, will serve as Mr. Sherk's best man and the ushers are to be Curtis Smith, LaVale, and James Darr, Westernport.

The bride-elect is a graduate of Bruce High School, Westernport, class of 1946, while there she was active in dramatics. Now she is employed for the W. J. Hamilton Insurance Agency, this city.

Her fiance is a graduate of Allegany High School and is employed by the LaVale Esso Center.

Betty Purinton, N. P. Weaver, Jr., Pledge Troth

Miss Betty Purinton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John B. Purinton, 518 Washington Street, became the bride of Noble Philip Weaver, Jr., son of Mrs. Nora Weaver, 109 Virginia Avenue, last night.

The wedding ceremony was solemnized before members of the immediate families at 8:30 in Grace Baptist Church, with Rev. W. Randolph Keefe officiating. Mr. and Mrs. Samuel P. Tasker, brother-in-law and sister of the bride were the couple's attendants.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, was attired in a cinnamon brown street length crepe dress, with which she wore dark brown accessories. An orchid corsage completed her costume. Her matron of honor wore a pink gown with brown accessories and Mrs. Purinton chose a rose gown with gray accessories, for her daughter's wedding. Mrs. Weaver wore a salmon colored dress with black accessories.

The bride is a graduate of Allegany High School, where she was a member of the Hi-Y, the Spanish Club and worked on the year book, matriculating to Potomac State College, she was a member of the June graduating class. While there she was a member of the Sigma Upsilon Chi sorority, co-editor of the year book, and a member of the honorary dramatic fraternity, Delta Psi Omega.

The bridegroom is a graduate of Fort Hill High School and was attending Potomac State when he was inducted into service. A veteran of three years service in the Army, he is now employed in the chemical laboratory of the Celanese Corporation of America.

Dinner Party Is Given In Honor Of Nancy Randall

Mrs. Robert L. Stallings entertained with a dinner and party honoring Miss Nancy Lee Randall, last night at her home, 517 Avirett Avenue. Miss Randall, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Randall, 519 Avirett Avenue, will become the bride of William P. Rosenmerkel, son of Mr. and Mrs. Perry Rosenmerkel, 708 Shriver Avenue, September 4. The ceremony will be solemnized at 11:30 in Centre Street Methodist Church, with Rev. Walter Marion Michael officiating.

The bridal theme was carried out in the decorations of the dinner table, which was centered with a miniature bride and bridegroom and minister with a Bible, beneath an arch of greens, decorated with white and yellow pompoms. The setting was arranged on a miniature lawn from which a path of rice led to the bride's place. Candelabra of tall white tapers were at either end of the table and a large white wedding bell suspended over the table. The place cards, edged in gold, each contained a gold wedding ring, tied with white satin ribbon; and the initials of the couple and date of the wedding. Arrangements of garden flowers were used throughout the house.

Mrs. Stallings presented her honor guest with an original scrapbook, which she had made. It is divided into three sections, covering the engagement, wedding and after years and consisting of pictures, poetry and cartoons. Various contests and games and a burlesque Dr . I. Q. program.

Besides Miss Randall other guests were Mrs. Leslie E. Randall, Mrs. Perry Rosenmerkel, Miss Ann Randall, Miss Jeanne Disney, Miss Mildred Flynn, Miss Doris Barnard, Miss Joan Bartlett and Mrs. Elmer Seward.

Wed In Hagerstown

The marriage of Miss Helen Louise Jones, daughter of Lewis S. Jones, LaVale, to Staff Sgt. Durvin R. Clawson, Salisbury, N. C., has been announced. The ceremony was performed August 23 by Rev. Walter Dice, in St. Matthew's Evangelical United Brethren Church, Hagerstown.

After a trip to North Carolina S. Sgt. Clawson and his bride will reside in Washington while the former, who has been in the Army Air Forces for eight years, is stationed at Bolling Field.

Miss Hazel Almond, Bride-Elect, Is Honored At Shaw

Mrs. Helen Mae Krieling entertained in honor of Miss Hazel Ileen Almond, with a miscellaneous shower, earlier in the week at her home, Riehl Avenue.

Miss Almond, daughter of Mrs. M. C. Almond, Willowbrook Road, will become the bride of John Lee Troxell, Jr., son of Mrs. Lucy M. Troxell, 429 Cumberland Street, and John Troxell, Sr., New York, Saturday. The wedding ceremony will be solemnized at 10:30 in Zion Evangelical and Reformed Church with Rev. Frederick D. Oberkircher, officiating. Miss Margaret Almond will be her sister's maid of honor and only attendant and William Malcholski will serve as Mr. Troxell's best man.

A rainbow color scheme was carried out in the decorations with bouquets of assorted flowers and repeated in the shower umbrella. The gifts were presented in the form of a treasure hunt with streamers from the umbrella leading to the place of the gifts.

Mr., Mrs. Shircliff Mark 25th Wedding Anniversary

Entertain With Reception, Dance

Mr. and Mrs. Silvester A. Shircliff, 204 North Centre Street, celebrated their 25th wedding anniversary with a reception and dance last night in the Southern Hotel ballroom.

The former Miss Frances Thomas, daughter of Mrs. Frances Thomas, Westernport, and the late Thomas Thomas, became the bride of Sylvester A. Shircliff, son of William H. Shircliff, city, and the late Mrs. Margaret Shircliff, August 28, 1922.

The wedding ceremony was solemnized in St. Peter's Catholic Church, Westernport, with Father McAdams officiating. Mrs. Theresa Robey was her sister's attendant and the late Guy Shircliff served as his brother's best man.

Mr. and Mrs. Shircliff are the parents of four children, Mrs. John Bender, Mary Frances, Carole and Thomas. They also have one granddaughter, Susan Bender.

Mrs. Shircliff is a member of the Court Cardinal Gibbons, 529, Catholic Daughters of America and worked for the Draft Board for four and one half years. Mr. Shircliff is a member of Cumberland Council, 586, Knights of Columbus; Fraternal Order of Eagles, Aerie 245; the Holy Name Society of St. Patrick's Church and is employed at the Southern Hotel.

Mr., Mrs. Cosgrove Mark Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Edward P. Cosgrove, 607 Sylvan Avenue, celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary yesterday, in order that all their children could attend the observance.

The celebration began with a golden jubilee mass in St. Patrick's Catholic Church, with Rev. J. Lawrence Kilkenny celebrant, and reading the Papal Blessing. A breakfast was served the immediate family following the mass, after which a reception and buffet luncheon was held, with the golden theme carried out in the gold and white decorated wedding cake and repeated in the flowers throughout the house.

The former Miss Margaret Turner, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Jacob L. Turner, who resided on Cecelia Street, became the bride of Edward P. Cosgrove, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Peter Cosgrove, Maryland Avenue, a pioneer family here, September 5, 1897 in St. Patrick's Church. The bride's attendant, Mrs. Resley Copley, was also present for the anniversary.

Mr. and Mrs. Cosgrove are the parents of ten children, Edward A. Cosgrove, Mrs. Rosella Freyer, Mrs. Alfred Carr, Herman J. Cosgrove, Sr., Sister M. Antionette, SSND, Midland; Mrs. Walter Keiser, Charles B. Cosgrove, Mrs. Paul Grabenstein, John Cosgrove and Clement J. Cosgrove. They also have 27 grandchildren and two great grandchildren.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Cosgrove are in good health and quite active. The former is employed by the Cumberland Brewing Company.

Will Hold Dance

The Undergraduate Club will hold it's first in the series of informal dances tonight at the Cumberland Country Club. Music will be by the Society Ramblers from 9:30 until 1 o'clock.

Dr. and Mrs. Emmett L. Jones and Mr. and Mrs. Richard R. Sitzler will be the chaperones.

Byron R. Bender, Mary Lou Shirk Are Married

Announcement has been made of the marriage of Miss Mary Lou Shirk, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl R. Shirk, Waynesburg, Pa., to Byron Robert Bender, son of Mr. and Mrs. B. H. Bender, Little Orleans.

The double ring ceremony was performed August 23 in the First Baptist Church, Waynesburg with Rev. J. M. Wyne officiating. The bridal party included Miss Joan Shirk as her sister's maid of honor; Miss Sally Johnson, Miss Jo Ann Scragg, bridesmaids; Joan Bender, Grantsville, sister of the bridegroom, Margery Hawkins, Mount Lebanon, cousin of the bride, junior bridesmaids; Eve Maria Iames, Brownsville, and Nancy Linton, Amity, flower girls.

Edgar Allen Bender, Grantsville, served as his cousin's best man and Thomas O. Bender and Carl Burton Glotfelty were the ushers.

The bride is a graduate of Waynesburg High School and Penn Commercial Business College, Washington, Pa. Prior to her resignation, she was employed in a secretarial capacity with Huffman Insurance Agency, Waynesburg.

The bridegroom is a graduate of Grantsville High School and served more than a year overseas as a gunner on a B-17. He is employed by his father in the Stanton Mills, Grantsville.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the summer home of Dr. and Mrs. G. E. Hoge and the wedding theme was carried out in the three tiered wedding cake and miniature bride and bridegroom. After a two weeks tour of the New England states, Mr. and Mrs. Bender will reside in Grantsville.

Home Canning Discussed

The Oldtown Homemakers Club met at the home of Mrs. Michael C. S. Twigg, Wednesday night, when the topic of discusion was "home canning." A variety of methods for making pickles were given by members of the club.

Some old linen lace was exhibited by Mabel Twigg, who reported that it is hand made and is at least 125 years old.

Refreshments were served after which a social period was held concluding the meeting.

Marriage Is Announced

The marriage of Miss Elizabeth McGraw to Joseph J. Trevers, New York City, has been announced by Mrs. Anna McGraw, 316 Harrison Street, mother of the bride. The ceremony was performed August 22 by Rev. Walter Marion Michael in the parsonage of Centre Street Methodist Church. Mr. and Mrs. Edwin C. Hoffman were the attendants.

Miss Nadene Darr Selects Nov. 2 As Wedding Date

To Become Bride Of Edward R. Sherk

Miss Nadene Virginia Darr, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William H. Darr, Hill Top, Westernport, has selected November 2, for her marriage to Edward R. Sherk, son of Dr. and Mrs. Daniel L. Sherk, LaVale. The ceremony is to be performed in the early afternoon in the Evangelical United Brethren Church, Westernport.

Her bridal party will include her sister, Miss Mary Darr, as maid of honor; another sister, Miss Dorothy Darr and a cousin, Miss Dorothy Jean Henry, Keyser, W. Va., as bridesmaids. Charles Airesman, Ellerslie, will serve as Mr. Sherk's best man and the ushers are to be Curtis Smith, LaVale, and James Darr, Westernport.

The bride-elect is a graduate of Bruce High School, Westernport, class of 1946, while there she was active in dramatics. Now she is employed for the W. J. Hamilton Insurance Agency, this city.

Her fiance is a graduate of Allegany High School and is employed by the LaVale Esso Center.

Betty Purinton, N. P. Weaver, Jr., Pledge Troth

Miss Betty Purinton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John B. Purinton, 518 Washington Street, became the bride of Noble Philip Weaver, Jr., son of Mrs. Nora Weaver, 109 Virginia Avenue, last night.

The wedding ceremony was solemnized before members of the immediate families at 8:30 in Grace Baptist Church, with Rev. W. Randolph Keefe officiating. Mr. and Mrs. Samuel P. Tasker, brother-in-law and sister of the bride were the couple's attendants.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, was attired in a cinnamon brown street length crepe dress, with which she wore dark brown accessories. An orchid corsage completed her costume. Her matron of honor wore a pink gown with brown accessories and Mrs. Purinton chose a rose gown with gray accessories, for her daughter's wedding. Mrs. Weaver wore a salmon colored dress with black accessories.

The bride is a graduate of Allegany High School, where she was a member of the Hi-Y, the Spanish Club and worked on the year book, matriculating to Potomac State College, she was a member of the June graduating class. While there she was a member of the Sigma Upsilon Chi sorority, co-editor of the year book, and a member of the honorary dramatic fraternity, Delta Psi Omega.

The bridegroom is a graduate of Fort Hill High School and was attending Potomac State when he was inducted into service. A veteran of three years service in the Army, he is now employed in the chemical laboratory of the Celanese Corporation of America.

Dinner Party Is Given In Honor Of Nancy Randall

Mrs. Robert L. Stallings entertained with a dinner and party honoring Miss Nancy Lee Randall, last night at her home, 517 Avirett Avenue. Miss Randall, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Randall, 519 Avirett Avenue, will become the bride of William P. Rosenmerkel, son of Mr. and Mrs. Perry Rosenmerkel, 708 Shriver Avenue, September 4. The ceremony will be solemnized at 11:30 in Centre Street Methodist Church, with Rev. Walter Marion Michael officiating.

The bridal theme was carried out in the decorations of the dinner table, which was centered with a miniature bride and bridegroom and minister with a Bible, beneath an arch of greens, decorated with white and yellow pompoms. The setting was arranged on a miniature lawn from which a path of rice led to the bride's place. Candelabra of tall white tapers were at either end of the table and a large white wedding bell suspended over the table. The place cards, edged in gold, each contained a gold wedding ring, tied with white satin ribbon; and the initials of the couple and date of the wedding. Arrangements of garden flowers were used throughout the house.

Mrs. Stallings presented her honor guest with an original scrapbook, which she had made. It is divided into three sections, covering the engagement, wedding and after years and consisting of pictures, poetry and cartoons. Various contests and games and a burlesque Dr. I. Q. program.

Besides Miss Randall other guests were Mrs. Leslie E. Randall, Mrs. Perry Rosenmerkel, Miss Ann Randall, Miss Jeanne Disney, Miss Mildred Flynn, Miss Doris Barnard, Miss Joan Bartlett and Mrs. Elmer Seward.

Wed In Hagerstown

The marriage of Miss Helen Louise Jones, daughter of Lewis S. Jones, LaVale, to Staff Sgt. Durvin R. Clawson, Salisbury, N. C., has been announced. The ceremony was performed August 23 by Rev. Walter Dice, in St. Matthew's Evangelical United Brethren Church, Hagerstown.

After a trip to North Carolina S. Sgt. Clawson and his bride will reside in Washington while the former, who has been in the Army Air Forces for eight years, is stationed at Bolling Field.

Miss Hazel Almond, Bride-Elect, Is Honored At Shaw

Mrs. Helen Mae Krieling entertained in honor of Miss Hazel Ileen Almond, with a miscellaneous shower, earlier in the week at her home, Riehl Avenue.

Miss Almond, daughter of Mrs. M. C. Almond, Willowbrook Road, will become the bride of John Lee Troxell, Jr., son of Mrs. Lucy M. Troxell, 429 Cumberland Street, and John Troxell, Sr., New York, Saturday. The wedding ceremony will be solemnized at 10:30 in Zion Evangelical and Reformed Church with Rev. Frederick D. Oberkircher, officiating. Miss Margaret Almond will be her sister's maid of honor and only attendant and William Malcholski will serve as Mr. Troxell's best man.

A rainbow color scheme was carried out in the decorations with bouquets of assorted flowers and repeated in the shower umbrella. The gifts were presented in the form of a treasure hunt with streamers from the umbrella leading to the place of the gifts.

Guests included Mrs. Valletta Kingsley, Miss Mary Alice Lookenott, Mrs. Helen Gallagher, Miss Betty Smith, Miss Helen Wempe, Miss Dorothy Grove, Miss Leanna Matthews and Mrs. Betty Webster.

Mr., Mrs. Shircliff Mark 25th Wedding Anniversary

Entertain With Reception, Dance

Mr. and Mrs. Silvester A. Shircliff, 204 North Centre Street, celebrated their 25th wedding anniversary with a reception and dance last night in the Southern Hotel ballroom.

The former Miss Frances Thomas, daughter of Mrs. Frances Thomas, Westernport, and the late Thomas Thomas, became the bride of Sylvester A. Shircliff, son of William H. Shircliff, city, and the late Mrs. Margaret Shircliff, August 28, 1922.

The wedding ceremony was solemnized in St. Peter's Catholic Church, Westernport, with Father McAdams officiating. Mrs. Theresa Robey was her sister's attendant and the late Guy Shircliff served as his brother's best man.

Mr. and Mrs. Shircliff are the parents of four children, Mrs. John Bender, Mary Frances, Carole and Thomas. They also have one granddaughter, Susan Bender.

Mrs. Shircliff is a member of the Court Cardinal Gibbons, 529, Catholic Daughters of America and worked for the Draft Board for four and one half years. Mr. Shircliff is a member of Cumberland Council, 586, Knights of Columbus; Fraternal Order of Eagles, Aerie 245; the Holy Name Society of St. Patrick's Church and is employed at the Southern Hotel.

WIFE PRESERVERS

If picnic or lunch sandwiches are left over, beat up a couple of eggs with about two-thirds cup of milk, dip the entire sandwich in this mixture and fry in deep fat to a golden brown. This is good for meat, cheese or jelly sandwiches.

Air Plants Help Spread Malaria

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Air plants or bromeliads cause severe malaria in Trinidad, because moisture in and on the foliage provides the breeding places for the mosquito that spreads malaria, says H. H. Stage, mosquito specialist of the U. S. Department of Agriculture, who has surveyed mosquito and malaria conditions in the Caribbean area.

Stage says Cacao planters replace tropical forests with immortelle trees to provide shade for cacao trees. Air plants grow like weeds in the high tree tops. It is not practical to apply DDT to these lofty mosquitoes incubators. The mosquitoes are day workers and attack men working in the shade of the cacao planfations and sitting outside in the evening. They rarely enter houses.

The problem is met by using a weak solution of copper sulphate that kills the air plant without injuring the immortelle trees or the cacao plantings.

Stage emphasizes the world-wide spread of the mosquito as a pest and disease carrier. During the war Stage made a field trip into the Arctic muskeg in Alaska to study Arctic mosquitoes and methods of protection for troops in Alaska.

The kingdom of Saudi-Arabia comprises the sultanate of Nejd and the kingdom of Hejaz and its dependencies. Its total area is 350,000 square miles and it has a population of 5,250,000. There are two capitals, Mecca and Riyadh.

Puzzle: Find The Capital Of Germany

BERLIN—(AP) — Berliners, who were challenged by the citizens of Munich and Frankfurt when they continued to call Berlin the capital of Germany since it was partitioned into four occupation zones, now have a comeback.

"So Berlin is recognized as the capital city, at least when it comes to paying bills," said Der Abend, the American-licensed Berlin newspaper. "Rudolf Hess and the other major Nazi criminals now confined in Spandau prison are going to cost the Berlin city government 400,000 marks ($40,000) for the next year.

"Well, we'd just as soon share this with the remainder of Germany—perhaps also with Austria, which, after all, sent us the expensive Fuehrer Adolf Hitler who was the father of our grief."

The highest mountain peak in Colombia, South America, is Tolima, once an active volcano, which rises to a height of 18,000 feet.

Death Has Holiday In Speed Scare

TEXARKANA, Ark.—(AP)—It all depends on the viewpoint, couple of Texarkana, Ark., policemen discovered.

Officers A. T. Smith and Lloyd Friday answered a suicide call and discovered the fellow had seriously slashed himself. They put him in a patrol car and started for a hospital.

Tires screamed at every corner as Smith raced through traffic lights in an effort to save the man's life. Finally the man began to squirm.

"My God, man, you'll kill us all," he remonstrated.

Carpenters Recall Strike Here For Eight Hour Day

It wasn't always that way, two retired carpenters remarked recently on the harmonious relations which now exist between the general contractors of the Cumberland area and Carpenters Local 1024, AFL.

During the early days of the union, which was formed here March 10, 1902, carpenters were paid from 25 to 30 cents on hour and had a union scale of 35 cents when the local went on strike in 1912 for an eight hour day and a 50 cent hourly wage.

The bitterly fought strike, according to R. C. Summers, 22 Bedford Street, and C. C. Harper, 410 Bedford Street, lasted three months and ended after members of the union entered the contracting business themselves in order to keep at work.

The first work the union members secured, they said, was a contract to build a home near the cite of the present Legion home on Harrison Street. Other projects were secured later to keep members at work.

The chief difficulty, they said, was to secure materials. Since local lumber yards refused to supply the strikers with building materials, the men went outside the city and finally secured lumber from a Hyndman, Pa., lumber mill.

After that, they continued, a local mill agreed to supply all the material the men needed, but it was necessary to haul the lumber away during the "dead of night."

The strike ended when a company, building at the B. and O. shops here, agreed to pay 45 cents an hour for a nine hour day, they said. By 1916, the scale had jumped to 62½ cents an hour and by 1919 to 75 cents, they added.

Eight more tons of wastepaper were collected yesterday boosting to a total of 46 tons the amount collected in the current campaign.

Want Good Tip On Races, Then Find Lost Dog

Want to get a sure tip on the races? Then find Bones, that Boston Bull dog, that wandered away from The Huntress's stall at Fairgo Saturday and just hasn't been seen since.

Bones was mascot to The Huntress, Joseph Richardson, a caretaker in the E. R. Murril Stable explained last night, and it just isn't natural for the brown pooch with the white throat to go wandering off and not come back to The Huntress's stall in time to be fed.

Bones, a "full blooded" Boston Bull, was last seen Saturday evening, and friends of The Huntress believe the little dog was stolen by someone who "just doesn't know how unhappy the grooms and stable boys are around the Murril stables these days.

"Why I'd give the best tip of the whole racing season to the person who brings Bones back or takes me to Bones," Richardson said.

So, if you can't pick the horses, look for Bones, and Richardson will see that the rest "comes naturally."

LaSalle High Opens September 8

LaSalle High School will open classes Monday morning, September 8, following the annual mass of the Holy Ghost in St. Patrick's Church, which the entire student body is expected to attend, according to Brother Edmund Clement, principal.

Preceding the opening of school new students will be registered Thursday, September 4, with upper classmen enrolling Friday, September 5.

LaSalle's faculty will include two new instructors according to Brother Clement.

The newcomers to the faculty are Brother G. Anthony, who taught at LaSalle High, Philadelphia, last year, and Brother D. Jeremy, an instructor at St. Francis Prep, Eddington, Pa., in 1946-47.

Brother Anthony, who will have charge of biology classes at LaSalle, taught previously at the local school from 1931 to 1936. Brother Jeremy will be the instructor in junior and senior English.

Two members of the 1946-47 faculty have been transferred to other Christian Brother schools. Brother Declan, who coached the Explorer baseball team last spring, has been assigned to St. John's College, Washington, as teacher of French, and Brother Edward, who taught junior class subjects here, goes to LaSalle College, Philadelphia, to head the Chemistry Department.

Returning to the LaSalle faculty, in addition to Brother Clement, will be Brother Basil, vice-principal, who has served in Cumberland eight years; Brother Edmund, dean of the LaSalle College, Philadelphia, to moderator of The Torch; Brother Patrick, senior moderator; Brother Thomas, sophomore instructor and moderator of the LaSalle Glee Club, and Brother Gregory, director of athletics.

The coming year will be the sixtenth at LaSalle for Brother Edmund. It will be the ninth for Brother Patrick, the seventh for Brother Gregory and the third for Brother Thomas.

Three Local Men Post Bond For Trial

Three Cumberland men, all charged with disorderly conduct posted bonds of $10 last night for hearing this morning after being arrested by Officers R. M. Nuse, and Joseph Niland.

They were booked as George Orndorff, 698 Virginia Avenue; W. E. Bowman, 427 South Street, and V. F. Cassidy, Williams Street.

A man identified as Ashbery Perdew, Artemas, Pa., was being held in City Jail for Maryland State Police on charges of violating a state motor vehicle law. He was arrested by Trooper Walter Wilt.

Two Weeks Needed To Fix State Roads

With no more rain, two weeks will be required to return state roads in Allegany County to close to normal condition, George B. Hale, resident maintenance engineer of the State Roads Commission, said last night.

The Westernport-McCoole Road, blocked Tuesday night after a cloudburst, was opened to two-way traffic yesterday after State Roads crews succeeding in clearing rocks, dirt, trees and other debris from the roadway. The road was open to one-way traffic after 6 p. m. Wednesday.

At a point about a half mile east of Westernport a power shovel was used to move the debris and traffic was suspended at intervals for a few minutes while trucks were filled to haul the dirt away.

While the Westernport-McCoole road is open, considerable work remains to be done in clearing the sides of that highway as well as others in the county, Hale said.

State Police Kill Copperhead Snake

State Police last night killed a three-foot-long copperhead snake as they headed toward the State Police radio transmitter on Dan's Rock to repair it.

The officers, First Sgt. W. E. O'Hara, Sgt. Arthur Burke and Trooper Ira G. Unger were climbing the sloping part of the rock when they spied the snake and killed it with sticks and stones. The incident took place about 8:45 p. m.

Local Legionnaires Attending Convention

Three local men are attending the 29th annual national convention of the American Legion, which opened yesterday in New York

They are Daniel F. McMullen, past department commander; Charles G. Smith, grand chef de gare of the 40 and 8; and Heyl D. Walker, a member of Fort Cumberland Post No. 13, American Legion.

Convention Delegates Named By Kiwanians

Delegates and alternates to the annual convention of the Capital District to Kiwanis International to be held in Roanoke, Va., Oct. 9, 10 and 11 were elected by the Cumberland Kiwanis Club at its meeting yesterday at noon in Central YMCA.

In addition to W. Earle Cobey, president, who is a delegate to the convention by reason of his office, other delegates chosen were William E. Landefeld, vice-president and William J. Edwards, secretary. Alternates elected were Arthur Davis and Dr. Albert C. Cook.

Garage Permit Granted

Mrs. Loretta Kienhofer, 115 Hanover Street, secured a permit in the city engineer's office yesterday to build a one-story concrete block garage at the rear of her home.

The structure will measure 25 by 20 feet and will have slate surface roofing. Work will be done by Mrs. Kienhofer's husband, Louis Kienhofer, at an estimated cost of $500.

DEATHS

MRS. LOHR RITES

A funeral service will be held today at 3 p. m. in the George Funeral Home for Mrs. Marie G. Lohr, 49, wife of Marshall Lohr, Baltimore, former resident of Ellerslie, who died Tuesday in Baltimore. Rev. E. H. Davis, acting pastor of Centre Street Methodist Church, will officiate and interment will be in Hillcrest Burial Park.

Pallbearers will be Charles U. Wiebel, worthy patron of Cumberland Chapter, Order of the Eastern Star, of which she was a member, and Maurice Robinette, Wilbur Dixon, D. Fay Thompson, Harold Ashworth and Oliver Morton, all past worthy patron of the organization.

Honorary pallbearers, members of Cumberland Chapter No. 56, Order of Eastern Star, will be Nelson Pierce, Ivan Hall, Carl Keller, Philip Ward, A. N. Billings, Grover Liller, Lloyd McNeil and James Orr.

Radio Club Will Hold Transmitter Hunt

At least five radio teams are expected to compete in a hidden transmitter hunt to be sponsored Sunday afternoon by the Mountain Radio Club. The hunt will get under way shortly after 1 p. m. with teams using loop antennas in order to locate the hidden station.

After a team tunes in on the antenna, the direction is plotted on a map and the group moves to another location and repeats the process. If calculations are correct, the set will be located where lines intersect.

The group met Wednesday night at Constitution Park for a corn roast and social evening.

Lonaconing Woman Receives Divorce

An absolute divorce from James Max Dillon was granted Helen K. Dillon, 30, Lonaconing, in a decree signed yesterday in Circuit Court by Chief Judge William A. Huster. She also was given the custody of a minor daughter.

Mildred V. Lindeman, 39, 43 Boone Street, was granted an absolute divorce from John H. Lindeman and was given the right to resume use of her maiden name. The decree was signed by Judge Huster.

Suit for partial divorce from Dolores H. Self, 218 Union Street, was filed by Raymond H. Self, a minor, by George Self, his father and next friend.

Carpenters Recall Strike Here For Eight Hour Day

It wasn't always that way, two retired carpenters remarked recently on the harmonious relations which now exist between the general contractors of the Cumberland area and Carpenters Local 1024, AFL.

During the early days of the union, which was formed here March 10, 1902, carpenters were paid from 25 to 30 cents on hour and had a union scale of 35 cents when the local went on strike in 1912 for an eight hour day and a 50 cent hourly wage.

The bitterly fought strike, according to R. C. Summers, 22 Bedford Street, and C. C. Harper, 410 Bedford Street, lasted three months and ended after members of the union entered the contracting business themselves in order to keep at work.

The first work the union members secured, they said, was a contract to build a home near the cite of the present Legion home on Harrison Street. Other projects were secured later to keep members at work.

The chief difficulty, they said, was to secure materials. Since local lumber yards refused to supply the strikers with building materials, the men went outside the city and finally secured lumber from a Hyndman, Pa., lumber mill.

After that, they continued, a local mill agreed to supply all the material the men needed, but it was necessary to haul the lumber away during the "dead of night."

The strike ended when a company, building at the B. and O. shops here, agreed to pay 45 cents an hour for a nine hour day, they said. By 1916, the scale had jumped to 62½ cents an hour and by 1919 to 75 cents, they added.

SOMERSET YOUTH DROWNS IN PIPE

SOMERSET, Pa., Aug. 28—Eleven-year-old Fred Christner met a tragic death by drowning Tuesday when a storm-swollen stream swept him into a drainage pipe.

The lad, a son of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Christner, 187 Plank Road, Somerset, with four other children had been bike riding along the Plank Road at the east end of Somerset when they noticed the small stream had flooded the road. Ray Faidley, one of the Christner boy's friends, said the youth started to wade and suddenly disappeared.

His body was sucked into a 30-inch tile pipe by undertow from the flash flood.

The boy's father was notified at once by neighbors. A few minutes later he found his son's crumpled body lodged in the pipe. Mr. Christner succeeded in pulling his son's doubled-up body free.

Neighbors took the lad to Somerset Community Hospital where he was pronounced dead on arrival. Somerset firemen made a futile effort to revive the boy with their respirator.

Patrolman Joseph Suder said he learned that a 17-year-old youth made a frantic attempt to rescue the drowning lad. He said the would-be rescuer jumped into the swirling water and grabbed Fred by the leg and arm. He was forced to release his grasp when pulled against the opening of the pipe by the force of the current.

The Faidley boy said they were bike-riding with his sister, Delores Faidley, and Paul Bateman, another neighbor boy. The children said they did not hear young Christner utter a sound. "He just disappeared," they added.

Pinup Onion Is Easy On Eyes

DAVIS, Calif.—(AP)—You can stop crying—almost.

Dr. Glen N. Davis, assistant professor of truck crops in the University of California College of Agriculture, has announced the production of California Hybrid Red No. 1—which he called pretty close to the perfect onion.

"It's not completely tearless," he cautioned; "just much less painful to the eyes than other onions."

SOMERSET YOUTH DROWNS IN PIPE

SOMERSET, Pa., Aug. 28—Eleven-year-old Fred Christner met a tragic death by drowning Tuesday when a storm-swollen stream swept him into a drainage pipe.

The lad, a son of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Christner, 187 Plank Road, Somerset, with four other children had been bike riding along the Plank Road at the east end of Somerset when they noticed the small stream had flooded the road. Ray Faidley, one of the Christner boy's friends, said the youth started to wade and suddenly disappeared.

His body was sucked into a 30-inch tile pipe by undertow from the flash flood.

The boy's father was notified at once by neighbors. A few minutes later he found his son's crumpled body lodged in the pipe. Mr. Christner succeeded in pulling his son's doubled-up body free.

Neighbors took the lad to Somerset Community Hospital where he was pronounced dead on arrival. Somerset firemen made a futile effort to revive the boy with their respirator.

Patrolman Joseph Suder said he learned that a 17-year-old youth made a frantic attempt to rescue the drowning lad. He said the would-be rescuer jumped into the swirling water and grabbed Fred by the leg and arm. He was forced to release his grasp when pulled against the opening of the pipe by the force of the current.

The Faidley boy said they were bike-riding with his sister, Delores Faidley, and Paul Bateman, another neighbor boy. The children said they did not hear young Christner utter a sound. "He just disappeared," they added.

Pinup Onion Is Easy On Eyes

DAVIS, Calif.—(AP)—You can stop crying—almost.

Dr. Glen N. Davis, assistant professor of truck crops in the University of California College of Agriculture, has announced the production of California Hybrid Red No. 1—which he called pretty close to the perfect onion.

Seeks Bilbo's Seat

OTUPELO, Miss., Aug. —(AP)—Rep. John E. Rankin (D-Miss.) said today that he will be a candidate for the United States Senate in the November 4 general election to select a successor to the late Sen. Theo. G. Bilbo.

Question:—

Whose idea was it to add Vitamin D to Milk?

Answer:—

The doctors started it, Mrs. Smith . . . because only 7 out of 86 commonly eaten foods contain Vitamin D. But, one quart of our Vitamin D milk provides all the "D" you need, plus many other nourishing food factors.

Colombia Plans To Seek Changes In Defense Pact

"Zone Of Maritime Security" Approved

QUITANDINHA, Brazil, Aug. 28 (AP)—The Colombian delegation to the Inter-American Conference, still dissatisfied with certain features of the mutual defense treaty now virtually complete, prepared tonight to fight for revision through committees and, if necessary, at the final plenary sessions.

Meanwhile, the Drafting Committee approved a vast "zone of maritime security," extending from pole to pole, and spreading from only a few miles off Russian Siberia to east of Greenland.

Under the treaty, any attack against this zone would invoke immediately joint armed resistance of all the signatory American Republics.

Individual Defense Issue

The Colombian delegation said the group was dissatisfied because it feared the right of individual legitimate defense and the right to assist a nation attacked from within the hemisphere might be subverted by the provision for consultations to settle the dispute through peaceful means.

Colombian delegates said they wanted the right of individual and collective defense and assistance to have overriding priority in any enforcement action to maintain peace in the hemisphere. They declined to confirm or deny rumors they might not sign the treaty, pointing out they were awaiting instructions from President Ospina Perez.

The Colombian opposition to the present treaty provisions for dealing with aggression within the hemisphere has brought out the story of the committee battles which preceded it. Peruvian Delegate Victor Andres Belaunde proposed that a consultative conference of foreign ministers attempt to settle conflicts between two or more American states by pacific means.

Vandenberg Opposes Proposal

This proposal, informants said, was strongly opposed by Sen. Arthur H. Vandenberg (R-Mich.), United States delegate, who said there should be no possibility for vacillation in such a situation. Vandenberg championed the viewpoint that other American nations should use force immediately to assist an invaded country, these sources said.

Finally, after four days, Article E, specifying that the right of individual legitimate defense and the right of other American states to lend assistance to the country attacked, was adopted.

Arguing for revision of this article before the committee last night, Antonio Rocha, Colombian delegate, said that within the word "conflict" two totally different situations existed: One of dispute and controversy, and the other of armed attack.

RISKS LIFE TO SAVE DOG—Up to his neck in mud, Field Superintendent Harold Present, of the Missouri Humane Society, is pulled to safety by a fellow worker after risking his life to rescue a mongrel dog (arrow) that had become stuck in the mud of the River Des Peres in St. Louis. Present crawled on boards to reach the animal.

Grand Jury Frees Pretty British War Bride In Slaying Of Husband

CRESTVIEW, Fla., Aug. 28—(AP)—Mrs. Margaret Irene Poland, British war bride, was freed today of charges in the fatal shooting of her American soldier husband and immediately began planning court action if necessary to regain custody of their 16-month-old son.

"Maybe I'll be able to get my baby back now," were the first words of the 21-year-old native of the Isle of Man after she had been told by a court attache the Okaloosa Grand Jury had declined to indict her for the death of her husband, Staff Sgt. Graydon Poland, on July 24.

She had claimed she shot Poland after he started suit for divorce, sent their baby to his relatives in Tompkinsville, Ky., and threatened her life.

The grand jury's report of "no true bill" came unexpectedly as soon as Circuit Judge D. Stuart Gillis opened court today.

The 18-man jury had spent all day yesterday examining witnesses in the case, including C. T. Poland, father of Sgt. Poland.

Mrs. Poland said she wanted to talk to her father-in-law immediately about having her baby returned to her. However, he was not seen in the courtroom and could not be located in Crestview today for a statement.

Soon after the grand jury gave its report, Mrs. Poland returned to Fort Walton where well-wishers had contributed to a fund for her defense. She also received contributions from England.

It was at Fort Walton that Mrs. Poland shot her husband after a quarrel in front of the restaurant where she worked as a waitress. He was a cook stationed at the Army's Elgin Field a few miles away.

Recalling the shooting, she said her husband drove up in front of the cafe and gave her a letter from his sister "about the baby." An argument followed and she went back into the restuarant and got a pistol. She didn't remember much about what happened after that, Mrs. Poland said, but she was sorry she had shot him.

TWINS SEND FAMILY'S TOTAL TO 18 AND ADD TO HOUSING PROBLEM

NORTH ADAMS, Mass., Aug. 28 (AP)—Mr. and Mrs. Edward J. Lescarbeau's private housing problem wasn't eased any today by the arrival of twins, for that made 16 children in their six-room tenement.

Harold and Howard, who joined the Lescarbeau family last night, were the second pair of twin boys in the couple's 18 years of married life. The other pair—Louis and Leon—arrived six years ago.

Lescarbeau, 42-year-old carpenter, and his wife, 38, list their offspring's ages as 17, 16, 15, 14, 13, 11, 10, 9, 7, twins 6, 4, 3 and 2. Mrs. Lescarbeau comes from a family of 12 children and her husband was one of 19.

him repeatedly on the head, then left him lying on the rug, bleeding.

For four hours she wandered through the house, tidying it up. Once she stopped to feel the body. It was cold. She went back to the tool chest, this time for a saw.

Gruesome Tools

Then she wrapped the pieces into several bundles with a covering of sheeting and pages from a Polish newspaper.

She stacked the bundles up neatly, then peered outside to see if darkness had settled over the working class neighborhood of small homes, flat buildings and factories.

At 9 o'clock she took one of the bundles and walked a mile to the north branch of the Chicago River and tossed it in. Back and forth over the mile she went with her gruesome loads. On one of the trips she tossed the hacksaw into a patch of weeds.

On the night before the killing, she and her husband visited a neighborhood saloon. She took only four beers but he drank heavily. At about 10 o'clock she left and did not see him until he burst into her bedroom the next afternoon saying, "I've a good mind to tear you apart."

Robbed Of Payroll

WINNIPEG, Man., Aug. 28 (AP) — J. M. Kingston, owner of the Winnipeg Hotel, was robbed of a $30,000 payroll today by two men who jumped into his car as he was leaving a downtown bank.

Giants Lose Star

NEW YORK, Aug. 28 (AP) — Injuries, which have riddled the Giants' pitching staff recently, further struck at the New Yorkers today.

Bobby Thomson, center fielder, regarded as the prize rookie outfielder of the league, who has hit twenty-four home runs thus far, was taken to St. Elizabeth's Hospital for an X-ray examination of a swollen left knee. The injury, described as water on the knee, may keep him out of the lineup several days. Thomson didn't remember any incident which might have sprained his knee.

Norwegian Plane Disaster Kills 35

OSLO, Norway, Aug. 28. (AP)—Thirty-five persons, including an American woman, were killed today when a Norwegian Airlines Sandringham flying boat crashed against a mountainside in Northern Norway.

The crash occurred during fog and rain near Loedingen on Lofoten Island above the Arctic Circle. The plane was en route from Tromsoe to Stavanger.

The victims included 27 passengers and eight crew members. Among them was a Mrs. Jess (further identification not available), an American, who had been visiting in Borkenes near Harstad, in Northern Norway; Jan Reinis and Tatjana Selingerova, both Czech journalists, and G. Heine, a Dane. The others were Norwegians.

The craft's chief pilot was Capt. Buer, a well-known Norwegian flyer. Jarle Ebbesen, the airline's chief inspector, also was a victim.

The plane, named the Kvitbjoern (White Bear) was believed to have been flying at between 900 and 1,000 feet altitude. Persons living nearby said they heard a terrific explosion.

munism in America but we harbor no desire to rescue the Russians from Communism if they choose to live under it.

"To think that we must reach for the sword, however, every time we are in disagreement with the policies of another country is to deny that we have either the will or the intelligence to work for peace."

However, National Commander Paul H. Griffith, in presenting the report of his year in office to the convention, sounded an alarm against what he termed "the conspiracy of the Kremlin looking toward world conquest in the guise of Communism."

"To my mind," he said, "there is no useful purpose to be served in any Legionnaire, these days, quibbling or dodging the issue that the prime menace to world peace rests with the machinations of Moscow."

Bridegroom Kills Wife And Father, Takes Own Life

Another Body Found Near Shooting Scene

SHELBYVILLE, Ill., Aug. 28 (AP)—A frustrated bridegroom whose 16-year-old wife was planning to divorce him shot and killed his bride, his father and himself last night and wounded his mother and 12-year-old brother-in-law.

As police investigated the triple deaths, resulting from a shooting rampage in a roller skating rink and a farm house, the body of a roller rink employe — the throat slashed and a hole in the head—was found in a park near the rink, and officers attempted to learn if that killing was linked with last night's slayings and suicide.

Invaded Private Party

Dead were Mrs. Jacqueline Helton, 16; her husband, Donald Helton, 22; Helton's father, Earl, about 60, a farmer, and William Mogg, 33, a part time roller rink employe. Police could establish no connection immediately between Mogg's death and those of the Helton family, but Sheriff Cecil Clausen said he believed the shootings and Mogg's death occurred at about the same time.

Mogg's body was found in a city park across the street from the skating rink where witnesses said Donald Helton invaded a private party last night to pump three bullets into his wife's body and critically wound her young brother, Walter Knearem, 12, when young Knearm went to her aid.

State's Attorney Eugene Bland said Helton then went to the farm home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Helton, shot his father to death and wounded his mother, Florence, in the arm and hand.

Bridegroom Leaves Note

An all-night search for young Helton by a group of 25 law enforcement officers ended early today when three state highway patrolmen returned to the Helton home and found Donald dead in the living room, a bullet wound in his temple and a .32 caliber foreign made pistol and a note at his side.

Sheriff Clausen declined to disclose the text of the note pending an inquest, but stated it said in substance:

"I am sorry for what I have done. I wish to be buried next to my wife. I love her very much, but our marriage could not be a success because of family difficulties."

Two Given Head Start Over Police Surrender

YORK, Pa., Aug. 28 (AP) — Fugitives for nearly a week after a Baltimore judge gave them a 15-minute head start over Pennsylvania police, William H. Miller, 18, and George Miller, 20, cousins, surrendered today.

Two attorneys brought the missing youths, both residents of Manchester, Md., into court. They were released in $1,500 bail pending trial in October on charges of taking airplane parts from the Hanover, Pa., airport. Three co-defendants, Robert Green, 28, Reistertown, Md.; Philip Knatz, 21, Greenmount, Md., and a juvenile have been in jail since their extradition from Maryland last week

Veteran Housing Probe Demanded

BALTIMORE, Aug. 28 (AP) — The Baltimore Chapter of the American Veterans Committee today asked a federal investigation of what it called "outrages" in the financing and building of homes for former GIs.

One Baltimore builder this week agreed to refund $50,000 to 94 veterans for whom his firm had built houses in a development financed with GI loans after the buyers complained they did not come up to specification.

William Boucher, III, chairman of the AVC's local chapter, said in a letter to the Department of Justice and the Veterans Administration that other builders were guilty of similar or worse abuses.

"Government-approved plans and specifications are not worth the paper they are written on," he declared.

"It is time the abuses are stopped. They could not have continued this long without the builders, the lending agencies and the Veterans Administration knowing of and condoning the situation or being entirely incompetent to administer the program.

"Apparently the veteran is getting shabby treatment merely because he is forced to buy almost any house, at any price, in order to get a roof over his head.

"These outrages demand a full-scale federal investigation x x x in the interest of defrauded veterans."

Dairen "Open" To Reds

LONDON, Aug. 28 (AP)—The Moscow radio broadcast a statement tonight that Soviet ships retained "the indisputable right" to enter the port of Dairen, Manchuria, despite a reported Chinese decision to close the harbor to foreign shipping.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 28 (AP) — The National Association of Real Estate Boards said today a charge it broke the anti-trust laws was "outrageous" and apparently in "reprisal" for opposing federal controls over housing.

The association pledged itself to "fight" a grand jury indictment which charged yesterday that it and the Washington Real Estate Board conspired criminally to set commission rates on real estate deals in the District of Columbia. The association said uniform fees are in the public interest and help hold down housing costs.

In a statement issued by its president, Morgan L. Fitch, Chicago, the NAREB sized up the timing of the indictment obtained by the Justice Department as significant. It said it had been trying for a long time to protect property and home owners by opposing "certain types of federal legislation designed to maintain indefinitely and permanently the controls of government over the homes and property of the nation." The statement went on:

"We have frankly told the administration and Congress what we believe should be done concerning housing in the public interest. It seems an outrage that we cannot do this without danger of reprisals. x x x"

The real estate men of the nation are "outraged," it said.

The Justice Department sought and obtained the indictment against the NAREB and the Washington board after Attorney General Clark ordered the anti-trust division to crack down on any conspiracies to maintain or increase prices of food, clothing and housing.

Scientist Links Leprosy, Cancer

Discovery Announced By Dr. Rivka Ashbel

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 28 (AP) — A connection between leprosy and cancer is claimed to have been found by Dr. Rivka Ashbel, noted woman scientist of Jerusalem.

Here to attend the fourth International Cancer Research Congress starting next Tuesday, Dr. Ashbel said today that she had found that leprosy, under certain conditions, produces cancer. Infecting hamsters (small rodents), with leprosy bacilli, she said tumors arose in most of the animals.

Dr. Ashbel claimed that this is the first instance of cancer being artificially brought about by a biological method. Previous methods of inducing cancer for research purposes have been solely with chemical agents, she said.

The scientist emphasized that she had conducted no experiments with human beings and doesn't plan to for years to come, since there is much more to be learned about the whys of her animal experiments.

"But we have reason to believe that what can be done with animals can be done with man" she said.

Colombia Plans To Seek Changes In Defense Pact

"Zone Of Maritime Security" Approved

QUITANDINHA, Brazil, Aug. 28 (AP)—The Colombian delegation to the Inter-American Conference, still dissatisfied with certain features of the mutual defense treaty now virtually complete, prepared tonight to fight for revision through committees and, if necessary, at the final plenary sessions.

Meanwhile, the Drafting Committee approved a vast "zone of maritime security," extending from pole to pole, and spreading from only a few miles off Russian Siberia to east of Greenland.

Under the treaty, any attack against this zone would invoke immediately joint armed resistance of all the signatory American Republics.

Individual Defense Issue

The Colombian delegation said the group was dissatisfied because it feared the right of individual legitimate defense and the right to assist a nation attacked from within the hemisphere might be subverted by the provision for consultations to settle the dispute through peaceful means.

Colombian delegates said they wanted the right of individual and collective defense and assistance to have overriding priority in any enforcement action to maintain peace in the hemisphere. They declined to confirm or deny rumors they might not sign the treaty, pointing out they were awaiting instructions from President Ospina Perez.

The Colombian opposition to the present treaty provisions for dealing with aggression within the hemisphere has brought out the story of the committee battles which preceded it. Peruvian Delegate Victor Andres Belaunde proposed that a consultative conference of foreign ministers attempt to settle conflicts between two or more American states by pacific means.

Vandenberg Opposes Proposal

This proposal, informants said, was strongly opposed by Sen. Arthur H. Vandenberg (R-Mich.), United States delegate, who said there should be no possibility for vacillation in such a situation. Vandenberg championed the viewpoint that other American nations should use force immediately to assist an invaded country, these sources said.

Finally, after four days, Article E, specifying that the right of individual legitimate defense and the right of other American states to lend assistance to the country attacked, was adopted.

Arguing for revision of this article before the committee last night, Antonio Rocha, Colombian delegate, said that within the word "conflict" two totally different situations existed: One of dispute and controversy, and the other of armed attack.

Giants Lose Star

Bobby Thomson, center fielder, regarded as the prize rookie outfielder of the league, who has hit twenty-four home runs thus far, was taken to St. Elizabeth's Hospital for an X-ray examination of a swollen left knee. The injury, described as water on the knee, may keep him out of the lineup several days. Thomson didn't remember any incident which might have sprained his knee.

Grand Jury Frees Pretty British War Bride In Slaying Of Husband

CRESTVIEW, Fla., Aug. 28—(AP)—Mrs. Margaret Irene Poland, British war bride, was freed today of charges in the fatal shooting of her American soldier husband and immediately began planning court action if necessary to regain custody of their 16-month-old son.

"Maybe I'll be able to get my baby back now," were the first words of the 21-year-old native of the Isle of Man after she had been told by a court attache the Okaloosa Grand Jury had declined to indict her for the death of her husband, Staff Sgt. Graydon Poland, on July 24.

She had claimed she shot Poland after he started suit for divorce, sent their baby to his relatives in Tompkinsville, Ky., and threatened her life.

The grand jury's report of "no true bill" came unexpectedly as soon as Circuit Judge D. Stuart Gillis opened court today.

The 18-man jury had spent all day yesterday examining witnesses in the case, including C. T. Poland, father of Sgt. Poland.

Mrs. Poland said she wanted to talk to her father-in-law immediately about having her baby returned to her. However, he was not seen in the courtroom and could not be located in Crestview today for a statement.

Soon after the grand jury gave its report, Mrs. Poland returned to Fort Walton where well-wishers had contributed to a fund for her defense. She also received contributions from England.

It was at Fort Walton that Mrs. Poland shot her husband after a quarrel in front of the restaurant where she worked as a waitress. He was a cook stationed at the Army's Elgin Field a few miles away.

Recalling the shooting, she said her husband drove up in front of the cafe and gave her a letter from his sister "about the baby." An argument followed and she went back into the restuarant and got a pistol. She didn't remember much about what happened after that, Mrs. Poland said, but she was sorry she had shot him.

TWINS SEND FAMILY'S TOTAL TO 18 AND ADD TO HOUSING PROBLEM

NORTH ADAMS, Mass., Aug. 28 (AP)—Mr. and Mrs. Edward J. Lescarbeau's private housing problem wasn't eased any today by the arrival of twins, for that made 16 children in their six-room tenement.

Harold and Howard, who joined the Lescarbeau family last night, were the second pair of twin boys in the couple's 18 years of married life. The other pair—Louis and Leon—arrived six years ago.

Lescarbeau, 42-year-old carpenter, and his wife, 38, list their offspring's ages as 17, 16, 15, 14, 13, 11, 10, 9, 7, twins 6, 4, 3 and 2. Mrs. Lescarbeau comes from a family of 12 children and her husband was one of 19.

him repeatedly on the head, then left him lying on the rug, bleeding.

For four hours she wandered through the house, tidying it up. Once she stopped to feel the body. It was cold. She went back to the tool chest, this time for a saw.

Gruesome Tools

Then she wrapped the pieces into several bundles with a covering of sheeting and pages from a Polish newspaper.

She stacked the bundles up neatly, then peered outside to see if darkness had settled over the working class neighborhood of small homes, flat buildings and factories.

At 9 o'clock she took one of the bundles and walked a mile to the north branch of the Chicago River and tossed it in. Back and forth over the mile she went with her gruesome loads. On one of the trips she tossed the hacksaw into a patch of weeds.

On the night before the killing, she and her husband visited a neighborhood saloon. She took only four beers but he drank heavily. At about 10 o'clock she left and did not see him until he burst into her bedroom the next afternoon saying, "I've a good mind to tear you apart."

Norwegian Plane Disaster Kills 35

OSLO, Norway, Aug. 28. (AP)—Thirty-five persons, including an American woman, were killed today when a Norwegian Airlines Sandringham flying boat crashed against a mountainside in Northern Norway.

The crash occurred during fog and rain near Loedingen on Lofoten Island above the Arctic Circle. The plane was en route from Tromsoe to Stavanger.

The victims included 27 passengers and eight crew members. Among them was a Mrs. Jess (further identification not available), an American, who had been visiting in Borkenes near Harstad, in Northern Norway; Jan Reinis and Tatjana Selingerova, both Czech journalists, and G. Heine, a Dane. The others were Norwegians.

The craft's chief pilot was Capt. Buer, a well-known Norwegian flyer. Jarle Ebbesen, the airline's chief inspector, also was a victim.

The plane, named the Kvitbjoern (White Bear) was believed to have been flying at between 900 and 1,000 feet altitude. Persons living nearby said they heard a terrific explosion.

Remnants of the plane are in rugged terrain, making the salvage work difficult.

"To think that we must reach for the sword, however, every time we are in disagreement with the policies of another country is to deny that we have either the will or the intelligence to work for peace."

However, National Commander Paul H. Griffith, in presenting the report of his year in office to the convention, sounded an alarm against what he termed "the conspiracy of the Kremlin looking toward world conquest in the guise of Communism."

"To my mind," he said, "there is no useful purpose to be served in any Legionnaire, these days, quibbling or dodging the issue that the prime menace to world peace rests with the machinations of Moscow."

Bridegroom Kills Wife And Father, Takes Own Life

Another Body Found Near Shooting Scene

SHELBYVILLE, Ill., Aug. 28 (AP)—A frustrated bridegroom whose 16-year-old wife was planning to divorce him shot and killed his bride, his father and himself last night and wounded his mother and 12-year-old brother-in-law.

As police investigated the triple deaths, resulting from a shooting rampage in a roller skating rink and a farm house, the body of a roller rink employe — the throat slashed and a hole in the head—was found in a park near the rink, and officers attempted to learn if that killing was linked with last night's slayings and suicide.

Invaded Private Party

Dead were Mrs. Jacqueline Helton, 16; her husband, Donald Helton, 22; Helton's father, Earl, about 60, a farmer, and William Mogg, 33, a part time roller rink employe. Police could establish no connection immediately between Mogg's death and those of the Helton family, but Sheriff Cecil Clausen said he believed the shootings and Mogg's death occurred at about the same time.

New Zealand Scoffs At Link With U. S.

AUCKLAND, New Zealand — (AP)—A New Zealander, back from a visit to the United States, told a reporter he was amazed that Americans were seriously discussing the possibility of British dominions in the Pacific seeking incorporation in the United States.

R. F. Gambrill, governor-elect of the 52nd district of Rotary International, said the subject was discussed everywhere "not merely as a remote possibility, but as something regarded as the logical outcome of the war."

"They find it hard to believe that what we in New Zealand can get out of the British Commonwealth connection can possibly measure up to to material benefits of similarly close association with their powerful nation," Gambrill said. "In particular they discount heavily the intangible links which, at a time when the homeland is faced by a hard struggle, seem to have gained strength."

Building Bee Builds A Church

HOWLAND, Me. — (AP) — Cooperation built a church for St. Leo's Roman Catholic parish in this little Maine town.

Companies with timberland holdings donated stumpage rights for cutting of logs for 80,000 board feet of lumber. Men of the parish felled the trees during the fall and last spring hauled them to a lumber mill where another parishioner sawed them.

Parishioners working in odd hours laid the foundation and set the frame. Then in a big one-day building bee, they were joined by men in nearby towns to give the project its big push towards completion.

'Iron Bullocks' Plow India's Farms

NEW YORK — (AP) — American "iron bullocks" are replacing age-old hand tillage on India's small farms, says M. G. Mehta of Bombay, in New York on an annual business visit.

Mehta, who has been selling farm equipment in India for 30 years, says the farmers are rapidly awakening to the advantages of machinery.

Dilstributor for Graham-Paige Motors Corp, of York, Pa., Mehta said American machines are doing much to revolutionize farming in India.

"Small farmers are abandoning their traditional bullock and plow through cooperative action," he said. "Unable to afford to buy an 'iron bullock' they rent the machine from local dealers."

New Zealand Scoffs At Link With U. S.

AUCKLAND, New Zealand — (AP)—A New Zealander, back from a visit to the United States, told a reporter he was amazed that Americans were seriously discussing the possibility of British dominions in the Pacific seeking incorporation in the United States.

R. F. Gambrill, governor-elect of the 52nd district of Rotary International, said the subject was discussed everywhere "not merely as a remote possibility, but as something regarded as the logical outcome of the war."

"They find it hard to believe that what we in New Zealand can get out of the British Commonwealth connection can possibly measure up to to material benefits of similarly close association with their powerful nation," Gambrill said. "In particular they discount heavily the intangible links which, at a time when the homeland is faced by a hard struggle, seem to have gained strength."

Building Bee Builds A Church

HOWLAND, Me. — (AP) — Cooperation built a church for St. Leo's Roman Catholic parish in this little Maine town.

Companies with timberland holdings donated stumpage rights for cutting of logs for 80,000 board feet of lumber. Men of the parish felled the trees during the fall and last spring hauled them to a lumber mill where another parishioner sawed them.

Parishioners working in odd hours laid the foundation and set the frame. Then in a big one-day building bee, they were joined by men in nearby towns to give the project its big push towards completion.

'Iron Bullocks' Plow India's Farms

NEW YORK — (AP) — American "iron bullocks" are replacing age-old hand tillage on India's small farms, says M. G. Mehta of Bombay in New York on an annual business visit.

Mehta, who has been selling farm equipment in India for 30 years, says the farmers are rapidly awakening to the advantages of machinery.

Dilstributor for Graham-Paige Motors Corp. of York, Pa., Mehta said American machines are doing much to revolutionize farming in India.

"Small farmers are abandoning their traditional bullock and plow through cooperative action," he said. "Unable to afford to buy an 'iron bullock' they rent the machine from local dealers."

Approximately 40 per cent of all hunting accidents are caused by hunters shooting themselves.

MANY NEVER SUSPECT CAUSE OF BACKACHES

This Old Treatment Often Brings Happy Relief

Many sufferers relieve nagging backache quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking the excess acids and waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, a stimulant diuretic, used successfully by millions for over 50 years. Doan's give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

Advice To The Lovelorn

Miss Fairfax Discusses Troubling Problem Of Different Faiths

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

Famous Authority on Problems of Love and Marriage

There isn't a bit of use in reminding ourselves that if we could all exercise a little tolerance with each other as individuals, it's quite likely that the resulting state of good will in communities everywhere would go far toward improving relationships between the nations.

For the fact is that individuals in general are not tolerant toward each other, and our lot in everyday life is to meet wisely specific problems of this type as they arise in our own experience, not to dream about the larger aspects of the problem about which we can do nothing. As the poet Browning put it, our job is:

"Not to fancy what were fair in life,
Provided it could be, but finding first,
What may be, then find how to make it fair,
Up to our means—a very different thing."

To make things fair "up to our means" is only another way of saying that all we can do about the injustices, the differences of opinion, the sorrows and the heartbreaks that exist in the world is to try to deal, as understandingly and sympathetically and helpfully as we can, with the instances of these things that come our way.

All of us have opportunities to do this, almost every day of our lives. But it's the opportunities that parents have along these lines that I want to talk about just now, using as my point of departure the problem described in the following letter:

"Dear Miss Fairfax:"

"I am 17 years of age, and my boy friend is 19. We have been going together for over a year now, and we love each other very much. We used to live in the same town, but now we are not so fortunate, so we write to each other.

My parents disapprove of him, and the main reason is that he's of a different nationality and faith from mine. We have always got along together on practically everything, though. We have no intention of getting married now, but my mother continually tells me not to write to him and to break up with him now.

"I feel there is no harm in loving someone, even though he is not of my faith. I think I'm doing right in writing to him, as I love him and plan to marry him some day. What do you think?"

Now why can't these parents have the wisdom and understanding to realize that the wider horizon their children have, the more friendships they can make with those of different ways of thinking and doing from their own, just that much better will they be prepared to get on successfully in the world? To deliberately try to put binders on their children's eyes so they will not see anything except those people and those things within their immediate enviroment; to try to confine their minds within the narrow limits of a single set of ideas; to act in such a way to rob their sons and daughters of the freedom to develop into the finest men and women of which they are capable, to cheat them of the opportunity to become at home in the world of which they are a part, and in which they might learn to lend a helping hand.

Certainly this girl should be permitted to write to this boy. To forbid it is not only to take away from these two young people their right to a broadening friendship but it might well set the stage for them to carry on a piece of deception and continue their acquaintance despite the parental prohibition, which would be too bad.

The matter of marriage between them is another question, and one which involves a great deal more than I have space to go into. But it is something which can well wait. A 17-year-old girl and a 19-year-old boy are both too young to be discussing marriage seriously, and evidently these two are aware of that fact and mean to do nothing foolish. It may well be that time may solve their problem, since nothing is so impermanent as the plans of very young people for their future. If it doesn't, and their friendship lasts through the years until they are of proper marrying age, they may then have grown into a mutual understanding which will go a long way toward showing them what their next steps should be.

WORN OUT FROM GETTING UP NIGHTS?

● If you get up nights—have frequent desire to pass your water—yes, and have backache, due to excess acidity in the urine, be glad you're reading this:

Three generations ago Dr. Kilmer, a famous doctor, found hundreds of his patients with this trouble. So he made a medicine of 16 herbs, roots, vegetables, balsams. He called it "Swamp-Root." Millions of men and women have taken it—often with amazing results.

Swamp-Root goes right to work to flush out kidneys : : : increases flow of urine, helping relieve excess acidity : : : so the irritated bladder gets a good flushing out, too. Many report getting a good night's sleep after the first few doses. Caution: take as directed.

For free trial supply, send to Dept. F, Kilmer & Co., Inc., Box 1255, Stamford, Conn. Or—get full-sized bottle of Swamp-Root today at your druggists.

Four Long Shots Win Races On Eagles' Day

AMAZING RECORD—One of the great thoroughbred records of all time is being written in the racing books by Bewitch, Calumet Farm's sterling fill, undefeated in her career. After running in the $25,000 Prairie State Stakes at Washington Park, Bewitch was to be shipped east for big stake races there.

Frostburg Ties 'Coney In Race For 4th Place

Beats Mt. Savage 12-0, Blair Whiffs Eleven

FROSTBURG, Aug. 28—Bobby "Coco" Blair tossed a four-hitter and fired the third strike past eleven batsmen today as the Frostburg Veterans of Foreign Wars defeated Mt. Savage, 12 to 0, and tied Lonaconing for fourth place in the hot race for a playoff spot in the Bi-State Baseball League.

Lonaconing and Frostburg have records of 17 wins and 16 losses. The setback eliminated Mt. Savage from the battle for fourth place. It was the 19th defeat for Mt. Savage against 15 wins.

Frostburg belted Joe Delaney, hometown boy, out of the box in the first inning and continued its attack on Ralph Dickle, relief pitcher, the pair having yielded 17 hits.

Manager "Buc" Winfield had a perfect day at the plate, connecting for four two-baggers, whiles Hoffman banged out a triple, double and single. Joe Langan, Frostburg's hard-hitting catcher, connected twice in today's game and ran his hitting streak to 27 consecutive games. He larruped a triple and double. LaRue walloped a pair of doubles. Charley "Snow" Walters, Mt. Savage first sacker, obtained two of the four hits yielded by Blair.

Frostburg's hit collection included ten doubles and three triples.

Frank Urbas' bare-handed catch of Blank's pop fly with the bases loaded and two out in the fourth inning was the best fielding play.

U. S. Meets Aussies In 5-Match Classic

By GAYLE TALBOT

NEW YORK, Aug. 28 (AP) — The American and Australian Davis Cup teams put in their last serious practice licks on the stadium court at Forest Hills today in preparation for the five-match international tennis classic to be waged Saturday, Sunday and Monday.

First the two American singles stars, Jack Kramer and Ted Schroeder, and then the Aussie duo of Jack Bromwich and Dinny Pails took over the damp turf inside the big horseshoe and spent an hour apiece tuning up their games for the decisive test.

Tomorrow at 1 p. m. (EDT) the members of the two squads, together with a rare collection of tennis brass, will gather in the clubhouse and make the official draw to see who plays whom in the opening single matches on Saturday.

The Australians, still smarting somewhat from the 5-0 hiding they received last Christmas week in Melbourne, hope that the first match pits their veteran cup star, Bromwich, against Schroeder, just as it did in Melbourne. On that occasion Schroeder pulled a thrilling five-set victory by relentlessly attacking at the net.

"Somehow, I don't quite believe that Schroeder can beat Jack again," said Roy Cowling. "After all, he just barely did it the last time, and his volleying game that day was terrific."

Schroeder did not look too keen today. Kramer handled him so easily for four or five games that Ted gave it up in disgust.

SYCKES EXTENDED TO DEFEAT BROWN IN NET TOURNEY

Harold Brown extended Lua Syckes, the winner of the city men's singles recently, to three sets in the county tournament yesterday on the Garlitz courts, winning the first set at 8-6, but Syckes took the next two sets, 6-2, 6-2.

Yesterday at the Dingle Mrs. Ralph Higgins eliminated Mary Louise Buzzell, 6-1, 6-3.

Alvarez Stops Bucca

BROOKLYN, N. Y., Aug. 28 (AP)—Roman Alvarez, 138½, New York, knocked out Santa Bucca, 136, Philadelphia, at 1:03 of the seventh round of a scheduled ten-round main event at Fort Hamilton tonight. Bucca had been down twice in the sixth, and Referee Jack Appel halted the proceedings in the next frame to save the Philadelphian further punishment.

Mize Wallops 44th Home Run As Giants Win

New Yorkers Jolt St. Louis, 6 To 5

NEW YORK, Aug. 28 (AP)—Big Johnny Mize of the New York Giants took another large forward stride in his quest of a new Major League home run record today as he hammered his 44th of the year while the New York Giants were slapping down the faltering St. Louis Cardinals, 6-5.

The loss—the Cards' second in a row to New York and third in succession—dropped the Redbirds seven full games behind the pace-setting Brooklyn Dodgers in the National League race, as the Brooks clipped the Chicago Cubs 6-2.

Mize's circuit smash came in the first inning with two runners aboard. He parked it in the upper right field stands. It put him five games and five days up on Babe Ruth's 1927 schedule when the Babe set the record of 60. Box:

DODGERS TOP CUBS

BROOKLYN, Aug. 28 — (AP) — Brooklyn's Dodgers made a big step forward in their drive for the National League pennant today by defeating the Chicago Cubs, 6 to 2, as the runner-up St. Louis Cardinals dropped seven games behind by losing to the New York Giants, 6 to 5.

The Dodgers have 27 games left to play, the Cardinals 29.

Johnny Jorgensen, rookie third-baseman who has been on the bench for a week, returned to the Dodger lineup and belted Cub pitching for a double and a single that drove in four of the runs and spoiled Chicago Manager Charley Grimm's 49th birthday.

He hit a triple and home run, the latter breaking a 3-3 tie. Poat, who came up with the Cleveland Indians this season, won 12 and lost 7 for the Baltimore club.

Westvaco Beats Legion Club 5-1 In Series Final

Inskeep Hurls 5-Hit Game And Fans Seven

WESTERNPORT, Aug. 28 — Joe Inskeep, the ex-GI from Barton, turned in a five-hit pitching performance today as the Westvaco Club of the Bi-State Baseball League, won the final game of its second annual series with Fort Cumberland Post No. 13, Cumberland, of the Interstate League, today at Memorial Park. The score was 5-1.

It was the second win for Westvaco over the Legion nine this season. One game ended in a 1-1 deadlock. Last season Westvaco annexed two out of three games from Manager Art Garbark's tossers.

The Papermakers actually won today's game in the second inning when they scored their first two runs. Manager Frank Sullivan hit safely, Marsh sacrificed, Yewcic was safe when Cox bobbled his grounder and when Fahey fumbled the ball in the outfield, Sullivan scored the initial run of the game. Tysinger singled and High hit to drive home Yewcic.

Westvaco made it 3-0 in the third when Geatz passed Inskeep with the bases loaded. Robertson's hit, Marsh's base on balls and Yewcic was hit by pitcher to fill the bases.

Cumberland scored its lone tally in the 4th when Powers hit safely and galloped to third when High fielded Bracey's bounder and threw wildly to first. Eddie Diehl singled home the tally.

In the sixth the home team scored its last two runs. Tysinger and High walked and the former scored on Pattison's single. After running to third on the hit, High scored after Robertson's flied to left field.

The best fielding play was contributed by Tommy Powers who speared a line drive down the third base line from Robertson's bat.

Norman Geatz yielded all of the Westvaco runs and was charged with the defeat. Jack Kauffman twirled the last two innings. Inskeep fanned seven batsmen. High and Tysinger shared four of the winning team's eight hits. Box:

Blind Named Starter

BALTIMORE, Aug. 28 (AP) — The new head starter at Laurel and Pimlico race track is Blind.

Blind in name, that is. The Maryland Jockey Club announced today Edward Rudolf Blind will take up the starting duties at Laurel Oct. 1.

Beantown Outfit Gathers 22 Hits

DETROIT, Aug. 28 (AP)—The Boston Red Sox took a game-and-one-half grip on second place in the American League by pounding the Detroit Tigers 13 to 3 today as Shortstop Johnny Pesky led a 22-hit attack by driving in five runs with four hits.

Edgar Smith, making his first start since moving to Boston from the Chicago White Sox, gained credit for the victory, a three-hitter, but had to have help from Johnny Murphy, who pitched hitless ball for the last four innings.

Everybody in the Boston lineup had at least one hit off the delivery of four Detroit pitchers and only Smith and First Baseman Murrell Jones failed to get two. Box:

Concord And Legion Play 7-7 Draw; Four Games On Tap Today

Concord Clothiers and Fort Cumberland Post, American Legion, battled eight innings to a 7-7 draw in a City Softball League game yesterday at Community Park. Darkness brought a halt to hostilities in the top of the ninth.

Each team collected nine hits.

Wheeler and Cleggett got two hits each for the Clothiers, one of the latter's being a circuit wallop. Basilio and Morrissey each hit safely twice for the Legion and C. Crabtree swatted a four-bagger. Lucas featured afield by making several nice catches in center field.

Four games are on tap today. North End plays Astor Cab on Rolling Mill field, the Legion is host to Lacy's at Community Park, Reed's Electricians battle Concord Clothiers at Campobello and the Maccabees and V. F. W. will hook up at East Side. The Amvets will take a game via the forfeit route from Virginia Avenue which withdrew from the league. Score:

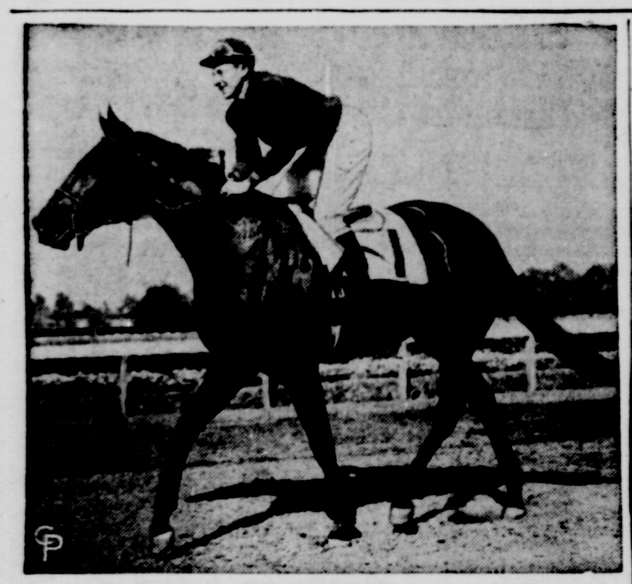
Four Long Shots Win Races On Eagles' Day



AMAZING RECORD—One of the great thoroughbred records of all time is being written in the racing books by Bewitch, Calumet Farm's sterling fill, undefeated in her career. After running in the $25,000 Prairie State Stakes at Washington Park, Bewitch was to be shipped east for big stake races there.

Frostburg Ties 'Coney In Race For 4th Place

Beats Mt. Savage 12-0, Blair Whiffs Eleven

FROSTBURG, Aug. 28—Bobby "Coco" Blair tossed a four-hitter and fired the third strike past eleven batsmen today as the Frostburg Veterans of Foreign Wars defeated Mt. Savage, 12 to 0, and tied Lonaconing for fourth place in the hot race for a playoff spot in the Bi-State Baseball League.

Lonaconing and Frostburg have records of 17 wins and 16 losses. The setback eliminated Mt. Savage from the battle for fourth place. It was the 19th defeat for Mt. Savage against 15 wins.

Frostburg belted Joe Delaney, hometown boy, out of the box in the first inning and continued its attack on Ralph Dickle, relief pitcher, the pair having yielded 17 hits.

Manager "Buc" Winfield had a perfect day at the plate, connecting for four two-baggers, whiles Hoffman banged out a triple, double and single. Joe Langan, Frostburg's hard-hitting catcher, connected twice in today's game and ran his hitting streak to 27 consecutive games. He larruped a triple and double. LaRue walloped a pair of doubles. Charley "Snow" Walters, Mt. Savage first sacker, obtained two of the four hits yielded by Blair.

Frostburg's hit collection included ten doubles and three triples.

Frank Urbas' bare-handed catch of Blank's pop fly with the bases loaded and two out in the fourth inning was the best fielding play.

Davis Cup Play Starts Saturday

U. S. Meets Aussies In 5-Match Classic

By GAYLE TALBOT

NEW YORK, Aug. 28 (AP) — The American and Australian Davis Cup teams put in their last serious practice licks on the stadium court at Forest Hills today in preparation for the five-match international tennis classic to be waged Saturday, Sunday and Monday.

First the two American singles stars, Jack Kramer and Ted Schroeder, and then the Aussie duo of Jack Bromwich and Dinny Pails took over the damp turf inside the big horseshoe and spent an hour apiece tuning up their games for the decisive test.

Tomorrow at 1 p. m. (EDT) the members of the two squads, together with a rare collection of tennis brass, will gather in the clubhouse and make the official draw to see who plays whom in the opening single matches on Saturday.

The Australians, still smarting somewhat from the 5-0 hiding they received last Christmas week in Melbourne, hope that the first match pits their veteran cup star, Bromwich, against Schroeder, just as it did in Melbourne. On that occasion Schroeder pulled a thrilling five-set victory by relentlessly attacking at the net.

"Somehow, I don't quite believe that Schroeder can beat Jack again," said Roy Cowling. "After all, he just barely did it the last time, and his volleying game that day was terrific."

Schroeder did not look too keen today. Kramer handled him so easily for four or five games that Ted gave it up in disgust.

SYCKES EXTENDED TO DEFEAT BROWN IN NET TOURNEY

Harold Brown extended Lua Syckes, the winner of the city men's singles recently, to three sets in the county tournament yesterday on the Garlitz courts, winning the first set at 8-6, but Syckes took the next two sets, 6-2, 6-2.

Yesterday at the Dingle Mrs. Ralph Higgins eliminated Mary Louise Buzzell, 6-1, 6-3.

Alvarez Stops Bucca

BROOKLYN, N. Y., Aug. 28 (AP)—Roman Alvarez, 138½, New York, knocked out Santa Bucca, 136, Philadelphia, at 1:03 of the seventh round of a scheduled ten-round main event at Fort Hamilton tonight. Bucca had been down twice in the sixth, and Referee Jack Appel halted the proceedings in the next frame to save the Philadelphian further punishment.

Mize Wallops 44th Home Run As Giants Win

New Yorkers Jolt St. Louis, 6 To 5

NEW YORK, Aug. 28 (AP)—Big Johnny Mize of the New York Giants took another large forward stride in his quest of a new Major League home run record today as he hammered his 44th of the year while the New York Giants were slapping down the faltering St. Louis Cardinals, 6-5.

The loss—the Cards' second in a row to New York and third in succession—dropped the Redbirds seven full games behind the pace-setting Brooklyn Dodgers in the National League race, as the Brooks clipped the Chicago Cubs 6-2.

Mize's circuit smash came in the first inning with two runners aboard. He parked it in the upper right field stands. It put him five games and five days up on Babe Ruth's 1927 schedule when the Babe set the record of 60. Box:

DODGERS TOP CUBS

BROOKLYN, Aug. 28 — (AP) — Brooklyn's Dodgers made a big step forward in their drive for the National League pennant today by defeating the Chicago Cubs, 6 to 2, as the runner-up St. Louis Cardinals dropped seven games behind by losing to the New York Giants, 6 to 5.

The Dodgers have 27 games left to play, the Cardinals 29.

Johnny Jorgensen, rookie third-baseman who has been on the bench for a week, returned to the Dodger lineup and belted Cub pitching for a double and a single that drove in four of the runs and spoiled Chicago Manager Charley Grimm's 49th birthday.

He hit a triple and home run, the latter breaking a 3-3 tie. Poat, who came up with the Cleveland Indians this season, won 12 and lost 7 for the Baltimore club.

Westvaco Beats Legion Club 5-1 In Series Final

Inskeep Hurls 5-Hit Game And Fans Seven

WESTERNPORT, Aug. 28 — Joe Inskeep, the ex-GI from Barton, turned in a five-hit pitching performance today as the Westvaco Club of the Bi-State Baseball League, won the final game of its second annual series with Fort Cumberland Post No. 13, Cumberland, of the Interstate League, today at Memorial Park. The score was 5-1.

It was the second win for Westvaco over the Legion nine this season. One game ended in a 1-1 deadlock. Last season Westvaco annexed two out of three games from Manager Art Garbark's tossers.

The Papermakers actually won today's game in the second inning when they scored their first two runs. Manager Frank Sullivan hit safely, Marsh sacrificed, Yewcic was safe when Cox bobbled his grounder and when Fahey fumbled the ball in the outfield, Sullivan scored the initial run of the game. Tysinger singled and High hit to drive home Yewcic.

Westvaco made it 3-0 in the third when Geatz passed Inskeep with the bases loaded. Robertson's hit, Marsh's base on balls and Yewcic was hit by pitcher to fill the bases.

Cumberland scored its lone tally in the 4th when Powers hit safely and galloped to third when High fielded Bracey's bounder and threw wildly to first. Eddie Diehl singled home the tally.

In the sixth the home team scored its last two runs. Tysinger and High walked and the former scored on Pattison's single. After running to third on the hit, High scored after Robertson's flied to left field.

The best fielding play was contributed by Tommy Powers who speared a line drive down the third base line from Robertson's bat.

Norman Geatz yielded all of the Westvaco runs and was charged with the defeat. Jack Kauffman twirled the last two innings. Inskeep fanned seven batsmen. High and Tysinger shared four of the winning team's eight hits. Box:

Blind Named Starter

BALTIMORE, Aug. 28 (AP) — The new head starter at Laurel and Pimlico race track is Blind.

Blind in name, that is. The Maryland Jockey Club announced today Edward Rudolf Blind will take up the starting duties at Laurel Oct. 1.

Beantown Outfit Gathers 22 Hits

DETROIT, Aug. 28 (AP)—The Boston Red Sox took a game-and-one-half grip on second place in the American League by pounding the Detroit Tigers 13 to 3 today as Shortstop Johnny Pesky led a 22-hit attack by driving in five runs with four hits.

Edgar Smith, making his first start since moving to Boston from the Chicago White Sox, gained credit for the victory, a three-hitter, but had to have help from Johnny Murphy, who pitched hitless ball for the last four innings.

Everybody in the Boston lineup had at least one hit off the delivery of four Detroit pitchers and only Smith and First Baseman Murrell Jones failed to get two. Box:

Concord And Legion Play 7-7 Draw; Four Games On Tap Today

Concord Clothiers and Fort Cumberland Post, American Legion, battled eight innings to a 7-7 draw in a City Softball League game yesterday at Community Park. Darkness brought a halt to hostilities in the top of the ninth.

Each team collected nine hits.

Wheeler and Cleggett got two hits each for the Clothiers, one of the latter's being a circuit wallop. Basilio and Morrissey each hit safely twice for the Legion and C. Crabtree swatted a four-bagger. Lucas featured afield by making several nice catches in center field.

Four games are on tap today. North End plays Astor Cab on Rolling Mill field, the Legion is host to Lacy's at Community Park, Reed's Electricians battle Concord Clothiers at Campobello and the Maccabees and V. F. W. will hook up at East Side. The Amvets will take a game via the forfeit route from Virginia Avenue which withdrew from the league. Score:

HBPA Suspends Members For Ignoring Boycott

The Horsemen's Benevolent and Protective Association, an influential organization of owners and trainers, yesterday suspended a number of its members who ran horses at the Hagerstown half-mile track after it called a boycott two weeks ago.

H. B. Ferguson, secretary of the association, said eight or nine members were suspended, but he would not list them until after the action has been ratified by three-fourths of the board of directors.

The HBPA had demanded an increase in purses at Hagerstown, where most races were worth only $800 and there were but one or two $1,000 and $1,200 events on the ten-day program.

The track management refused and many of the horsemen declined to enter mounts in the last two days of racing, Aug. 15 and 16. The suspensions first became known when Trainer Gordon Gochnauer said he was one of those voted out at a meeting after yesterday's program at Fairgo track here.

Will Withhold Aid

Ferguson said the members will not refuse to race their horses against the entries of those suspended. He explained the one-year suspensions will mean withholding of financial aid in case of accident or illness and other services the association gives members.

Ferguson said he expected ratification by board members will be completed by the end of the week.

He announced meantime that the HBPA had reached agreement with the management of the half-mile track at Marlboro, Md., on a schedule calling for minimum purses of $1,000, one $1,200 race daily, and two $1,500 events during the ten-day meeting which opens there Sept. 13.

Will Run At Marlboro

The secretary said a canvass of owners and trainers indicates between 600 and 700 horses will go to Marlboro when the Maryland summer half-mile circuit moves there for its final meeting of the year.

Ferguson said the Marlboro management also had provided a number of plant improvements for the benefit of horsemen, particularly in stable and water facilities.

Although the purse schedule adopted at Marlboro has been in effect during the 10-day Fairgo meeting which ends tomorrow, there was some concern here when officials had difficulty filling out the cards for the last two days.

Ferguson attributed this to persistent rain and mud which plagued the meeting. He said trainers just don't enter some horses when the going is heavy. The hard work of training and running in the mud has kept other entries out of the races.

WINS GRAND — Back to his fishing goes Hugh Crossen, 41-year-old Gardiner, Mont., sporting goods dealer and new Grand American Handicap trapshooting champion. Crossen won his clay targets crown at the 48th annual shoot at Vandalia, Ohio, by smashing 99 out of 100 targets from 22 yards. A total of 1,830 gunners participated in last week's event.

Steelers And Packers Meet In Charity Game

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 28 (AP)—The Pittsburgh Steelers and the Green Bay Packers clash here tomorrow night in a National Football League preview for charity and the edification of some 30,000 fans anxious to learn what the Steelers will do for a sparkplug without Bill Dudley, star halfback who has been traded to Detroit.

The game under the Forbes Field lights is an exhibition sponsored by the Dapper Dan Club, a Pittsburgh charitable organization. Coach Sutherland cautiously has predicted an even better team without Dudley—and he's not given to loose talk.

Jock feels his attack will be better balanced and more of a threat with several backs doing the running, passing and kicking instead of one man wrapping nearly all the chores, as Dudley did.

Manchester Wins, 3-2

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 28 (AP) — Manchester, N. H., Sweeney Post rallied for three runs in the eighth inning today to defeat San Diego Post 3-2, in the opening game of the American Legion National Junior Baseball Tournament.

Robinson To Fight Sebastian Tonight

NEW YORK, Aug. 28 (AP)—World Welterweight Champion Ray Robinson and Flash Sebastian, billed as the champion of the Orient, meet tomorrow night in a 10-round non-title bout at Madison Square Garden headlining a boxing show to which only American Legion members can get tickets.

Sebastian, rated as a powerful puncher, boxed frequently in Honolulu, on Saipan and on other Pacific islands when in the army during the war, and not long ago an unsuccessful effort was made to match him with Robinson for a title bout in Manila.

Maryland Grid Team Will Fly To Games

COLLEGE PARK, Md., Aug. 28—(AP)—University of Maryland's football team will take to the air this year, and the Terps don't mean it all will be done by passing, either. The squad will fly to all out-of-town games.

Director of Athletics Walter S. Driskill said Maryland would fly to Pittsburgh for the Duquesne game; to Nashville, Tenn., for Vanderbilt; Durham, N. C., for Duke; Blacksburg, Va., for VPI; and Columbia, S. C., for South Carolina.

The Terrapins expect about 75 candidates out for initial practice Sept. 1. This leaves four weeks to prepare for the opener against South Carolina Sept. 27.

American Football League Will Have Seven Teams

NEW YORK, Aug. 28 — (AP) — Although the American Football League will operate with but seven clubs this year, the circuit again will be divided into two sections with the two champions to meet in a playoff game on Dec. 7, President Joe Rosentover said today.

Wilkes-Barre and Bethlehem, both in Pennsylvania, and Wilmington, Del., will form the western half. Paterson, Jersey City and Newark-Bloomfield, all in New Jersey, and Valley Stream, N. Y., comprise the eastern half. Akron, Ohio, winner of the western title last year, has dropped out of the circuit.

Food

Let's Eat Outdoors On Labor Day

By CHARLOTTE ADAMS
Associated Press Food Editor

Labor Day is near enough to the end of picnic season to make you want to be sure to plan to have a picnic. Most fun of all—and you can continue these on through the fall, if you love them as much as I do—is an outdoor cooking picnic.

You need only have one hot dish, if you like, but that seems foolish if you have a beautiful bed of red hot coals all prepared, so think beyond the usual steak, hamburgers or hot dogs to other accompaniments you can provide.

Let's guess you're at the seashore, for instance. If you're not, just wait a minute and we'll suggested something for inlanders. At the shore, how about making clam chowder at a beach picnic? Get the clams on the way to the picnic.

Clam Chowder

2 quarts clams	1 pint milk
4 large potatoes, cubed	1 large onion
½ pound salt pork, cubed	¾ teaspoon salt
3 tablespoons flour	½ teaspoon black pepper
¾ teaspoon thyme	1 pint cream

Put the clams on to steam in water which barely covers them. When they open partially strain the broth through a cheese cloth (unless you don't mind a bit of sand with your soup). Chop the clams fine. Brown the salt pork and onion together. Smooth in the flour. Put the broth saved from the clams into the pan and bring just to the boil, but do not boil. Strain into pan with onions and pork and add milk, potatoes and seasoning. Simmer until potatoes are tender. Add clams and bring chowder to the boil again. Add cream and push to the back of the fire until just well warmed through.

Whether you're on the seaboard or inland you can have fresh corn at your picnics. There's more than one way to cook it over such a fire.

Roast Corn

Take a big pail along and fill it with seawater or fresh water. Dip the ears of corn in this long enough to get the husks good and wet. Now lay the corn on the coals. Turn it frequently, so that the husks don't burn too much and so that it cooks evenly all around (you'd better have some asbestos gloves). You can tell whether it's done by stripping a bit of husk down. Have a small pan along in which you can melt butter and, for convenience, add the salt and pepper to it.

Roasting Frankfurters

Though this isn't hard, too many people get into great difficulties doing it! You must have proper utensils. Double pronged forks made of iron are the best yet. There are holders which can do three "franks" at once, but since they aren't speared in any way one or more are frequently lost in the fire. The taste of wood smoke in your food is fine, but ashes aren't so good! Remember one thing especially about roasting frankfurters. It pays to take longer and have them perfect.

County Teams Will Judge At Timonium

Two judging teams and one demonstration team from Allegany County will compete against teams from other counties in the state on Labor Day at the Timonium State Fair, according to Joseph M. Steger, assistant county farm agent.

Members of the dairy judging team, which will judge Guernsey, Jersey, Ayrshire and Holstein classes, are Robert Miller, Midland; Dale Harvey, Frostburg; Fred Miltenberger and Harry Johnson, both of Cumberland.

The livestock judging team is composed of Perry Shryock, Oldtown; Charles Rexroad, Flintstone; Robert Heavener, Flintstone, and Murray Hardinger, Union Grove.

Heavener and James Greise will participate in a dairy demonstration contest in the 4-H demonstration event at Timonium.

Inez de Castro was crowned six years after her death. Don Pedro, son of Alfonso IV of Portugal, privately married, in 1345, the "beauty of Castile." Alfonso was so angry he commanded her to be put to death, in 1355. Two years later Don Pedro succeeded to the crown and in 1361 had Inez exhumed and crowned.

Dr. C. A. Schutz, Frostburg Native, Dies In Bethesda

Was Noted Children's Disease Specialist

By RUDOLPH NICKEL

FROSTBURG, Aug. 28—Word has been received here of the death of Dr. Charles A. Schutz, 57, 7002 Arlington Road, Bethesda, Md., Aug. 17, at Doctors' Hospital, after a brief illness. A funeral service was held August 19, in Fort Myer Chapel, Arlington, Va., at 10 a. m., and burial was in Arlington National cemetery.

A specialist in children's diseases, Dr. Schutz had practiced in Washington since 1929. A native of Frostburg and a son of the late John and Mary Jane Schutz, he took his pre-medical work at George Washington University and was graduated from Washington University Medical School, St. Louis, Mo. After completing interne work he returned to Washington.

He was a graduate of Beall High School, Frostburg, and for a time was employed in the law office of the late Judge A. A. Doub and the late Taylor Smith in Cumberland. He served overseas during World War I, as an ordnance officer.

Dr. Schutz was a member of the Medical Society of the District of Columbia and for many years was clinical professor of pediatrics at George Washington Medical School. He was a member of the Research Clinic at Children's Hospital, Washington, and at the time of his death was a member and secretary of the senior staff.

He is survived by his widow, Helen H. Schutz; two stepdaughters, Jane and Ann Swanger, Washington, and a sister, Virginia Schutz Kerr, Frostburg.

Crash Driver Fined

In a hearing held before Magistrate James Kenny, Frostburg, last night, Howard Bittner, Grant Street, Frostburg, was found guilty of reckless driving and was fined $5 and costs.

Bittner was arrested after the car he was driving crashed into a C. and W. bus operated by William Eberly at the intersection of Grant and Main Streets Monday.

Bittner, in the testimony, was said to have driven through a red light. The driver of the bus had a reckless driving charge dismissed.

The machine driven by Bittner and owned by Thomas Elkins, Mill Street, Frostburg, was almost completely demolished. A front tire of the bus was damaged in the collision.

Sports Club To Hold Picnic

The recently organized Allegany Sports Club, with George Shriver, Borden, as president, and Harold Miller, Zihlman, as secretary, will hold an old fashioned basket picnic Labor Day at the Zihlman Baseball Park. The proceeds of the affair will be used to provide funds for the club treasury.

Barton Girl Scouts Will Honor Parents

By DAVID E. KIRK

BARTON, Aug. 28—Barton Lone Troop No. 1, Girl Scouts of America, will honor their parents tomorrow evening with a covered dish supper to be served in the social hall of the Presbyterian Church at 6 o'clock.

Committee women will also be the guests of the evening and a special program will follow the supper. Mrs. Inez Andrews, scout leader, is in charge assisted by Mrs. Jeanette Wright, assistant leader.

Veterans' Parade Scheduled

The carnival being sponsored this week by members of Ladies Auxiliary to the Barton Hose Co. No. 1 will continue throughout the week with a veterans' parade scheduled for tomorrow at 7:30 p. m.

A number of drum corps have stated that they would attend along with other veteran organizations. Last night Firemen's Night was held with visiting firemen and the Lonaconing City Band taking part.

Barton Hose Co. No. 1 will meet in their armory Tuesday at 7:30 p. m. instead of Monday, the regular meeting night, Henry Howell, president, announced. The change was made due to the Labor Day holiday. The company will take part in a parade at Meyersdale, Pa., Wednesday, September 3.

Meyersdale Man Held On A. W. O. L. Count For Army

By W. A. SHOEMAKER

MEYERSDALE, Pa., Aug. 28—Bruce W. Beal, son of Walter Beal, 407 North Street, was arrested yesterday and lodged in the borough jail and was charged with being absent without leave from the United States Army. Pvt. Beal left Fort Jackson, Miss., June 7. Military Police arrived here today and will return him to the southern camp.

Chief of Police James A. Brocht, of the local police force, arrested Pvt. Beal and turned him over to the Military Police.

Farm Women To Aid Fund

The Societies of Farm Women of Somerset County, in response to an appeal for more funds for the completion of the Meyersdale Community Hospital, have decided to set up a booth at the Somerset County Fair. The group will sell refreshments and the proceeds will be donated to the hospital fund. Mrs. Lloyd Engle, Mrs. Orpha Meyers, Miss Mary Hay and Mrs. William Ebaugh compose the committee in charge.

Personals

Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Schwarner, former residents of Meyersdale, left yesterday for their home in Connecticut after spending several weeks with friends.

Teachers Meeting Scheduled Today In Hardy County

By KATHERINE FISHER

MOOREFIELD, W. Va., Aug. 28—David Kirby, dean of Concord State Teachers College, Concord, W. Va., will address Hardy County school teachers at the county meeting to be held at Moorefield High School tomorrow morning.

County School Superintendent R. S. Dispanet announced that registration will be from 9:30 until 10 a. m. in charge of Mrs. Fannie T. Didawick, followed by group singing led by Mrs. Alberta Calhoun and devotionals by Rev. J. E. McDonald and Ira Combs. Dean Kirby's address will follow at 10:20. At 11 Miss Ruth Kessell, County Health Nurse, will present plans for the health program. Superintendent Dispanet will make announcements and tell of the objectives and plans for the coming school year at 11:20.

The County Education Association will hold a business session at 1:15 p. m. presided over by John A. Mathias, president. The high school principals and faculty will meet at 2:15 while Assistant County Superintendent John T. St. Clair reviews the Elementary Supervisory Program with the grade school teachers. At 3 p. m. Mrs. Fannie T. Didawick, supervisor of the Hot Lunch Program, will have charge of the nutrition program. At 3:15 Mrs. Alberta Calhoun will review the Elementary School Music Program and at 3:15 the meeting will adjourn.

Students Requested to Enroll

Dispanet requests that every boy and girl of school age enroll on the first day of school, Tuesday, September 2, in order that classes may be set up properly, bus schedules arranged and the general routine of the school programs set up. Dispanet pointed out that all children who will be six years of age before February 1 may be permitted to enroll next week and that all children between the ages of seven and 16 are required to attend school. Questions of excusing children from school may be taken discussed with teachers or principals or with Attendance Director P. O. Miller. All schools operating last year will be in session again this year at the beginning of the term with the exception of Banner School which has been combined with Luxemburg School.

Bus routes will remain essentially the same as last year. Plans are being made to use an additional bus for the Frosty Hollow, Kessel and Walnut Bottom route. Slight changes have been made to Camp Branch and Vaughn routes as announced to the patrons. The Markwood bus will run the same route and in addition transport children to Luxemburg from the Banner and Long Lick communities.

New teacher appointments by the Board of Education as announced by Superintendant Dispanet include Mary Bryant, commerce, at Mathias High School. Mrs. Wilma Sagers at Lost City, advanced, and Mrs. Chloe Moyers at Wilkins School.

Dr. C. A. Schutz, Frostburg Native, Dies In Bethesda

Was Noted Children's Disease Specialist

By RUDOLPH NICKEL

FROSTBURG, Aug. 28—Word has been received here of the death of Dr. Charles A. Schutz, 57, 7002 Arlington Road, Bethesda, Md., Aug. 17, at Doctors' Hospital, after a brief illness. A funeral service was held August 19, in Fort Myer Chapel, Arlington, Va., at 10 a. m., and burial was in Arlington National cemetery.

A specialist in children's diseases, Dr. Schutz had practiced in Washington since 1929. A native of Frostburg and a son of the late John and Mary Jane Schutz, he took his pre-medical work at George Washington University and was graduated from Washington University Medical School, St. Louis, Mo. After completing interne work he returned to Washington.

He was a graduate of Beall High School, Frostburg, and for a time was employed in the law office of the late Judge A. A. Doub and the late Taylor Smith in Cumberland. He served overseas during World War I, as an ordnance officer.

Dr. Schutz was a member of the Medical Society of the District of Columbia and for many years was clinical professor of pediatrics at George Washington Medical School. He was a member of the Research Clinic at Children's Hospital, Washington, and at the time of his death was a member and secretary of the senior staff.

He is survived by his widow, Helen H. Schutz; two stepdaughters, Jane and Ann Swanger, Washington, and a sister, Virginia Schutz Kerr, Frostburg.

Crash Driver Fined

In a hearing held before Magistrate James Kenny, Frostburg, last night, Howard Bittner, Grant Street, Frostburg, was found guilty of reckless driving and was fined $5 and costs.

Bittner was arrested after the car he was driving crashed into a C. and W. bus operated by William Eberly at the intersection of Grant and Main Streets Monday.

Bittner, in the testimony, was said to have driven through a red light. The driver of the bus had a reckless driving charge dismissed.

The machine driven by Bittner and owned by Thomas Elkins, Mill Street, Frostburg, was almost completely demolished. A front tire of the bus was damaged in the collision.

Sports Club To Hold Picnic

The recently organized Allegany Sports Club, with George Shriver, Borden, as president, and Harold Miller, Zihlman, as secretary, will hold an old fashioned basket picnic Labor Day at the Zihlman Baseball Park. The proceeds of the affair will be used to provide funds for the club treasury.

Five All-American Roses For 1948, Survivors Of Two-Year Tests, Named

Four Of Prize Winners Are Hybrid Tea Roses

Five new roses, survivors of two-year exhaustive tests in official trial gardens throughout the country, have been named "All-America Roses for 1948."

The accolade of the National Rose Jury, announced today, was bestowed upon the new varieties of roses after each had been scored by rose experts as a nearly perfect plant.

The awards are made annually to new roses which display the best qualities of the flower and have the proven ability to thrive in any section of the country.

The fifth, Pinkie, light rose-pink, is classified as a floribunda rose.

A sixth rose, High Noon, yellow in color, was awarded a sectional title designating it as a plant adaptable only to the more temperate climates of the Southern and Pacific states.

Test-grown for two years in 18 trial gardens located throughout the country, the roses were judged on each of 12 qualities peculiar to the ideal rose.

Scoring System Used

The scoring system used by judges places most emphasis on a plant's vigor, floriferousness (quantity and size of blooms and ability to continue flowering throughout the season), foliage and bud form.

Also judged are fragrance, disease resistance, color, habit, substance, flower form and length and strength of stems.

Flowers of the Diamond Jubilee grow to five and six inches, are double and high centered. They are slow in opening but last well on the bush and when cut.

The buff-orange color of Diamond Jubilee darkens in cool weather. A touch of orange-yellow at the base of the petals gives the blossoms a sparkle.

Petals are shapely, heavy-textured and do not fade or burn as they open, but rather intensify in color.

The Nocturne rose has long, streamlined buds. Its color is Cardinal Red with dark, deep shadings of Chrysanthemum Crimson.

Its large petals have good substance, are richly textured and plentiful so that the flower lasts a long time.

Nocturne grows quickly into a big, sturdy bush. Its stems are long and its foliage large, abundant and semi-glossy.

A magnificent 30-petaled rose of glowing currant red, the San Fernando has a very pronounced fragrance which stays with the bloom until the last petal drops.

Buds are pointed, well-formed, borne on straight, stiff stems and change to a bright scarlet as they open.

Rich Carmine-Rose

The predominant color of the Taffeta rose is a rich carmine-rose in the bud, changing to Begonia Rose in the open flower. However, it is a changeable flower and displays dozens of color combinations throughout the season. At various times it may be described as rose-pink, salmon or apricot.

Taffeta is outstanding in its ability to produce many long-stemmed, perfectly formed, fragrant buds. Its medium-to-large buds open to semi-double flowers of about 21 petals. Its petals are frilled and delicately veined. Their reverse side shows considerable yellow. This flower also carries a pronounced fragrance.

The only rose in the floribunda class is Pinkie, a small rose entirely different from any other rose variety now in existence.

Its dainty pink bud is long, slender and perfect in every detail. Its flower, fully opened, is about two inches across. The variety flowers almost continuously from early spring until late fall. The blooms in each cluster keep opening over a period of several days.

Each Bud An Individual Stem

Each bud grows on an individual stem long enough to cut for vase or corsage. The free-blooming habit, the abundant glossy foliage and the tendency of the old flower petals to drop off cleanly adapts Pinkie for use as a border or dwarf hedge plant.

Severe cold will injure High Noon and for that reason its award was restricted to a sectional title . . . (Pacific Coast, Southern and South Atlantic States). A pillar rose, it is unlike most climbers in that it continues to bloom throughout the growing season.

The bushy, many-stemmed plant reaches a height of about eight feet. It requires a post, pillar, wall or fence for support to best display its beauty.

The medium-sized buds of High Noon are a brilliant shade of clear shining yellow, a color which rose breeders for many years have attempted to secure in a well-formed flower.

Selection of the five All-America Roses for 1948 brings the number of varieties holding that title to 24.

First awards of this nature were made in 1940.

Each year rose breeders are invited to submit their best new varieties for two-year trials under the auspices of the National Rose Jury.

Each entrant variety is grown and studied in All-America Rose Selections test gardens located throughout the country.

Scores compiled by rose experts are averaged. Only those plants which receive nearly perfect scores are chosen for a place on the national rose honor roll.

$25,000 Damages Asked In Crash West Of Oldtown

Suit for damages of $25,000 was filed in Circuit Court yesterday by Foster L. Shipley against Ralph D. Wilson as a result of a highway accident west of Oldtown July 29 in which the plaintiff lost his right arm.

Shipley's attorney, Thomas Lohr Richards, said the former was a passenger in the automobile of Jonah Hose the night the accident occurred. It was alleged that Wilson's truck was parked without lights partly on the dirt shoulder, extending four feet into the concrete highway, partly blocking it.

As the Hose vehicle approached, a car from the opposite direction momentarily blinded the driver and as a result he crashed against the rear of the truck, according to the declaration filed in the case.

Attorneys W. Earle Cobey and William Carscaden filed a suit in the name of the State of Maryland for the use of Margaret Flora Grant against the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Company for $10,000 damages.

The declaration says a B. and O. train failed to give warning as it approached the Seibert crossing August 29, 1946, and in addition exceeded the speed limit. Emma E. W. Flora was struck by the train and subsequently died of injuries, according to the bill, which adds that the plaintiff was partly dependent upon the deceased.

In a third suit, filed against William Durst by Arthur L. Sheetz, a minor, by Edgar S. Sheetz, his father and next friend, damages of $3,000 is asked.

Morgan C. Harris, attorney for the plaintiff, filed a declaration asserting that on August 12 an automobile driven by the defendant was out of control on Glenwood Street as a result of negligent driving and struck the plaintiff, causing painful and serious injury.

Young Adults Sponsor Evening Vesper Service

The Young Adults of the Cumberdand Sub-district of the Methodist churches held a rally recently at Meadowbrook, with a picnic supper opening the program.

After the rereation period at 7:30 a vesper service which was a representation of the teachings of Christ from a boat, was presented.

Two hymns were sung by Miss Lois Stein and Mrs. Dorothy Chastain read the scripture. The prayer was led by Mrs. Helen Purinton.

The speaker was Rev. Charles E. Shaw, pastor of Park Place Methodist Church, who used as his theme "Following Christ." At the conclusion of the message, each person placed a lighted taper on the stream, allowing it to drift downstream.

The committee in charge was Walter Maxey, Miss Alma Logsdon, Donald Holtzman, Miss Dortha Copeland, Mrs. Sadie Triplett, Miss Clara Boettner, Leroy Lewis, Mrs. Ethel Zimmerman, and Miss Martha Meek.

Among the guests were Mrs. Helen Purinton, Mahoney City, Pa., former director of the Cumberland Sub-district; and Mrs. Virginia Paune Neel, a Methodist missionary to Brazil.

Hazelwood Low Bidder On School Work

Bids for improving Fort Hill stadium and finishing a room at West Side School were received yesterday by the Allegany County Board of Education, but the reception of bids for an addition to LaVale School was postponed until September 11.

The Fort Hill stadium work calls for the installation of a heating system and showers and other improvements under the concrete bleachers so that local as well as visiting football teams will be better quartered.

The George F. Hazelwood Company bid $9,343, and the John I. Vandergrift Company submitted a price of $9,850.

Charles L. Kopp, superintendent, said a contract would not be awarded until all members of the board are acquainted with the figures. He expressed the hope that the work will be completed within 45 days. Much of the work deals with plumbing and progress will largely depend on the ability to secure materials.

Hazelwood bid $4,360 for fininshing a room at West Side while Vandergrift bid $5,215. The LaVale bids are being held up to enable contractors to secure prices on materials.

School Opening Is Set For Thursday

Allegany County High and Elementary schools will open Thursday for the 1947-48 season, according to Charles L. Kopp, superintendent, despite reports that polio cases are greater than at any time since 1933.

Five cases of infantile paralysis resulting in two deaths have been reported in the county so far this year.

In Wilmington, Del., school opening has been postponed 13 days because of the disease. Kopp, in announcing the opening of school, said the Board of Education will follow what ever suggestions are made by the Health Department.

The department has given no indication of delaying the opening of school to date.

Calf "Scramble" May Aid County 4-H Boy

Calf "Scrambles" at Timonium State Fair next Wednesday and Thursday nights will give William Heavener, Union Grove 4-H member, a chance to bring home a 300 to 400 pound Angus purebred steer, according to Joseph L. Steger, assistant county farm agent.

Future Farmers of America and 4-H members are eligible for the contest which is staged like this:

Ten purebred calves are freed in a field and 20 boys are "turned loose" with them. A boy who manages to get a halter on one of the calves and lead it away owns the animal.

Heavener is the only entrant from Allegany County.

Four Of Prize Winners Are Hybrid Tea Roses

Five new roses, survivors of two-year exhaustive tests in official trial gardens throughout the country, have been named "All-America Roses for 1948."

The accolade of the National Rose Jury, announced today, was bestowed upon the new varieties of roses after each had been scored by rose experts as a nearly perfect plant.

The awards are made annually to new roses which display the best qualities of the flower and have the proven ability to thrive in any section of the country.

The fifth, Pinkie, light rose-pink, is classified as a floribunda rose.

A sixth rose, High Noon, yellow in color, was awarded a sectional title designating it as a plant adaptable only to the more temperate climates of the Southern and Pacific states.

Test-grown for two years in 18 trial gardens located throughout the country, the roses were judged on each of 12 qualities peculiar to the ideal rose.

Scoring System Used

The scoring system used by judges places most emphasis on a plant's vigor, floriferousness (quantity and size of blooms and ability to continue flowering throughout the season), foliage and bud form.

Also judged are fragrance, disease resistance, color, habit, substance, flower form and length and strength of stems.

Flowers of the Diamond Jubilee grow to five and six inches, are double and high centered. They are slow in opening but last well on the bush and when cut.

The buff-orange color of Diamond Jubilee darkens in cool weather. A touch of orange-yellow at the base of the petals gives the blossoms a sparkle.

Petals are shapely, heavy-textured and do not fade or burn as they open, but rather intensify in color.

Its large petals have good substance, are richly textured and plentiful so that the flower lasts a long time.

Nocturne grows quickly into a big, sturdy bush. Its stems are long and its foliage large, abundant and semi-glossy.

A magnificent 30-petaled rose of glowing currant red, the San Fernando has a very pronounced fragrance which stays with the bloom until the last petal drops.

Buds are pointed, well-formed, borne on straight, stiff stems and change to a bright scarlet as they open.

Rich Carmine-Rose

The predominant color of the Taffeta rose is a rich carmine-rose in the bud, changing to Begonia Rose in the open flower. However, it is a changeable flower and displays dozens of color combinations throughout the season. At various times it may be described as rose-pink, salmon or apricot.

Taffeta is outstanding in its ability to produce many long-stemmed, perfectly formed, fragrant buds. Its medium-to-large buds open to semi-double flowers of about 21 petals. Its petals are frilled and delicately veined. Their reverse side shows considerable yellow. This flower also carries a pronounced fragrance.

Its dainty pink bud is long, slender and perfect in every detail. Its flower, fully opened, is about two inches across. The variety flowers almost continuously from early spring until late fall. The blooms in each cluster keep opening over a period of several days.

Each Bud An Individual Stem

Each bud grows on an individual stem long enough to cut for vase or corsage. The free-blooming habit, the abundant glossy foliage and the tendency of the old flower petals to drop off cleanly adapts Pinkie for use as a border or dwarf hedge plant.

Severe cold will injure High Noon and for that reason its award was restricted to a sectional title . . . (Pacific Coast, Southern and South Atlantic States). A pillar rose, it is unlike most climbers in that it continues to bloom throughout the growing season.

The bushy, many-stemmed plant reaches a height of about eight feet. It requires a post, pillar, wall or fence for support to best display its beauty.

The medium-sized buds of High Noon are a brilliant shade of clear shining yellow, a color which rose breeders for many years have attempted to secure in a well-formed flower.

Selection of the five All-America Roses for 1948 brings the number of varieties holding that title to 24.

First awards of this nature were made in 1940.

Each year rose breeders are invited to submit their best new varieties for two-year trials under the auspices of the National Rose Jury.

Each entrant variety is grown and studied in All-America Rose Selections test gardens located throughout the country.

$25,000 Damages Asked In Crash West Of Oldtown

Suit for damages of $25,000 was filed in Circuit Court yesterday by Foster L. Shipley against Ralph D. Wilson as a result of a highway accident west of Oldtown July 29 in which the plaintiff lost his right arm.

Shipley's attorney, Thomas Lohr Richards, said the former was a passenger in the automobile of Jonah Hose the night the accident occurred. It was alleged that Wilson's truck was parked without lights partly on the dirt shoulder, extending four feet into the concrete highway, partly blocking it.

As the Hose vehicle approached, a car from the opposite direction momentarily blinded the driver and as a result he crashed against the rear of the truck, according to the declaration filed in the case.

Attorneys W. Earle Cobey and William Carscaden filed a suit in the name of the State of Maryland for the use of Margaret Flora Grant against the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Company for $10,000 damages.

The declaration says a B. and O. train failed to give warning as it approached the Seibert crossing August 29, 1946, and in addition exceeded the speed limit. Emma E. W. Flora was struck by the train and subsequently died of injuries, according to the bill, which adds that the plaintiff was partly dependent upon the deceased.

In a third suit, filed against William Durst by Arthur L. Sheetz, a minor, by Edgar S. Sheetz, his father and next friend, damages of $3,000 is asked.

Morgan C. Harris, attorney for the plaintiff, filed a declaration asserting that on August 12 an automobile driven by the defendant was out of control on Glenwood Street as a result of negligent driving and struck the plaintiff, causing painful and serious injury.

Young Adults Sponsor Evening Vesper Service

The Young Adults of the Cumberland Sub-district of the Methodist churches held a rally recently at Meadowbrook, with a picnic supper opening the program.

After the rereation period at 7:30 a vesper service which was a representation of the teachings of Christ from a boat, was presented.

Two hymns were sung by Miss Lois Stein and Mrs. Dorothy Chastain read the scripture. The prayer was led by Mrs. Helen Purinton.

The speaker was Rev. Charles E. Shaw, pastor of Park Place Methodist Church, who used as his theme "Following Christ." At the conclusion of the message, each person placed a lighted taper on the stream, allowing it to drift downstream.

The committee in charge was Walter Maxey, Miss Alma Logsdon, Donald Holtzman, Miss Dortha Copeland, Mrs. Sadie Triplett, Miss Clara Boettner, Leroy Lewis, Mrs. Ethel Zimmerman, and Miss Martha Meek.

Among the guests were Mrs. Helen Purinton, Mahoney City, Pa., former director of the Cumberland Sub-district; and Mrs. Virginia Paune Neel, a Methodist missionary to Brazil.

Hazelwood Low Bidder On School Work

Bids for improving Fort Hill stadium and finishing a room at West Side School were received yesterday by the Allegany County Board of Education, but the reception of bids for an addition to LaVale School was postponed until September 11.

The Fort Hill stadium work calls for the installation of a heating system and showers and other improvements under the concrete bleachers so that local as well as visiting football teams will be better quartered.

The George F. Hazelwood Company bid $9,343, and the John I. Vandergrift Company submitted a price of $9,850.

Charles L. Kopp, superintendent, said a contract would not be awarded until all members of the board are acquainted with the figures. He expressed the hope that the work will be completed within 45 days. Much of the work deals with plumbing and progress will largely depend on the ability to secure materials.

Hazelwood bid $4,360 for fininshing a room at West Side while Vandergrift bid $5,215. The LaVale bids are being held up to enable contractors to secure prices on materials.

School Opening Is Set For Thursday

Allegany County High and Elementary schools will open Thursday for the 1947-48 season, according to Charles L. Kopp, superintendent, despite reports that polio cases are greater than at any time since 1933.

Five cases of infantile paralysis resulting in two deaths have been reported in the county so far this year.

In Wilmington, Del., school opening has been postponed 13 days because of the disease. Kopp, in announcing the opening of school, said the Board of Education will follow what ever suggestions are made by the Health Department.

The department has given no indication of delaying the opening of school to date.

Calf "Scramble" May Aid County 4-H Boy

Calf "Scrambles" at Timonium State Fair next Wednesday and Thursday nights will give William Heavener, Union Grove 4-H member, a chance to bring home a 300 to 400 pound Angus purebred steer, according to Joseph L. Steger, assistant county farm agent.

Future Farmers of America and 4-H members are eligible for the contest which is staged like this:

Ten purebred calves are freed in a field and 20 boys are "turned loose" with them. A boy who manages to get a halter on one of the calves and lead it away owns the animal.

Heavener is the only entrant from Allegany County.

Evelyn G. Kamauf Becomes Bride Of William Campbell

By MRS. FRANK BLAIR

MIDLAND, Aug. 28 — Mr. and Mrs. William Kamauf, National, announce the marriage of their daughter, Evelyn Grace, to William Edwin Campbell, Midland, son of John J. Campbell and the late Cora A. Campbell.

The double ring ceremony was performed Saturday morning at 8 a. m. in the St. Joseph's Church rectory by Rev. John H. Reily.

Preceding the ceremony members of the bridal party attended 7 o'clock mass. Mrs. Bernard O'Brien, sister of the bridegroom, sang "Ave Marie," "Panis Angelicus" and "Ave Sanctissma." She was accompanied by Sister Antoinette.

Miss Eileen Campbell was maid of honor and Mrs. Payne Cutter and Mrs. Patrick Stakem, Jr., were bridesmaids. William Hughes served as best man with Patrick Stakem, Jr. and James Landefeld as ushers.

The bride wore a gown of white satin and net, with a finger tip veil and carried a bouquet of gladioli and asters. The maid of honor wore a blue lace and net dress and carried an oldfashioned bouquet. The bridesmaids were attired in pink gowns.

After the ceremony a breakfast was served at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bryan Johnson, Frostburg.

The bride is a graduate of Beall High School, class of 1947.

Mr. Campbell is a graduate of LaSalle High School, Cumberland, class of 1944. He served two years in the Army Air Force.

Mr. and Mrs. Campbell left for a trip to eastern cities. For traveling the bride wore a blue suit with matching accessories and a corsage of red rosebuds.

Among those attending the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. George Hynes, and Mr. and Mrs. Clair Brown, Belle Vernon, Pa.; Richard Lewis, Washington, Pa.; Mrs. Mollie Scott, Baltimore; Mr. anud Mrs. Al Schriver, Washington; Mr. and Mrs. Stanton Melvin, Mt. Oh, Fireman Save My Horse!

BREMEN—(AP)—German firemen have to be mighty handy.

Love Loses Top Rank In Berlin's Suicides

BERLIN—(AP)—Love troubles, formerly the No. 1 motive for suicide among Berliners, has declined to fifth place—well behind sickness, despair and "social need" (including hunger) — according to German police records.

More than two years after the end of the war the suicide rate still runs abnormally high for Berlin's 3,000,000 civilian population.

For a recent four weeks-period the total was 148—76 men and 72 women. Where the motive was known, sickness was blamed in 29 cases, despair in 18 and a "social need" in 14. Broken marriages were blamed for 10.

Changes have also developed in suicide methods. In 55 of the 148 cases gas was the choice, and nobody used a gun. (Germans are now forbidden to own firearms.) Hanging held second place—the choice of 26 men and 18 women.

The world's largest orchard, in the Soviet Kuban Steppe, covers 20 square miles and has its own airport. Planes loaded with fruit leave daily for various Russian cities during the harvesting season.

In London in 1857 the first alpine club was formed. Mountain climbing generally is dated from the ascent of Mont Blanc in 1786.

Oh, Fireman Save My Horse!

BREMEN—(AP)—German firemen have to be mighty handy.

Love Loses Top Rank In Berlin's Suicides

BERLIN—(AP)—Love troubles, formerly the No. 1 motive for suicide among Berliners, has declined to fifth place—well behind sickness, despair and "social need" (including hunger) — according to German police records.

More than two years after the end of the war the suicide rate still runs abnormally high for Berlin's 3,000,000 civilian population.

For a recent four weeks-period the total was 148—76 men and 72 women. Where the motive was known, sickness was blamed in 29 cases, despair in 18 and a "social need" in 14. Broken marriages were blamed for 10.

Changes have also developed in suicide methods. In 55 of the 148 cases gas was the choice, and nobody used a gun. (Germans are now forbidden to own firearms.) Hanging held second place—the choice of 26 men and 18 women.

The world's largest orchard, in the Soviet Kuban Steppe, covers 20 square miles and has its own airport. Planes loaded with fruit leave daily for various Russian cities during the harvesting season.

In London in 1857 the first alpine club was formed. Mountain climbing generally is dated from the ascent of Mont Blanc in 1786.

KEEPING UP WITH

HOLLYWOOD

By LOUELLA PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 28 — June Haver, who has been trying to work out her matrimonial problems with Jimmy Zito, has very good news awaiting her about her career. She is being loaned by her boss, Darryl Zanuck, to Jack Warner for "The Life of Marilyn Miller."

Louella Parsons

June did so well in "I Wonder Who's Kissing Her Now," and danced several excellent routines. The Miller picture has been postponed probably more than any other picture, but I understand it will get going very soon, and the little blonde Haver girl, who started her career as a singer with an orchestra, will concentrate on dancing for the next few months.

I must add that this has not been verified, but I got it, as we say, straight from the horse's mouth

Today Betty Hutton had a meeting with her bosses to discuss the rewritten "Sainted Sisters." Mary McCall had been called in to doctor up the script, which originally Betty didn't like, and Henry Ginsberg agreed with her that it should have more comedy.

Now it's in good shape and will get going the last of September with George Marshall directing. Betty needs rip-roaring comedy, the shouting kind. That's how she made her fame, and that's what she should play. Leave the gentle sweet souls to some of the other gals who haven't her personality.

It's almost impossible to talk to Betty about her job or anything else these days. All she has on her mind is the wonder of that wonder child of hers.

John Charles Thomas is lending an attentive ear to the persuasive voice of Leo McCarey and will sign a contract any edition to play the role of the minister in "Good Sam."

Leo can get almost anyone he wants, because he makes pictures of distinction. So John Charles, who has been extremely reticent about signing any contracts in the past, has indicated that this time he will put his name on the dotted line.

He sings in the pictuer, natch—that's one reason he is interested. Then, too, he is in good company with Gary Cooper and Ann Sheridan.

Happiness has done for Hedy Lamarr what a psychiatrist and the advice of friends failed to do. During the time she was miserable, refusing to go anywhere and insisting that her place was with her children, I was frankly worried about the lovely Hedy.

Now she is radiant. She has some stunning new clothes and is no longer a recluse. Whether her romance with Mark Stevens is serious, who can say. Hedy is a changeable soul, but for the moment, he seems to have succeeded in getting her out of her doldrums.

Chatter in Hollywood: How cozy can you get? Lois Andrews and her husband, Steve Brody, leave Thursday by special plane for the State Fair at Sacramento, where they will make a personal appearance at the fair's opening. And guess who their fellow travelers will be among the celebrities making the trip on the same plane? None other than George Jessel and Dave Street, both ex-husbands of Lois!

I'm happy to hear Audie Murphy, who was the most decorated hero of World War II, finally will be seen on the screen by all of us who admire him so much. He has been borrowed from James Cagney, for an important part in Alan Ladd's picture, "The Long Grey Line." Five other muchly decorated war heroes also have been signed with Murphy.

The boys are being coached in academy etiquette by a West Point graduate, and have had their hair close cropped West Point fashion. They will leave in a few days for the Point, where the movie will be filmed. And by the way, Murphy, who was decorated 17 times, is very much interested in Wanda Hendrix, a Paramount starlet.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random: True Davis, who was once devoted to Phyllis Brooks, is now courting Betty Hensel.

Jeanne Cagney's husband, Kim Spaulding, a very good New York acter, is here and is being tested by several studios.

Sylvan Simon has bought "The Pretty Girl" from Harry Cohn. Harry originally bought it for Ann Miller, but now that she's at M-G-M, Simon will probably sell it to them.

Now it's the college gang with Steve Cochran. He beaued Barbara Hoffchild, blonde UCLA coed to King's.

At a sneak preview of "Memory Of Love," I hear Eugene Ormandy brought Lauritz Melchior and his wife. After it was over, Melchior walked up to Ormondy and said "may I have your autograph?" At the same preview, Mrs. N. Peter Rathvon brought Mrs. Julius Rosenwald of Chicago and Mrs. Joseph Levy, who was chairman of the Margaret Truman Committee. The music in "Memory Of Love" is out of this world, accordinfg to those who have seen the picture.

I wonder why Jeanne Crain brought her lion back to her home? She told me just before the baby was born that she and Paul Brinkman had moved the animal to a zoo. Imagine looking out in your backyard and seeing a huge lioness frolicking about. No wonder the neighbors said, "take it away!"

Mrs. Charles Koerner and Richard Power, a young RKO actor who was discovered by her late husband, Charles Koerner, were together at the Scandia Cafe.

Ruth Hussey has authorized an article in Parents Magazine for October, telling how to combine career aud motherhood. Well she's doing it successfully with her two sons.

Here a laugh. Marvin Miller, my radio announcer, named "Mr. Menace of 1947" by a fan club in New York after his villainy in "Dead Reckoning," has just recorded a children's album called "Horton Hatches The Egg."

That's all today.

RADIO IN REVIEW

By JOHN CROSBY

Bernice Judis is the gingery, outspoken general manager of station WNEW in New York, a vastly successful independent station. She discovered and promoted Martin Block, one of the earliest and most successful of disk jockeys. More importantly, she decided early in her stewardship at WNEW that the function of an independent station was not to imitate the networks but to provide a supplementary service. WNEW specializes in music and news and makes a whale of a lot of money at it. Here Miss Judis expresses her opinions of networks and independents. . . . John Crosby.

By BERNICE JUDIS

An Independent Speaks

Are radio people more interested in Hooperating than in cooperating?

For the past few years, radio stations have been concentrating on dividing up the existing radio audience instead of going out and getting new listeners. The groove has become a rut. The fact is that rarely does radio at any one given time get as much as 50 per cent of the radio homes in this country to tune to its programs.

The reason for all this is that one radio station has become the carbon copy of another. Let's remember that a Van Gogh original might sell for $50,000, but that you can get a reproduction for a few cents. Originality still pays off.

The radio dial around the country lists more than 1,000 radio stations. Some choose affiliation with a network, and tie themselves to mother's apron strings by telephone lines to broadcast programs simultaneously. The other stations are known as independents; they don't have the resources that come from a combination of exchequers, and have made their way in the world fighting the battle of the B's—brains vs. budgets.

Today, statistics demonstrate that more and more, listeners are turning to the independents. (In three different months of this year, the Pulse, a recognized measurement service, showed WNEW second with listeners 8 a. m. to 8 p. m. among all New York stations; WNEW has one-fifth the power of its network station competition.

The independent, by its very nature, has had to become a specialist. We, at our station, have elected popular music — and we've even set the Bill of Rights to music to make our public service fit into the pattern. Another New York Independent specializes in programs for the Italian-speaking audience; another does an over-all job with classical music; the city station concentrates on civic events. It is this specializaton that has earned independents their places on the dial.

As a local station, the independent services the neighborhood community fund appeal, switches a sponsor's advertising from parasols to umbrellas on the threat of rain. We can more easily sense and provide what our audience likes; Coney Island Avenue in Brooklyn vibrates with the same rhythm as Grand Concourse in the Bronx. We care more about Hoboken's favorite conga record than a joke about California smudge-pots.

But today we find the networks poaching on our preserves. For years they've taken our talent, and now they're trying to take our personality. One mighty network recently decided to play the same phonograph records we do over the coast-to-coast telephone lines it maintains at a cost of many thousands of dollars a month. A second network soon followed suit.

There's a job to be done if radio hopes to continue to grow—and the "sets-NOT-in-use" figure demonstrates the size of the job. We think the networks have begun to surrender their leadership. If that really happens—and it's beginning to—the full burden will fall on the independents. Frankly, we don't have the money and resources that the networks do.

Just think back to the early days of radio. Remember the excitement that came from broadcasting for the first time from Europe? From an airplane? Remember the first symphony concert, the first "and now we take you to Hollywood?" All these "firsts" made people go out and buy radio sets, made them listen more hours than they had before. And no independent could have done them.

Who will blaze the new trails? The independents have done their share, and will continue to do so. For example, WNEW pioneered in around-the-clock broadcasting with its "Milkman's Matinee," set the pattern for disk jockeys with its "Make Believe Ballroom," was one of the first to apply successful commercial selling techniques to "sell" public service. Other indies have comparable proud decorations they display on their chests.

Recently one network program gave away $7,440 for the right answer to a question. Remember your excitement when a neighbor won ten bucks because John Kieran couldn't answer his question on "Information Please?" That was in the "old days." Today you get a $500 bond.

Can radio buy a listener's interest? Many have tried and failed.

Airplane manufacturers team up to get more people to use airplanes. Each individual manufacturer knows he'll benefit from an over-all increase. One good new network idea will get more listeners for all stations. Today radio can't see the forest for the trees.

It may seem strange for independents to goad the networks into doing some of the exciting things they used to, but if you keep in mind that we're all a part of radio, you'll realize that all of us will benefit from progress — and that strength carries with it a responsibility to the entire industry.

So please, Mr. Network, be exciting again the way you used to. We'll continue to do our share — but you'll have to pull your oar, too.

Eisenhower Talk To Legionnaires On Network Today

By C. E. BUTTERFIELD

NEW YORK, Aug. 28. — The American Legion convention will be on the air again Friday, including two of the important addresses.

For instance, NBC at 2:30 has listed Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, eliminating two serials to carry his half-hour talk.

An hour later on MBS at 3:30, Lieut. Gen. Carl Spaatz is to be heard in another half-hour talk.

This being "Legion Week" in New York, the boxing event is supposed to be a little more dramatic, when ABC goes on at 10, the ringsters will be Ray Robinson and Flashy Sebastian, fighting a ten-rounder in the welterweight division.

Sen. Jos. C. O'Mahoney of Wyoming and minority member of the Senate Appropriations Committee is to Meet the Press via MBS at 9. The usual panel of four question askers.

Next to come up in the American novels on NBC at 10:30, or least it is so listed, is Part I of "The Hoosier Schoolmaster." This had been listed once before, but was taken off.

Gordon MacRae, who has been filling in until Fannie Brice gets ready to come back to CBS at 7, will wind up a five-week stint in that capacity.

Item No. 3 of the NBC documentary on the world food situation, the Third Horseman at 8, will have Ralph Edwards as a guest. He will ask questions, but this time in a more serious vein. . . The Mystery Theater of NBC at 9 is to try a repeat performance of its script, "Silent as the Grave."

Market Kept Fairly Well Balanced By Timid Demand For Specialties

NEW YORK, Aug. 28 (AP)—Timid demand for special stocks kept the market fairly well balanced today although many leaders wavered and dealings remained on the sluggish side.

Volume was aided by fair-sized blocks of small-priced issues but the ticker tape frequently halted from the opening on. The first hour's aggregate of 93,390 shares was a bottom for this period since April 10, 1945.

Dividends were ignored by most stocks concerned but pleasing payments lifted American Agricultural Chemical 3⅞ to 47⅞, a 1947 peak; Abbott Laboratories two hit 80, Thomas Steel 1¼ at 21¾ and Black and Decker seven-eighths at 30.

Norfolk and Western added 3¼ at 243, Macy 1½ at 36½, Colonial Mills 1½ at 19⅞ (a new year's high) and American Telephone one at 156 Pacific Telephone, a recent weak spot, was up 2½ at 100.

New York and Harlem Railroad common, on its first sale since July 1 was off 12 points. On the second of the day's transactions it finished down 10 to 255.

Losers of a point or so included American Woolen at 40⅞, Youngstown Sheet 67½, Caterpillar Tractor 56, Owens-Illinois 72¾, Philip Morris 28⅞ and J. C. Penny 43½. On the offside were United States Steel, Bethlehem, Chrysler, Goodyear, Montgomery, Ward, Woolworth, Santa Fe, Southern Pacific, Anaconda, American Can and General Electric.

In the Curb, Pepperell pushed up on a good earnings showing. Forward movers were New England Telephone, Elliott Company, Tampa Electric, Colts Manufacturing and Wentworth Manufacturing. Minor recessions were posted for Cities Service, American Gas and Derby Oil. Turnover here was 120,000 shares versus 110,000 yesterday.

A sizable group of rails held the favor of buyers in the bond market value while other groups neglected and shifted aimlessly in a narrow range.

United States governments were without important change in either the outside markets or the stock exchange, but there was an appreciable widening between the final bid and asked prices for some of the medium maturities.

Sales of $2,560,000 compared with $2,680,000 on Wednesday.

records; a chief engineer to supervise water, sewage and drainage operations; and necessary clerical help; and to fix their salaries subject to approval of the County Commissioners.

Excludes Municipalities

The commission would also be authorized to fix water charges and rates as a means of financing operation of the system.

The measure specifically excludes Frostburg, Westernport, Cumberland and other incorporated municipalities in the county from the right of the commission to purchase or condemn existing property or water and sewage systems for the purpose of the sanitary district.

It was explained that in condemnation proceedings, the court would set the value of the property, which would then be paid to the owner by the commission.

The act also provides that all cesspools, sink drains and privies located on properties connected with sewers by the commission would be abandoned, closed and left in sanitary condition.

Any violation of the act would be misdemeanors punishable by fines not exceeding $100, or imprisonment up to 30 days, or both.

A bill to establish sanitary districts in Allegany County, introduced by county delegates at the recent session of the General Assembly, was not passed because of the flood of measures introduced in the closing days of the session.

The delegates are expected to meet within a few days to consider the measure prior to its presentation to the Legislative Council next week. Several have already expressed their support of the bill.

Stone Mason Is Bitten By Snake

By MARIE MERRBACH

LONACONING, Aug. 28—A Detmold stone mason was bitten on the hand by a copperhead today while gathering rock for a wall he was constructing for William R. Jones, Big Vein Hill.

The man, Charles Poland, was struck by the snake as he picked up the rock. When bitten he dropped the stone and caught the 18-inch reptile while members of the Jones family killed it.

After receiving treatment at a local physician he was sent to his home where he is reported as "doing fine".

First Aid Class Started

George Eppler, an instructor from the Cumberland Chapter of Red Cross, will teach first aid to a group from the Lonaconing Boys' Service Club in the Red Cross Center, Main Street, tomorrow at 7:15 p. m.

The course will continue until October when those who qualify will be presented certificates.

Members enrolled for the instruction are Eldon Nicol, president of the club, Norman Warnick, Harold Doolan, Paul Doolan, Gene Reiber, James Dawson, Robert Moore, Kenneth Donaldson, Edward Getson, Jerry Lancaster, James Powers, Ed Thompson, Robert Scott, Kenneth Jeffries, Harry Bowden, and Paul Nicol.

Johnson Attends Course

Driver Education

Webster, principal, and J. Hubert Radcliffe, instructor; Fort Hill, Victor D. Heisey, principal, George W. Robinson and Alfred W. Fritz, instructors; Beall, Arthur W. Taylor, (the Beall instructor will be Maurice Nelson, who is out of the city); Bruce, John W. Fisher, principal, and John F. Loughlin, instructor; Central, Lewyn C. Davis, principal and instructor; Barton, Alfred H. Benna, principal and instructor; Carver, Earle L. Bracey, principal, and Charles E. Waterman, instructor.

Principals of elementary schools also met at the Board of Education office yesterday morning for the annual fall meeting and discussed new teaching methods along with problems common to the education field.

The meeting, largely an open forum, with the various persons expressing their views on many school problems, was presided over by Miss Ruby M. Adams, director of elementary education.

Health, which was one of the feature topics of the meeting, was termed by many of the principals the most important factor in the welfare of a child and his education.

In discussing the general health problem, Kopp suggested that principals, after conferring with their teachers, adopt a health program and submit it to county school officials so that the whole may be considered in working out answers with health authorities.

The soil is so important to the welfare of America, Mr. Hayne asserted, that if we took away the soil and the people who work it, our cities would not last 30 days and if they did they would not be worth 30 cents. The soil, he declared, gives us two things which we cannot get anywhere else—food and clothing.

One of the reasons there are so many vitamins sold today is because people are trying to find something that will improve their health. The food we eat is deficient in minerals, proteins, and other things so essential to health and life because the soil that produces them is deficient. This is all due to the fact that in the past 100 years very little has been put back into the soil to replace what has been taken out, the speaker explained.

"Many people think it is part of civilization to be ill, to have something the matter with them, but this is not true," Hayne declared. He added that the reason for bad teeth and poor vision, especially among persons in their late 30's, is due to food being deficient because so many substances that are vital to teeth, eyes and other parts of the body have been taken out of the soil.

New Champions

Abbott, Sharpsburg, Md., sixth. Horne and Abbott, like all other owners of participating teams who failed to place in the first four, received $15 to help cover expenses.

Second prize of $35 in the heavy class went to Charles Schaffer, Jr., Hagerstown, with a pull equivalent to 17¼ tons, while Ernest Pearson, Poolesville, Md., with John Fairfax in the driver's seat, finished third and took home $25 prize money.

Glotfelty Finishes Fifth

Earl Barkdoll's team from Hagerstown finished in fourth position and received $20.

Other competitors in the heavy class were Jack Horne, Hedgesville; J. W. Ryle, Somerset, Pa.; Sherman Berkley with Clarence Berkley, driver, Berlin, Pa.; Charles Pearson, Poolesville; Marvin Abbott, Sharpsburg; two other teams entered by Barkdoll; another team entered by Charles Schaffer, Jr.; Robert Crissey, Central City, Pa., with Ray Minear the driver; and S. H. McElfish, Route 3, Bedford, Pa.

Record loads in the state are 3,450 pounds pulled by a heavy team at Timonium State Fair some time ago, and 2,925 pounds pulled by a light team also at Timonium several years back.

Immunizations To Be Given Students In Tucker County

By HELEN COLLETT

PARSONS, W. Va., Aug. 28—Reardon Cuppett, county superintendent of schools, announced that the teachers of the county will be required to attend the teachers meeting to be held Friday, September 12, in the Parsons Grade School building. This is the first time that a teachers meeting will be held after school starts, as it is usually held the Friday prior to the opening date of school.

The students of the county and all first year students will receive their immunization for diphtheria and small pox during the first week of school with dates announced as follows: September 10, at 9 a. m. in Thomas High School for the students of Fairfax district; in Davis High School on September 11, at 9 a. m. for the Dry Fork and Davis district students. Dr. Gregg will be immunizing doctor for those two towns.

Hamrick School will be the center for the students of that vicinity on September 9, at 2 p. m.; Parsons Grade School for Parsons and vicinity at 2 p. m.; St. George School for students of St. George, Licking and Clover district, September 11, at 2 p. m. with Dr. F. K. Lyon, Parsons, as physician assisted by the County Health Nurse Mrs. Christina Meyer, Davis.

The typhoid serum will be given at a later date, the county superintendent said.

The teachers of the county have been invited to participate in the U. S. Forestry Show-Me-Trip of the Monongahela National Forest, Cheat District, to be held on September 5 starting from the Nelle Rest Home. Teachers will travel in private owned cars and furnish their picnic luncheon. The tour will end at the U. S. Forest Nursery in Parsons between 4 and 5 p. m. on that day.

Parsons Reunion Held

The 40th annual re-union of the Parsons family was held at the Bethel Church in Holly Meadows recently. The families voted to continue the annual affair following a discussion of discontinuance of the affair.

Thomas L. Parsons, Clarksburg, was elected the 41st president of the oldest re-union in this county. Other officers were Boyd Parsons, Parsons, vice president; Mrs. Velma Parsons, Clarksburg, secretary-treasurer, and Mrs. C. R. Parsons, Hambleton, historian.

The program following the dinner included the invocation by the Rev. Harold D. Shiflet, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church of Parsons, the Address of Welcome by the president, Alan Parsons; a vocal duet by Miss Sally Ann English and Miss Joanna Blackburn, Parsons, and a reading by Shelia Ann Parsons.

Dr. Dixon Parsons, freshman advisor at West Virginia University, Morgantown, was guest speaker and Mrs. Ray Lipscomb, White Hall, Md., gave the history of the Parsons family during the 1946-47 year.

Among the out-of-town guests were Dr. and Mrs. Dixon Parsons, Morgantown; Mr. and Mrs. Ray Lipscomb, White Hall, Md.; Mrs. James Lanham and daughters, Kent, O.; Mr. and Mrs. William Hahn and Mrs. Emma Robson, Cumberland; Joseph Minear, Adrian, W. Va.; Mr. and Mrs. T. L. Parsons and daughter, Clarksburg; Mrs. Thomas Long and granddaughter, Culver City, Calif., and Mrs. Lena Thayer.

Personals

Mrs. Ella Hoefner, wife of the late Henry Hoefner, pioneer florist of Tucker County, is a patient in the Meyers Clinic in Philippi.

Mrs. Zella Kite was removed to a Parsons hospital where she is seriously ill. She is the mother of Mrs. Charles Mauzey, Parsons, and of Max and Don Kite and Miss Ruth Kite, all of Morgantown.

Ed Long, veteran nurseryman of this county, is now at his home in Parsons after undergoing a major operation in the Meyers Clinic in Philippi recently.

James Goff, well known Parsons resident and the father of D. K. Goff, member of the Tucker County Board of Education, is a patient in an Elkins hospital where he underwent a second major operation within one month's time.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Higgs will accompany Mrs. George Higgs to Pittsburgh where she will fly to Buffalo, N. Y., to visit her son, Dr. Howard Higgs and her daughter, Mrs. Mary Price.

The Arnan Guild of the Parsons Presbyterian Church will meet at the home of Mrs. James English on September 2, with Mrs. A. J. Valentine and Mrs. John Goss as assisting hostesses. The bible leader will be Mrs. Harold D. Shiflet.

Ordinance No. 1824

AN ORDINANCE OF THE MAYOR AND CITY COUNCIL OF CUMBERLAND, MARYLAND, ENTITLED, "AN ORDINANCE PROVIDING FOR NOTICE TO THE OWNERS OF PROPERTY ABUTTING ON CLEMENT STREET FROM ITS INTERSECTION WITH VIRGINIA AVENUE TO ITS INTERSECTION WITH FORD AVENUE, IN THE CITY OF CUMBERLAND, MARYLAND, OF AN ORDINANCE TO PROVIDE FOR THE SEWERING OR OTHERWISE IMPROVING OF SAID STREET."

WHEREAS, on the 8th day of September, 1947, an ordinance for the sewering or otherwise improving said street as set out in the title of this ordinance in the City of Cumberland, Maryland, will be introduced; and

WHEREAS, on that day the passage of said ordinance, in pursuance of the powers granted to the Mayor and City Council of Cumberland by Article 1-A of the Code of Public Local Laws of Maryland pertaining to the Charter of the City of Cumberland, and of its general powers referred to in said Article, will be duly considered by the Mayor and City Council of Cumberland, and all persons to be affected thereby will then and there be duly heard.

NOW, THEREFORE:

SECTION 1. BE IT ORDAINED BY THE MAYOR AND CITY COUNCIL OF CUMBERLAND, That the City Clerk shall at least give ten days' notice by publication, twice in each of two daily newspapers published in the City of Cumberland, that at a meeting of the Mayor and City Council of Cumberland to be held at 10:00 o'clock A. M., on the 8th day of September, 1947, an ordinance will be introduced providing for the sewering or otherwise improving of Clement Street from its intersection with Virginia Avenue to its intersection with Ford Avenue, in the City of Cumberland, Maryland; the same being a public street of said City and not less than one block in length, and ten years have elapsed since the completion of the sewering or otherwise improving of said street, at which said meeting all persons to be affected by said proceedings shall be given an opportunity to be heard for or against the passage of said ordinance.

SECTION 2. AND BE IT FURTHER ORDAINED, That this ordinance will take effect from the date of its passage.

Passed this 25th day of August, 1947.
THOMAS S. POST,
Mayor.

Attest:
S. E. GRIMINGER,
City Clerk.

Market Kept Fairly Well Balanced By Timid Demand For Specialties

NEW YORK, Aug. 28 (AP)—Timid demand for special stocks kept the market fairly well balanced today although many leaders wavered and dealings remained on the sluggish side.

Volume was aided by fair-sized blocks of small-priced issues but the ticker tape frequently halted from the opening on. The first hour's aggregate of 93,390 shares was a bottom for this period since April 10, 1945.

Dividends were ignored by most stocks concerned but pleasing payments lifted American Agricultural Chemical 3⅞ to 47⅞, a 1947 peak; Abbott Laboratories two hit 80, Thomas Steel 1¼ at 21⅜ and Black and Decker seven-eighths at 30.

Norfolk and Western added 3¼ at 243, Macy 1½ at 36½, Colonial Mills 1½ at 19⅞ (a new year's high) and American Telephone one at 156. Pacific Telephone, a recent weak spot, was up 2½ at 100.

New York and Harlem Railroad common, on its first sale since July 1 was off 12 points. On the second of the day's transactions it finished down 10 to 255.

Losers of a point or so included American Woolen at 40⅞, Youngstown Sheet 67½, Caterpillar Tractor 56, Owens-Illinois 72¾, Philip Morris 28⅞ and J. C. Penny 43½. On the offside were United States Steel, Bethlehem, Chrysler, Goodyear, Montgomery, Ward, Woolworth, Santa Fe, Southern Pacific, Anaconda, American Can and General Electric.

In the Curb, Pepperell pushed up on a good earnings showing. Forward movers were New England Telephone, Elliott Company, Tampa Electric, Colts Manufacturing and Wentworth Manufacturing. Minor recessions were posted for Cities Service, American Gas and Derby Oil. Turnover here was 120,000 shares versus 110,000 yesterday.

A sizable group of rails held the favor of buyers in the bond market value while other groups neglected and shifted aimlessly in a narrow range.

United States governments were without important change in either the outside markets or the stock exchange, but there was an appreciable widening between the final bid and asked prices for some of the medium maturities.

Sales of $2,560,000 compared with $2,680,000 on Wednesday.

records; a chief engineer to supervise water, sewage and drainage operations; and necessary clerical help; and to fix their salaries subject to approval of the County Commissioners.

Excludes Municipalities

The commission would also be authorized to fix water charges and rates as a means of financing operation of the system.

The measure specifically excludes Frostburg, Westernport, Cumberland and other incorporated municipalities in the county from the right of the commission to purchase or condemn existing property or water and sewage systems for the purpose of the sanitary district.

It was explained that in condemnation proceedings, the court would set the value of the property, which would then be paid to the owner by the commission.

The act also provides that all cesspools, sink drains and privies located on properties connected with sewers by the commission would be abandoned, closed and left in sanitary condition.

Any violation of the act would be misdemeanors punishable by fines not exceeding $100, or imprisonment up to 30 days, or both.

A bill to establish sanitary districts in Allegany County, introduced by county delegates at the recent session of the General Assembly, was not passed because of the flood of measures introduced in the closing days of the session.

The delegates are expected to meet within a few days to consider the measure prior to its presentation to the Legislative Council next week. Several have already expressed their support of the bill.

Stone Mason Is Bitten By Snake

By MARIE MERRBACH

LONACONING, Aug. 28—A Detmold stone mason was bitten on the hand by a copperhead today while gathering rock for a wall he was constructing for William R. Jones, Big Vein Hill.

The man, Charles Poland, was struck by the snake as he picked up the rock. When bitten he dropped the stone and caught the 18-inch reptile while members of the Jones family killed it.

First Aid Class Started

George Eppler, an instructor from the Cumberland Chapter of Red Cross, will teach first aid to a group from the Lonaconing Boys' Service Club in the Red Cross Center, Main Street, tomorrow at 7:15 p. m.

The course will continue until October when those who qualify will be presented certificates.

Johnson Attends Course

Driver Education

Webster, principal, and J. Hubert Radcliffe, instructor; Fort Hill, Victor D. Heisey, principal, George W. Robinson and Alfred W. Fritz, instructors; Beall, Arthur W. Taylor, (the Beall instructor will be Maurice Nelson, who is out of the city); Bruce, John W. Fisher, principal, and John F. Loughlin, instructor; Central, Lewyn C. Davis, principal and instructor; Barton, Alfred H. Benna, principal and instructor; Carver, Earle L. Bracey, principal, and Charles E. Waterman, instructor.

Principals of elementary schools also met at the Board of Education office yesterday morning for the annual fall meeting and discussed new teaching methods along with problems common to the education field.

The meeting, largely an open forum, with the various persons expressing their views on many school problems, was presided over by Miss Ruby M. Adams, director of elementary education.

Health, which was one of the feature topics of the meeting, was termed by many of the principals the most important factor in the welfare of a child and his education.

In discussing the general health problem, Kopp suggested that principals, after conferring with their teachers, adopt a health program and submit it to county school officials so that the whole may be considered in working out answers with health authorities.

The soil is so important to the welfare of America, Mr. Hayne asserted, that if we took away the soil and the people who work it, our cities would not last 30 days and if they did they would not be worth 30 cents. The soil, he declared, gives us two things which we cannot get anywhere else—food and clothing.

One of the reasons there are so many vitamins sold today is because people are trying to find something that will improve their health. The food we eat is deficient in minerals, proteins, and other things so essential to health and life because the soil that produces them is deficient. This is all due to the fact that in the past 100 years very little has been put back into the soil to replace what has been taken out, the speaker explained.

"Many people think it is part of civilization to be ill, to have something the matter with them, but this is not true," Hayne declared. He added that the reason for bad teeth and poor vision, especially among persons in their late 30's, is due to food being deficient because so many substances that are vital to teeth, eyes and other parts of the body have been taken out of the soil.

New Champions

Abbott, Sharpsburg, Md., sixth. Horne and Abbott, like all other owners of participating teams who failed to place in the first four, received $15 to help cover expenses.

Second prize of $35 in the heavy class went to Charles Schaffer, Jr., Hagerstown, with a pull equivalent to 17¼ tons, while Ernest Pearson, Poolesville, Md., with John Fairfax in the driver's seat, finished third and took home $25 prize money.

Glotfelty Finishes Fifth

Other competitors in the heavy class were Jack Horne, Hedgesville; J. W. Ryle, Somerset, Pa.; Sherman Berkley with Clarence Berkley, driver, Berlin, Pa.; Charles Pearson, Poolesville; Marvin Abbott, Sharpsburg; two other teams entered by Barkdoll; another team entered by Charles Schaffer, Jr.; Robert Crissey, Central City, Pa., with Ray Minear the driver; and S. H. McElfish, Route 3, Bedford, Pa.

Record loads in the state are 3,450 pounds pulled by a heavy team at Timonium State Fair some time ago, and 2,925 pounds pulled by a light team also at Timonium several years back.

Immunizations To Be Given Students In Tucker County

By HELEN COLLETT

PARSONS, W. Va., Aug. 28—Reardon Cuppett, county superintendent of schools, announced that the teachers of the county will be required to attend the teachers meeting to be held Friday, September 12, in the Parsons Grade School building. This is the first time that a teachers meeting will be held after school starts, as it is usually held the Friday prior to the opening date of school.

The students of the county and all first year students will receive their immunization for diphtheria and small pox during the first week of school with dates announced as follows: September 10, at 9 a. m. in Thomas High School for the students of Fairfax district; in Davis High School on September 11, at 9 a. m. for the Dry Fork and Davis district students. Dr. Gregg will be immunizing doctor for those two towns.

Hamrick School will be the center for the students of that vicinity on September 9, at 2 p. m.; Parsons Grade School for Parsons and vicinity at 2 p.m.; St. George School for students of St. George, Licking and Clover district, September 11, at 2 p. m. with Dr. F. K. Lyon, Parsons, as physician assisted by the County Health Nurse Mrs. Christina Meyer, Davis.

The typhoid serum will be given at a later date, the county superintendent said.

The teachers of the county have been invited to participate in the U. S. Forestry Show-Me-Trip of the Monongahela National Forest, Cheat District, to be held on September 5 starting from the Nelle Rest Home. Teachers will travel in private owned cars and furnish their picnic luncheon. The tour will end at the U. S. Forest Nursery in Parsons between 4 and 5 p. m. on that day.

Parsons Reunion Held

The 40th annual re-union of the Parsons family was held at the Bethel Church in Holly Meadows recently. The families voted to continue the annual affair following a discussion of discontinuance of the affair.

Thomas L. Parsons, Clarksburg, was elected the 41st president of the oldest re-union in this county. Other officers were Boyd Parsons, Parsons, vice president; Mrs. Velma Parsons, Clarksburg, secretary-treasurer, and Mrs. C. R. Parsons, Hambleton, historian.

The program following the dinner included the invocation by the Rev. Harold D. Shiflet, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church of Parsons, the Address of Welcome by the president, Alan Parsons; a vocal duet by Miss Sally Ann English and Miss Joanna Blackburn, Parsons, and a reading by Shelia Ann Parsons.

Dr. Dixon Parsons, freshman advisor at West Virginia University, Morgantown, was guest speaker and Mrs. Ray Lipscomb, White Hall, Md., gave the history of the Parsons family during the 1946-47 year.

Among the out-of-town guests were Dr. and Mrs. Dixon Parsons, Morgantown; Mr. and Mrs. Ray Lipscomb, White Hall, Md.; Mrs. James Lanham and daughters, Kent, O.; Mr. and Mrs. William Hahn and Mrs. Emma Robson, Cumberland; Joseph Minear, Adrian, W. Va.; Mr. and Mrs. T. L. Parsons and daughter, Clarksburg; Mrs. Thomas Long and granddaughter, Culver City, Calif., and Mrs. Lena Thayer.

Personals

Mrs. Zella Kite was removed to a Parsons hospital where she is seriously ill. She is the mother of Mrs. Charles Mauzey, Parsons, and of Max and Don Kite and Miss Ruth Kite, all of Morgantown.

James Goff, well known Parsons resident and the father of D. K. Goff, member of the Tucker County Board of Education, is a patient in an Elkins hospital where he underwent a second major operation within one month's time.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Higgs will accompany Mrs. George Higgs to Pittsburgh where she will fly to Buffalo, N. Y., to visit her son, Dr. Howard Higgs and her daughter, Mrs. Mary Price.

The Arnan Guild of the Parsons Presbyterian Church will meet at the home of Mrs. James English on September 2, with Mrs. A. J. Valentine and Mrs. John Goss as assisting hostesses. The bible leader will be Mrs. Harold D. Shiflet.

AN ORDINANCE OF THE MAYOR AND CITY COUNCIL OF CUMBERLAND, MARYLAND, ENTITLED, "AN ORDINANCE PROVIDING FOR NOTICE TO THE OWNERS OF PROPERTY ABUTTING ON CLEMENT STREET FROM ITS INTERSECTION WITH VIRGINIA AVENUE TO ITS INTERSECTION WITH FORD AVENUE, IN THE CITY OF CUMBERLAND, MARYLAND, OF AN ORDINANCE TO PROVIDE FOR THE SEWERING OR OTHERWISE IMPROVING OF SAID STREET".

WHEREAS, on the 8th day of September, 1947, an ordinance for the sewering or otherwise improving said street as set out in the title of this ordinance in the City of Cumberland, Maryland, will be introduced; and

WHEREAS, on that day the passage of said ordinance, in pursuance of the powers granted to the Mayor and City Council of Cumberland by Article 1-A of the Code of Public Local Laws of Maryland pertaining to the Charter of the City of Cumberland, and of its general powers referred to in said Article, will be duly considered by the Mayor and City Council of Cumberland, and all persons to be affected thereby will then and there be duly heard.

NOW, THEREFORE:

SECTION 1. BE IT ORDAINED BY THE MAYOR AND CITY COUNCIL OF CUMBERLAND, That the City Clerk shall at least give ten days' notice by publication, twice in each of two daily newspapers published in the City of Cumberland, that at a meeting of the Mayor and City Council of Cumberland to be held at 10:00 o'clock A. M., on the 8th day of September, 1947, an ordinance will be introduced providing for the sewering or otherwise improving of Clement Street from its intersection with Virginia Avenue to its intersection with Ford Avenue, in the City of Cumberland, Maryland; the same being a public street of said City and not less than one block in length, and ten years have elapsed since the completion of the sewering or otherwise improving of said street, at which said meeting all persons to be affected by said proceedings shall be given an opportunity to be heard for or against the passage of said ordinance;

SECTION 2. AND BE IT FURTHER ORDAINED, That this ordinance will take effect from the date of its passage.

Passed this 25th day of August, 1947.
THOMAS S. POST,
Mayor.

Water Committee Drafts LaVale Sanitary Bill

Measure Provides For Referendum

Preliminary draft of a proposed emergency bill to establish a sanitary district in LaVale to provide a water supply and sewage and drainage system "necessary for the immediate preservation of the public health and safety" in that area has been completed, it was announced last night.

Copies of the measure have been forwarded to the State Department of Health, the Public Service Commission, the Allegany County delegation to the General Assembly, and to State Senator Robert B. Kimble for approval.

Miles G. Thompson, Charles R. Wherritt and Harry Kauffman, members of the water committee of the LaVale Civic Improvement Association, sponsors of the measure, are making plans to attend a meeting of the Legislative Council in Baltimore next Wednesday to urge that the measure be placed on the agenda of the special session of the Legislature, to be held later this fall.

To Urge Passage

The group also plans to discuss the bill with officials of the State Department of Health and the Public Service Commission, and to seek an audience with Gov. William Preston Lane, Jr., in support of its passage as an emergency measure.

In its present form, the bill calls for the appointment of a three-man commission by the Board of County Commissioners, with the commission to be incorporated so that it will have power to enter into necessary contracts.

Salary of the chairman would not exceed $100 yearly, while annual salaries of the other two members would not exceed $50. Members would be voters and residents of Election District No. 29, which comprises the LaVale area.

Sponsors of the bill explained that the community of LaVale itself will not be incorporated, but that the commission must be incorporated so that it will have power to purchase or to condemn land outside of incorporated municipalities for purposes of setting up the water, sewage and drainage system.

Referendum Provided

The bill provides that a referendum must be held within 30 days after the date of passage, and that a majority vote of the qualified voters in LaVale will be necessary before it takes effect. The election would be conducted by the Allegany County Board of Election Supervisors.

Bonds to finance the installation and operation of equipment would be issued against the credit of the County Commissioners, with interest rates up to four per cent yearly. Maturity of the bonds would not exceed 30 years, and the sanitary district would be responsible for redeeming them.

Before issuance of the bonds, the County Commissioners would be authorized under the bill to grant the sanitary district commission a sum up to $5,000 for immediate necessary expenditures in setting up the water, sewage and drainage systems. The sum would be repaid with the first available money derived from the sale of bonds.

In case of insufficient revenue from the sale of water, the measure would authorize the County Commissioners to levy a tax in an amount deemed necessary against LaVale properties.

The three-man commission would be empowered to appoint a secretary-treasurer to keep accounts and

Rain Washes Out LaVale Pipe Line

Some LaVale residents reported last night that they were without water for two days after several sections of the main eight-inch pipe line from Red Hill reservoir were washed out in heavy rains on Tuesday.

Officials of the LaVale Water Company said that about 50 feet of the mile-long pipe line was affected; adding that the line should be repaired in about two weeks. In the meantime, the old four-inch pipe line, abandoned when the new line was built, was put into use, and the company said water supply is improving because recent heavy rains have filled the reservoir.

Washouts occurred along Braddock Run below the Six Mile House when sections of the foundation were undermined. No damage estimate was available.

Police Seek Trio Who Robbed Taxi Driver Of Cab

Cessna Jumps From Vehicle In W. Va.

West Virginia State and Cumberland City Police last night were looking for three white men, who a taxi driver said stuck a gun in his ribs and ordered him to pull to the side of the road near Short Gap, W. Va., where he had taken them from the city yesterday at 3:15 a. m.

V. E. Carpenter, Jr., owner and manager of Yellow Top Cab Company, said Thomas Cessna, Route 2, city, driver of cab No. 8, called him from Short Gap about 5 a. m. and reported that he had been highjacked and his cab taken.

Cessna, according to Carpenter, jumped from his cab after one of the three unidentified men pushed a gun against his side and ordered, "pull over, this is a hold up."

Cessna said he was carrying about $40 at the time, but declared the men were unable to get the money since he jumped and ran through a thicket. The driver was badly scratched when he was picked up by Carpenter yesterday morning and returned to the city.

Cessna told city police that he picked the trio up at the Maryland Avenue call box and drove them to Short Gap at their suggestion. He said he can not recall any part of their conversation, but believes he could identify the men if he saw them again.

The taxi company manager said last night that he was informed by West Virginia State Police that the cab has been recovered. Police, he said, found the cab, near Mt. Storm, W. Va., and declared the gasoline tank was empty, which is probably the reason it was abandoned.

Meanwhile, local police were continuing their investigation of the theft of $20 from Diamond's Restaurant, 10 North Mechanic Street, between 2 and 7:30 a. m. yesterday.

Police said entrance was gained after the thief climbed atop a shed adjoining the kitchen, facing an alley at the rear of the building, and forced open a large window.

According to police the thief opened a cabinet and took a cigar box containing three $5 bills and five $1 bills. The robbery was discovered by Frank Diamond, proprietor of the place, when he opened yesterday morning.

Two Members Of Allegany's Class Of 1947 Gain Nationwide Attention

Jean Dixon, Powers Are "Celebrities"

In the short span of 60 days since graduation, the Class of 1947 of Allegany High School can lay claim to two celebrities—Noyes "Tommy" Powers and Jean Dixon, both of whom have recently had nationwide publicity.

Powers, a four-letter man in sports, is perhaps thought of locally more as a great fullback because he merited the headlines in nearly every football game that he played. However, he drew national attention in another sport, baseball.

From 1,419 cities' preliminary selections to a final squad of 20, the country's best between the ages of 16 to 19, Powers was chosen to play third base on the U. S. International Amateur All-Star Baseball Team which was victorious in its two-game series with the Canadian Stars. He batted .300 in the series, and capably handled the "hot corner" on the defense.

While at Baltimore, "Tommy" attracted the attention of many big league baseball scouts, and spent several days after the international series with the major league Phillies.

Powers is 18 years old, six feet one and one-half inches tall and weighs 180 pounds. He will attend Michigan this year and should be a big help to the Wolverines in all sports, although he says he may decide to forsake football for his baseball future.

After winning the "Miss Cumberland" beauty title, Jean Dixon competed against finalists from seven other Maryland cities and was crowned "Miss Maryland of 1947" by Gov. William Preston Lane, Jr.

Many hours of hard work with Mr. and Mrs. Jack Moore, local residents with wide theatrical experience, brought Jean stage presence and smooth singing technique. Mrs. Dixie Rafter Ballard, "Miss Washington of 1943" was of great help.

Time Limit Nears For Tax Discount

W. A. Strother, county tax collector, has announced that today and tomorrow are the last two days when Allegany County residents can take advantage of the three per cent discount on their 1947 taxes.

After Saturday, taxpayers must pay the regular amount with interest at the rate of one-half per cent per month added.

Mr. Strother said that although the Celanese strike curtailed payments somewhat in the early part of the summer, the collections are now back to normal. He stated that more collections were made yesterday than any other day in August.

Driver Education Course Started For Instructors

Meeting Will Be Continued Today

Instructions for teachers who will conduct the driving education course in senior classes of Allegany County High Schools, will continued today with emphasis being placed on the administrative problems, Dr. M. K. Strasser, of the Center of Safety Education, New York University, said last night.

The course which will be taught for the first time in Allegany County this fall, "is really being accepted in the community," Dr. Strasser stated, adding that a study of the various texts books have been made and it now remains the duty of the educators to select those editions which will be used in this county.

The driver course, which will be taught for only a half year, will be elective, according to Charles L. Kopp, superintendent of schools. The instructions-for-teaching course was begun yesterday morning with representatives from each of the high schools attending, and will be continued throughout most of today.

The course to be offered students will cover two phases—class room instruction on safety, insurance and other such problems and actual driver training. The development of the proper driver attitude is listed as one of the important aims.

Collection Day, Friday

Kelly Firm May Get Tax Discount Until Sept. 30

Court Files Decree In Exemption Case

The Kelly-Springfield Tire Company is to be allowed until September 30 to pay its 1947 county taxes and receive a discount of five per cent, according to a decree handed down yesterday by Circuit Court judges in line with an opinion delivered recently in which they held that tax exemptions granted three major industries by the County Commissioners were invalid.

The decree was the first in the three cases filed by James H. Reed, North Allegany Street, against the County Commissioners, the Kelly-Springfield Company, the Celanese Corporation of America and the West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company at Luke.

Decrees have not yet been filed in the cases involving the Celanese firm and the pulp and paper mill.

In the opinion, filed August 11, the Court held the Act of 1931 empowering the County Commissioners to grant exemptions was unconstitutional and ruled that back taxes prior to 1947 are not collectible but that taxes for 1947 and hereafter are to be collected.

Signed by Chief Judge William A. Huster and Associate Judge George Henderson and Joseph D. Mish, the decree states that since the Kelly company has always paid in June any other county taxes it owed and thus secured the five per cent discount allowed on taxes for the current year, that the company is allowed five per cent discount on taxes it is directed to pay by the court, provided the taxes are paid on or before September 30, 1947.

It was estimated after the court's decision that 1947 taxes are to be collected, that the county will receive an additional $225,000 revenue from the three companies on tools and machinery previously exempted.

The five per cent discount ordinarily is allowed on county taxes if they are paid on or before the last day of June.

Suggestions Made For Improving City Traffic Conditions

Several suggestions for improving traffic conditions in downtown Cumberland were reported last night at the monthly dinner meeting of the Western Maryland Safety Council in the LaVale Fire Hall.

The report was made by Detective Edwin R. Lilya of the city police force and Lynn Walker, members of the council's traffic committee. Walker was designated to represent the organization at a meeting called by Acting Police Chief R. Emmett Flynn for September 3, when local groups will be invited to discuss traffic problems with police officials.

Two-lane traffic instead of the present three-lane traffic should be put into effect on South Centre Street, since a survey indicated that only one of out every 10 cars turns right on Baltimore Street from South Centre. Such cars would use the right-hand lane along with cars proceeding directly across the intersection up North Centre Street.

Guest speakers at the meeting were James Hunter, former president of the Baltimore Safety Engineers Club, and Joseph Perzella, secretary of that club and field representative for the Baltimore City Safety Council. They discussed programs conducted by the two organizations, and problems encountered in establishing fire and building codes and in setting up driver education and safety education courses in Baltimore schools.

The next meeting of the local council is scheduled for Thursday, September 25.

Expenditures For Enriching Nation's Soil Will Be Well Spent, Hayne Says

Farm Advisor Gives Conservation Talk

Each dollar spent by farmers in putting back into the soil the things that have been taken out of it for the past 100 years will bring back $3, Ralph H. Hayne, farm advisor for the International Harvester Company, said in an address to members of the Cumberland Kiwanis Club at Central YMCA yesterday noon.

Speaking on "Soil Conservation," Hayne said the problem of deficiency in our soil can be solved, but to do so, we must put back into the soil those things which we have been taking out of it.

The speaker said that much of the soil in the United States needs lime, phosphorus, and potash, and declared that all are available in this country in sufficient quantities to bring the soil back to where it should be.

"If I were boss of all the agriculture in the country," Hayne declared, "each year I would keep one half of all the tillable soil in clover, alfafa or other green vegetation." This, he explained, would make the soil richer and give it a

4-H Club Member At Midland Is Winner Of Calf

Stiles stipulated that the calf is to be used for breeding purposes and not to be sold, according to Joseph M. Steger, assistant county farm agent.

Four years ago when the cow was a calf it was scheduled for delivery to a 4-H boy but the deal didn't go through.

Navy Recruiter To Receive Discharge

Francis A. Gilchrist, aviation machinist mate first class, who has been stationed here since March as a Navy recruiter, will leave early next week for Annapolis, where he will receive his discharge.

Gilchrist, whose home is in Baltimore, said yesterday he plans to reenlist for three years, requesting duty at a naval air station. A veteran of five years' Navy service, he served three years in the Pacific as a plane captain aboard heavy bombers.

Robert G. Belknap, chief machinist's mate, who has been in Cumberland on temporary recruiting duty for the past three weeks, will return to the Baltimore Navy recruiting station.

They are Ronald John Catlett, 326 Grand Avenue, apprentice seaman; and Charles Stuart Wilson, Jr., Pinto, gunner's mate third closs, a veteran of 26 months' previous Navy service. Chief Schradar said 368 men from the tri-state area have enlisted in V-6 since January.

Meanwhile, Lt. Comdr. Walter N. Hedrick, organizing officer of the Cumberland Organized Naval Reserve Division, announced that three members of the division will go to Norfolk, Va., tomorrow for two weeks' training duty.

Two Men Apply For Marine Reserve Duty

Maj. Remsen J. Cole, commander of Company D, Fifth Infantry Battalion, Marine Corps Reserve, has announced that one man had been accepted for enlistment and two applications were received yesterday.

Pvt. James E. Judd, Jr., 219 Virginia Avenue, was sworn into the local company, and Pvt. Darrell H. Baker, Route 3, Bedford Road, and Pvt. John A. Sensabaugh, 110 North Cedar Street, applied for duty with the unit.

BIRTHS

Mr. and Mrs. John Sandbower, 421 North Mechanic Street, a daughter.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard L. McClelland, 10 Eutaw Place, a daughter, Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert J. Sutton, 39 Prospect Square, a son, Wednesday. Mrs. Sutton is the former Miss Eleanor R. Eisel.

Mr. and Mrs. George Hadra, 217 Glenn Street, a daughter, in Allegany Hospital.

A son to SC3-c and Mrs. Harold L. Robinette Tuesday in Patuxent Naval Hospital, Ceders Point, Md. Mrs. Robinette is the former Miss Sue Ryan, this city.

Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Meyers, Jr., Washington, a son on Tuesday. The father, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Meyers, Youngstown, Ohio, formerly of Ridgeley, is a grandson of David Beyer, Ridgeley.

Election Setting Up Tax District Ruled A Nullity

Court Will Restrain Bowling Green Board

An election held last May 5 setting up a special taxing district known as the Village of Bowling Green, was declared a nullity in an opinion handed down by Circuit Court judges yesterday, since a mandatory provision of an Act of 1947 calling for the election was not complied with.

Because the election was a nullity, the judges said, the taxing district, approved by voters 163 to 101, never came into existence. They said they will pass a decree enjoining the defendant board of managers of the village from exercising any authority and power under the act.

While the opinion, written by Chief Judge William A. Huster and Associate Judge George Henderson, does not deal with the constitutionality of the Act, the decision has the same effect as if the Act were declared unconstitutional.

Suit Filed In May

Legal action was instituted last May by Howard Painter, W. L. Maddocks and Stephen Brown in a move to set aside the law, which provided for a board of managers for Bowling Green and set up the village as a special taxing area.

The action was filed by Attorney John M. Robb against Samuel S. Smith, Calvin R. Ayers, J. Frederick Walton, George T. Steigerwald, Clement C. May, Evans L. Feltner, Ernest E. McCullough, Harold E. Northrup and Ellsworth F. Brewer, members of the board of managers, who were represented by W. Earle Cobey and C. William Gilchrist. The County Commissioners and W. A. Strother, tax collector of Tax Collection District No. 1, both represented by Lewis M. Wilson, county attorney, also were named as defendants.

While the complainants' bill of complaint made a number of allegations against the law, the judges, in their opinion, dealt principally with only one point—that the required 10 days notice prior to the election was not given. They found the reason the required notice was not given to be immaterial.

Proper Approval Involved

The Court pointed out that the suit involved the validity of Chapter 852 of the Act of 1947 and also whether the special tax area to be known as the Village of Bowling Green was properly approved by the residents of the area as required by the Act.

The Act required that not less than 10 days before the election a board of election supervisors was to post in five public places within the limits of the village, a notice notifying the residents of the village of the time and hours of the election to determine whether or not they approve the creation of a special taxing district.

It was admitted, the opinion stated, that the required 10 days notice was not given, but it is claimed that the failure to give the notice was because the Act required the election to be held on May 5, 1947, and that the notice of approval of the Act by the Governor was not received by the election supervisors until April 27, making it impossible for them to give the required notice.

The Court said it is of the opinion that this provision of the Act requiring 10 days notice was mandatory, and that since it was not complied with, the reason being immaterial, the election was a nullity and, therefore, the taxing district never came into existence.

In view of this it is unnecessary to pass on the various objections that were argued against the validity of the Act, the Court said.

Umstott Will Be Given Hearing In Kenney Death

Manslaughter Count Will Be Preferred

Facing charges of manslaughter by motor vehicle, Earl Umstott, 24, Westernport, was being held in County Jail last night in connection with the death of James Russell Kenney, 19, who died following a motorcycle accident Wednesday at 11:55 p. m. near Lonaconing, according to Maryland State Police.

Cpl. Harry Holsinger, who investigated, said Umstott was questioned yesterday and admitted that he was operating the vehicle when it skidded while negotiating a curve on Pekin Hill, one and a half miles west of Lonaconing.

Kenney, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Kenney, Franklin, who was home on leave from the United States Navy, suffered a fractured skull, which caused his death, according to Dr. H. V. Deming, deputy county medical examiner.

Umstott was treated in Miners' Hospital, Frostburg, along with Roy E. Dayton, Jr., 20, Westernport, and Earl Kalbaugh, 19, Westernport, all of whom were riding on the motorcycle (two wheeled) according to Umstott's statement, police said.

Kalbaugh was still a patient in Miners' Hospital last night and attaches said his condition remains "serious." His injures were described as severe cuts and contusions of the head.

Cpl. Holsinger said the four men were returning home from a bowling alley at Midland when the accident occurred. Umstott, according to police, remained on the motorcycle, but the other three were thrown, when the vehicle skidded, upset and plunged down a small embankment.

Umstott was being held in Allegany County Jail last night awaiting a preliminary hearing this morning in Trial Magistrates Court, when charges of manslaughter will be preferred, Cpl. Holsinger said.

Relatives of Umstott said he is serving in the United States Army and was home on furlough. He holds the rank of corporal they said.

Kenney's relatives explained he recently re-enlisted in the United States Navy after completing 20 months' service, a year of which was spent in Japan. He was home on 60-days leave.

A native of Franklin, he attended Bruce High School, Westernport and was a member of St. Peter's Catholic Church, Westernport.

Besides his parents he is survived by his brothers, Pfc. Richard Kenney, Jr., with the Army in Seoul, Korea, and Sgt. Richard Kenney, stationed in Japan, two sisters, Theresa May and Doris Kenney, both at home.

A requiem mass will be celebrated Saturday at 9 a. m. in St. Peter's Church with burial in the church cemetery.

Dental Head Will Speak At Romney

Dr. Sterling V. Mead, Washington, D. C., president of the American Dental Association, has accepted an invitation to speak at a dinner meeting of the Potomac Valley Dental Society to be held in Romney, W. Va., September 25.

Dr. Mead, a well known oral surgeon, will discuss "Diseases of the Mouth" at the meeting to be held at 6 p. m. in the Presbyterian Church of Romney.

Dr. L. M. Hutson, Petersburg, W. Va., president of the dental group, will be toastmaster for the meeting.

Invitations to attend the meeting have been extended to the Allegany-Garrett Dental Society, the Winchester, Va., Dental Society, the Potomac Valley Medical Society and the Allegany-Garrett Medical Society.

Two Teen-Age Girls Are Injured When Auto And Bicycle Collide

Accident Occurs In Cresaptown

Two Cresaptown girls were injured at dusk yesterday when the bicycle they were riding double collided with an automobile in front of Grant's Bowling Alley on Route 220 in Cresaptown.

State Trooper Robert Henline, who investigated, said the girls are Jean Blubaugh, 13, and Nancy Robertson, 14. The former suffered a broken right arm and several cuts and bruises, he said, and was admitted to Allegany Hospital while the latter was treated there for cuts and bruises and then released.

Henline said he was informed the girls were riding down hill toward Cumberland as the driver of the car, listed as Roland Cage, rear of 23 West First Street, made a left turn from the highway to the bowling alley.

Cage told police, they said, that the bicycle had no light burning and that he saw the girls just in time to try to avoid striking them. However, the bicycle hit the car's right rear fender.

Cage was charged with reckless driving and will be given a hearing September 8 before Magistrate Roy S. Bowman, Cresaptown, police reported.

Mrs. Mary Harrison Gordon, 57, Rawlings, was admitted to Memorial Hospital last night at 8:30 o'clock for treatment of injuries suffered when she was hit by a car. Attaches said the woman, admitted for observation after being treated for facial lacerations, was in a good condition.

Trooper First Class A. M. Spioch, who investigated, said Mrs. Gordon was injured in Rawlings about 8 p. m. when she ran in front of a car driven by Vincent P. Ingram, 819 Columbia Avenue, as he was driving toward this city.

Mrs. Cecelia Stevens, 52, 22 Paw Paw Way, was treated in Memorial last night after she fell and fractured her left wrist.

Others Are Treated

Also treated in Allegany Hospital last night were: James Murphy, 53, 218 Arch Street, a B. and O. worker, after his left hand was injured while he was working at the eastbound hump. X-rays will be taken.

Kenneth Burley, 19, Route 1, Hyndman, Pa., admitted for treat-

New Champions Crowned In Light And Heavy Horse Pulling Contests

4,000 To 5,000 Persons See Event

Has Heavy Team

Humphrey Finney, secretary of the Maryland Morsebreeders' Association, was master of ceremonies; Joseph H. Vial, of the livestock department of the University of Maryland was the judge. Clarence Miller, Midland, and Ralph F. McHenry, county farm agent, arranged the show.

Hay and Minear, owners of the winning teams, each received $50 as first prize money. Hay's horses, Joe weighing 1,970 pounds and Bill 1,950, were the second heaviest animals in the competition. Earl Barkdoll, Hagerstown, had the heaviest team with Buck weighing 2,000 pounds and Dot 2,150.

The light competition, with six teams entered, was held first. R. J. Maust, Berlin, Pa., won $35 for finishing second when his team pulled for 2,500 pounds but could not move the weight.

Shaffer was eliminated when his team broke away from the weights while trying to make a pull of between 2,300 and 2,400 pounds. However, he finished in fourth place to take a prize of $20.

Jack Horne, Hedgesville, W. Va., finished in fifth place, and Marvin

Measure Provides For Referendum

Preliminary draft of a proposed emergency bill to establish a sanitary district in LaVale to provide a water supply and sewage and drainage system "necessary for the immediate preservation of the public health and safety" in that area has been completed, it was announced last night.

Copies of the measure have been forwarded to the State Department of Health, the Public Service Commission, the Allegany County delegation to the General Assembly, and to State Senator Robert R. Kimble for approval.

Rain Washes Out LaVale Pipe Line

Some LaVale residents reported last night that they were without water for two days after several sections of the main eight-inch pipe line from Red Hill reservoir were washed out in heavy rains on Tuesday.

Officials of the LaVale Water Company said that about 50 feet of the mile-long pipe line was affected, adding that the line should be repaired in about two weeks. In the meantime, the old four-inch pipe line, abandoned when the new line was built, was put into use, and the company said water supply is improving because recent heavy rains have filled the reservoir.

Washouts occurred along Braddock Run below the Six Mile House when sections of the foundation were undermined. No damage estimate was available.

Miles G. Thompson, Charles R. Wherritt and Harry Kauffman, members of the water committee of the LaVale Civic Improvement Association, sponsors of the measure, are making plans to attend a meeting of the Legislative Council in Baltimore next Wednesday to urge that the measure be placed on the agenda of the special session of the Legislature, to be held later this fall.

To Urge Passage

The group also plans to discuss the bill with officials of the State Department of Health and the Public Service Commission, and to seek an audience with Gov. William Preston Lane, Jr., in support of its passage as an emergency measure.

In its present form, the bill calls for the appointment of a three-man commission by the Board of County Commissioners, with the commission to be incorporated so that it will have power to enter into necessary contracts.

Salary of the chairman would not exceed $100 yearly, while annual salaries of the other two members would not exceed $50. Members would be voters and residents of Election District No. 29, which comprises the LaVale area.

Sponsors of the bill explained that the community of LaVale itself will not be incorporated, but that the commission must be incorporated so that it will have power to purchase or to condemn land outside of incorporated municipalities for purposes of setting up the water, sewage and drainage system.

Referendum Provided

The bill provides that a referendum must be held within 30 days after the date of passage, and that a majority vote of the qualified voters in LaVale will be necessary before it takes effect. The election would be conducted by the Allegany County Board of Election Supervisors.

Bonds to finance the installation and operation of equipment would be issued against the credit of the County Commissioners, with interest rates up to four per cent yearly. Maturity of the bonds would not exceed 30 years, and the sanitary district would be responsible for redeeming them.

Before issuance of the bonds, the County Commissioners would be authorized under the bill to grant the sanitary district commission a sum up to $5,000 for immediate necessary expenditures in setting up the water, sewage and drainage systems. The sum would be repaid with the first available money derived from the sale of bonds.

In case of insufficient revenue from the sale of water, the measure would authorize the County Commissioners to levy a tax in an amount deemed necessary against LaVale properties.

The three-man commission would be empowered to appoint a secretary-treasurer to keep accounts and

Police Seek Trio Who Robbed Taxi Driver Of Cab

Cessna Jumps From Vehicle In W. Va.

West Virginia State and Cumberland City Police last night were looking for three white men, who a taxi driver said stuck a gun in his ribs and ordered him to pull to the side of the road near Short Gap, W. Va., where he had taken them from the city yesterday at 3:15 a. m.

V. E. Carpenter, Jr., owner and manager of Yellow Top Cab Company, said Thomas Cessna, Route 2, city, driver of cab No. 8, called him from Short Gap about 5 a. m. and reported that he had been highjacked and his cab taken.

Cessna, according to Carpenter, jumped from his cab after one of the three unidentified men pushed a gun against his side and ordered, "pull over, this is a hold up."

Cessna said he was carrying about $40 at the time, but declared the men were unable to get the money since he jumped and ran through a thicket. The driver was badly scratched when he was picked up by Carpenter yesterday morning and returned to the city.

Cessna told city police that he picked the trio up at the Maryland Avenue call box and drove them to Short Gap at their suggestion. He said he can not recall any part of their conversation, but believes he could identify the men if he saw them again.

The taxi company manager said last night that he was informed by West Virginia State Police that the cab has been recovered. Police, he said, found the cab, near Mt. Storm, W. Va., and declared the gasoline tank was empty, which is probably the reason it was abandoned.

Meanwhile, local police were continuing their investigation of the theft of $20 from Diamond's Restaurant, 10 North Mechanic Street, between 2 and 7:30 a. m. yesterday.

Police said entrance was gained after the thief climbed atop a shed adjoining the kitchen, facing an alley at the rear of the building, and forced open a large window.

According to police the thief opened a cabinet and took a cigar box containing three $5 bills and five $1 bills. The robbery was discovered by Frank Diamond, proprietor of the place, when he opened yesterday morning.

Two Members Of Allegany's Class Of 1947 Gain Nationwide Attention

Jean Dixon, Powers Are "Celebrities"

In the short span of 60 days since graduation, the Class of 1947 of Allegany High School can lay claim to two celebrities—Noyes "Tommy" Powers and Jean Dixon, both of whom have recently had nationwide publicity.

Powers, a four-letter man in sports, is perhaps thought of locally more as a great fullback because he merited the headlines in nearly every football game that he played. However, he drew national attention in another sport, baseball.

From 1,419 cities' preliminary selections to a final squad of 20, the country's best between the ages of 16 to 19, Powers was chosen to play third base on the U. S. International Amateur All-Star Baseball Team which was victorious in its two-game series with the Canadian Stars. He batted .300 in the series, and capably handled the "hot corner" on the defense.

While at Baltimore, "Tommy" attracted the attention of many big league baseball scouts, and spent several days after the international series with the major league Phillies.

Powers is 18 years old, six feet one and one-half inches tall and weighs 180 pounds. He will attend Michigan this year and should be a big help to the Wolverines in all sports, although he says he may decide to forsake football for his baseball future.

After winning the "Miss Cumberland" beauty title, Jean Dixon competed against finalists from seven other Maryland cities and was crowned "Miss Maryland of 1947" by Gov. William Preston Lane, Jr.

Many hours of hard work with Mr. and Mrs. Jack Moore, local residents with wide theatrical experience, brought Jean stage presence and smooth singing technique. Mrs. Dixie Rafter Ballard, "Miss Washington of 1943" was of great help.

A quiet, unassuming young lady of 18, Jean's natural good looks are augmented by a pleasing personality and a nice singing voice. She is also an accomplished pianist.

Time Limit Nears For Tax Discount

W. A. Strother, county tax collector, has announced that today and tomorrow are the last two days when Allegany County residents can take advantage of the three per cent discount on their 1947 taxes.

After Saturday, taxpayers must pay the regular amount with interest at the rate of one-half per cent per month added.

Mr. Strother said that although the Celanese strike curtailed payments somewhat in the early part of the summer, the collections are now back to normal. He stated that more collections were made yesterday than any other day in August.

Driver Education Course Started For Instructors

Meeting Will Be Continued Today

Instructions for teachers who will conduct the driving education course in senior classes of Allegany County High Schools, will continued today with emphasis being placed on the administrative problems, Dr. M. K. Strasser, of the Center of Safety Education, New York University, said last night.

The course which will be taught for the first time in Allegany County this fall, "is really being accepted in the community," Dr. Strasser stated, adding that a study of the various texts books have been made and it now remains the duty of the educators to select those editions which will be used in this county.

The driver course, which will be taught for only a half year, will be elective, according to Charles L. Kopp, superintendent of schools. The instructions-for-teaching course was begun yesterday morning with representatives from each of the high schools attending, and will be continued throughout most of today.

The course to be offered students will cover two phases—class room instruction on safety, insurance and other such problems and actual driver training. The development of the proper driver attitude is listed as one of the important aims.

Attending the driver meeting are Arthur G. Ramey, supervisor of pupil personnel, Allegany, Ralph R.

Court Files Decree In Exemption Case

The Kelly-Springfield Tire Company is to be allowed until September 30 to pay its 1947 county taxes and receive a discount of five per cent, according to a decree handed down yesterday by Circuit Court judges in line with an opinion delivered recently in which they held that tax exemptions granted three major industries by the County Commissioners were invalid.

The decree was the first in the three cases filed by James H. Reed, North Allegany Street, against the County Commissioners, the Kelly-Springfield Company, the Celanese Corporation of America and the West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company at Luke.

Decrees have not yet been filed in the cases involving the Celanese firm and the pulp and paper mill.

In the opinion, filed August 11, the Court held the Act of 1931 empowering the County Commissioners to grant exemptions was unconstitutional and ruled that back taxes prior to 1947 are not collectible but that taxes for 1947 and hereafter are to be collected.

Signed by Chief Judge William A. Huster and Associate Judge George Henderson and Joseph D. Mish, the decree states that since the Kelly company has always paid in June any other county taxes it owed and thus secured the five per cent discount allowed on taxes for the current year, that the company is allowed five per cent discount on taxes it is directed to pay by the court, provided the taxes are paid on or before September 30, 1947.

It was estimated after the court's decision that 1947 taxes are to be collected, that the county will receive an additional $225,000 revenue from the three companies on tools and machinery previously exempted.

The five per cent discount ordinarily is allowed on county taxes if they are paid on or before the last day of June.

Suggestions Made For Improving City Traffic Conditions

Several suggestions for improving traffic conditions in downtown Cumberland were reported last night at the monthly dinner meeting of the Western Maryland Safety Council in the LaVale Fire Hall.

The report was made by Detective Edwin R. Lilya of the city police force and Lynn Walker, members of the council's traffic committee. Walker was designated to represent the organization at a meeting called by Acting Police Chief R. Emmett Flynn for September 3, when local groups will be invited to discuss traffic problems with police officials.

Two-lane traffic instead of the present three-lane traffic should be put into effect on South Centre Street, since a survey indicated that only one of out every 10 cars turns right on Baltimore Street from South Centre. Such cars would use the right-hand lane along with cars proceeding directly across the intersection up North Centre Street.

One walk light out of each cycle could be eliminated at Baltimore Street traffic lights, and all left turns on Baltimore Street could be eliminated, with traffic bound for North Centre Street turning right on South Mechanic and coming up South Centre.

A large control tower could be set up at the Centre-Baltimore Street intersection, for one policeman to control all traffic lights there.

Guest speakers at the meeting were James Hunter, former president of the Baltimore Safety Engineers Club, and Joseph Perzella, secretary of that club and field representative for the Baltimore City Safety Council. They discussed programs conducted by the two organizations, and problems encountered in establishing fire and building codes and in setting up driver education and safety education courses in Baltimore schools.

The next meeting of the local council is scheduled for Thursday, September 25.

Expenditures For Enriching Nation's Soil Will Be Well Spent, Hayne Says

Farm Advisor Gives Conservation Talk

Each dollar spent by farmers in putting back into the soil the things that have been taken out of it for the past 100 years will bring back $3, Ralph H. Hayne, farm advisor for the International Harvester Company, said in an address to members of the Cumberland Kiwanis Club at Central YMCA yesterday noon.

Speaking on "Soil Conservation," Hayne said the problem of deficiency in our soil can be solved, but to do so, we must put back into the soil those things which we have been taking out of it.

The speaker said that much of the soil in the United States needs lime, phosphorus, and potash, and declared that all are available in this country in sufficient quantities to bring the soil back to where it should be.

"If I were boss of all the agriculture in the country," Hayne declared, "each year I would keep one half of all the tillable soil in clover, alfafa or other green vegetation." This, he explained, would make the soil richer and give it a

4-H Club Member At Midland Is Winner Of Calf

Born Monday, the calf was given by its owner, George Stiles, of Boonsboro, to the calf club.

Stiles stipulated that the calf is to be used for breeding purposes and not to be sold, according to Joseph M. Steger, assistant county farm agent.

Four years ago when the cow was a calf it was scheduled for delivery to a 4-H boy but the deal didn't go through.

Navy Recruiter To Receive Discharge

Francis A. Gilchrist, aviation machinist mate first class, who has been stationed here since March as a Navy recruiter, will leave early next week for Annapolis, where he will receive his discharge.

Gilchrist, whose home is in Baltimore, said yesterday he plans to reenlist for three years, requesting duty at a naval air station. A veteran of five years' Navy service, he served three years in the Pacific as a plane captain aboard heavy bombers.

Robert G. Belknap, chief machinist's mate, who has been in Cumberland on temporary recruiting duty for the past three weeks, will return to the Baltimore Navy recruiting station.

Chief Torpedoman Edgar L. Schradar of the local Navy recruiting station announced that two area men have enlisted in the V-6 inactive naval reserve.

They are Ronald John Catlett, 326 Grand Avenue, apprentice seaman; and Charles Stuart Wilson, Jr., Pinto, gunner's mate third class, a veteran of 26 months' previous Navy service. Chief Schradar said 368 men from the tri-state area have enlisted in V-6 since January.

Meanwhile, Lt. Comdr. Walter N. Hedrick, organizing officer of the Cumberland Organized Naval Reserve Division, announced that three members of the division will go to Norfolk, Va., tomorrow for two weeks' training duty.

Two Men Apply For Marine Reserve Duty

Maj. Remsen J. Cole, commander of Company D, Fifth Infantry Battalion, Marine Corps Reserve, has announced that one man had been accepted for enlistment and two applications were received yesterday.

Pvt. James E. Judd, Jr., 219 Virginia Avenue, was sworn into the local company, and Pvt. Darrell H. Baker, Route 3, Bedford Road, and Pvt. John A. Sensabaugh, 110 North Cedar Street, applied for duty with the unit.

BIRTHS

Mr. and Mrs. John Sandbower, 421 North Mechanic Street, a daughter.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard L. McClelland, 10 Eutaw Place, a daughter, Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert J. Sutton, 39 Prospect Square, a son, Wednesday. Mrs. Sutton is the former Miss Eleanor R. Eisel.

Mr. and Mrs. George Hadra, 217 Glenn Street, a daughter, in Allegany Hospital.

A son to SC3-c and Mrs. Harold L. Robinette Tuesday in Patuxent Naval Hospital, Ceders Point, Md. Mrs. Robinette is the former Miss Sue Ryan, this city.

Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Meyers, Jr., Washington, a son on Tuesday. The father, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Meyers, Youngstown, Ohio, formerly of Ridgeley, is a grandson of David Beyer, Ridgeley.

Umstott Will Be Given Hearing In Kenney Death

Manslaughter Count Will Be Preferred

Facing charges of manslaughter by motor vehicle, Earl Umstott, 24, Westernport, was being held in County Jail last night in connection with the death of James Russell Kenney, 19, who died following a motorcycle accident Wednesday at 11:55 p. m. near Lonaconing, according to Maryland State Police.

Cpl. Harry Holsinger, who investigated, said Umstott was questioned yesterday and admitted that he was operating the vehicle when it skidded while negotiating a curve on Pekin Hill, one and a half miles west of Lonaconing.

Kenney, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Kenney, Franklin, who was home on leave from the United States Navy, suffered a fractured skull, which caused his death, according to Dr. H. V. Deming, deputy county medical examiner.

Umstott was treated in Miners' Hospital, Frostburg, along with Roy E. Dayton, Jr., 20, Westernport, and Earl Kalbaugh, 19, Westernport, all of whom were riding on the motorcycle (two wheeled) according to Umstott's statement, police said.

Kalbaugh was still a patient in Miners' Hospital last night and attaches said his condition remains "serious." His injures were described as severe cuts and contusions of the head.

Cpl. Holsinger said the four men were returning home from a bowling alley at Midland when the accident occurred. Umstott, according to police, remained on the motorcycle, but the other three were thrown, when the vehicle skidded, upset and plunged down a small embankment.

Umstott was being held in Allegany County Jail last night awaiting a preliminary hearing this morning in Trial Magistrates Court, when charges of manslaughter will be preferred, Cpl. Holsinger said.

Relatives of Umstott said he is serving in the United States Army and was home on furlough. He holds the rank of corporal they said.

The injured men were taken to the hospital by Edward F. Winters, Lonaconing, a passing motorist, police said.

Kenney's relatives explained he recently re-enlisted in the United States Navy after completing 20 months' service, a year of which was spent in Japan. He was home on 60-days leave.

A native of Franklin, he attended Bruce High School, Westernport and was a member of St. Peter's Catholic Church, Westernport.

Besides his parents he is survived by his brothers, Pfc. Richard Kenney, Jr., with the Army in Seoul, Korea, and Sgt. Richard Kenney, stationed in Japan, two sisters, Theresa May and Doris Kenney, both at home.

A requiem mass will be celebrated Saturday at 9 a. m. in St. Peter's Church with burial in the church cemetery.

Election Setting Up Tax District Ruled A Nullity

Court Will Restrain Bowling Green Board

An election held last May 5 setting up a special taxing district known as the Village of Bowling Green, was declared a nullity in an opinion handed down by Circuit Court judges yesterday, since a mandatory provision of an Act of 1947 calling for the election was not complied with.

Because the election was a nullity, the judges said, the taxing district, approved by voters 163 to 101, never came into existence. They said they will pass a decree enjoining the defendant board of managers of the village from exercising any authority and power under the act.

While the opinion, written by Chief Judge William A. Huster and Associate Judge George Henderson, does not deal with the constitutionality of the Act, the decision has the same effect as if the Act were declared unconstitutional.

Suit Filed In May

Legal action was instituted last May by Howard Painter, W. L. Maddocks and Stephen Brown in a move to set aside the law, which provided for a board of managers for Bowling Green and set up the village as a special taxing area.

The action was filed by Attorney John M. Robb against Samuel S. Smith, Calvin R. Ayers, J. Frederick Walton, George T. Steigerwald, Clement C. May, Evans L. Feltner, Ernest E. McCullough, Harold E. Northrup and Ellsworth F. Brewer, members of the board of managers, who were represented by W. Earle Cobey and C. William Gilchrist. The County Commissioners and W. A. Strother, tax collector of Tax Collection District No. 1, both represented by Lewis M. Wilson, county attorney, also were named as defendants.

While the complainants' bill of complaint made a number of allegations against the law, the judges, in their opinion, dealt principally with only one point—that the required 10 days notice prior to the election was not given. They found the reason the required notice was not given to be immaterial.

Proper Approval Involved

The Court pointed out that the suit involved the validity of Chapter 852 of the Act of 1947 and also whether the special tax area to be known as the Village of Bowling Green was properly approved by the residents of the area as required by the Act.

The Act required that not less than 10 days before the election a board of election supervisors was to post in five public places within the limits of the village, a notice notifying the residents of the village of the time and hours of the election to determine whether or not they approve the creation of a special taxing district.

It was admitted, the opinion stated, that the required 10 days notice was not given, but it is claimed that the failure to give the notice was because the Act required the election to be held on May 5, 1947, and that the notice of approval of the Act by the Governor was not received by the election supervisors until April 27, making it impossible for them to give the required notice.

The Court said it is of the opinion that this provision of the Act requiring 10 days notice was mandatory, and that since it was not complied with, the reason being immaterial, the election was a nullity and, therefore, the taxing district never came into existence.

In view of this it is unnecessary to pass on the various objections that were argued against the validity of the Act, the Court said.

Dental Head Will Speak At Romney

Dr. Sterling V. Mead, Washington, D. C., president of the American Dental Association, has accepted an invitation to speak at a dinner meeting of the Potomac Valley Dental Society to be held in Romney, W. Va., September 25.

Dr. Mead, a well known oral surgeon, will discuss "Diseases of the Mouth" at the meeting to be held at 6 p. m. in the Presbyterian Church of Romney.

Dr. L. M. Hutson, Petersburg, W. Va., president of the dental group, will be toastmaster for the meeting.

Officials of the West Virginia Dental Association have also been invited to speak at the meeting.

Invitations to attend the meeting have been extended to the Allegany-Garrett Dental Society, the Winchester, Va., Dental Society, the Potomac Valley Medical Society and the Allegany-Garrett Medical Society.

Two Teen-Age Girls Are Injured When Auto And Bicycle Collide

Accident Occurs In Cresaptown

Two Cresaptown girls were injured at dusk yesterday when the bicycle they were riding double collided with an automobile in front of Grant's Bowling Alley on Route 220 in Cresaptown.

State Trooper Robert Henline, who investigated, said the girls are Jean Blubaugh, 13, and Nancy Robertson, 14. The former suffered a broken right arm and several cuts and bruises, he said, and was admitted to Allegany Hospital while the latter was treated there for cuts and bruises and then released.

Henline said he was informed the girls were riding down hill toward Cumberland as the driver of the car, listed as Roland Cage, rear of 13 West First Street, made a left turn from the highway to the bowling alley.

Cage told police, they said, that the bicycle had no light burning and that he saw the girls just in time to try to avoid striking them. However, the bicycle hit the car's right rear fender.

Cage was charged with reckless driving and will be given a hearing September 8 before Magistrate Roy S. Bowman, Cresaptown, police reported.

Mrs. Mary Harrison Gordon, 57, Rawlings, was admitted to Memorial Hospital last night at 8:30 o'clock for treatment of injuries suffered when she was hit by a car. Attaches said the woman, admitted for observation after being treated for facial lacerations, was in a good condition.

Trooper First Class A. M. Spioch, who investigated, said Mrs. Gordon was injured in Rawlings about 8 p. m. when she ran in front of a car driven by Vincent P. Ingram, 819 Columbia Avenue, as he was driving toward this city.

Mrs. Cecelia Stevens, 52, 22 Paw Paw Way, was treated in Memorial last night after she fell and fractured her left wrist.

Others Are Treated

Also treated in Allegany Hospital last night were: James Murphy, 53, 218 Arch Street, a B. and O. worker, after his left hand was injured while he was working at the eastbound hump. X-rays will be taken.

Kenneth Burley, 19, Route 1, Hyndman, Pa., admitted for treat-

New Champions Crowned In Light And Heavy Horse Pulling Contests

4,000 To 5,000 Persons See Event

Warren Hay, Somerset, Pa., unseated the Glotfelty Lumber Company team of Oakland in the heavy class when his team of Joe and Bill pulled 2,850 pounds on the dynamometer for a distance of 27½ feet, the equivalent of 18⅛ tons.

A. E. Minear, Stoystown, Pa., won the light class competition when his team of Bob and Jerry pulled 2,500 pounds on the dynamometer for a distance of 27½ feet, the equivalent of 16¼ tons. Clarence Shaffer, Jr., Hagerstown, was last year's winner in the light class.

Has Heavy Team

Humphrey Finney, secretary of the Maryland Morsebreeders' Association, was master of ceremonies; Joseph H. Vial, of the livestock department of the University of Maryland was the judge. Clarence Miller, Midland, and Ralph F. McHenry, county farm agent, arranged the show.

Hay and Minear, owners of the winning teams, each received $50 as first prize money. Hay's horses, Joe weighing 1,970 pounds and Bill 1,950, were the second heaviest animals in the competition. Earl Barkdoll, Hagerstown, had the heaviest team with Buck weighing 2,000 pounds and Dot 2,150.

The light competition, with six teams entered, was held first. R. J. Maust, Berlin, Pa., won $35 for finishing second when his team pulled for 2,500 pounds but could not move the weight.

Lepley Brothers, Sand Patch, Pa., with Stanley Lepley driving, wound up third and won $25 as his team pulled between 2,300 and 2,400 pounds.

Shaffer was eliminated when his team broke away from the weights while trying to make a pull of between 2,300 and 2,400 pounds. However, he finished in fourth place to take a prize of $20.

Jack Horne, Hedgesville, W. Va., finished in fifth place, and Marvin
